This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

+ Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
+ Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
+ Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
+ Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

About Google Book Search

Google's mission is to organize the world's information and to make it universally accessible and useful. Google Book Search helps readers discover the world's books while helping authors and publishers reach new audiences. PREFACE.

A CATALOGUE of books on any one subject—that is, a bibliography of any branch of literature, with such historical, biographical or critical notes as may add to their interest or value to the reader—possesses a literary interest, as well as a practical use. The "Bibliography of Ohio" is, in this respect, especially interesting, for it has been said that Ohio, in common with the new States and Territories, would furnish but a meagre subject for the historian or bibliographer. One of this opinion must have reflected little upon the transactions of which the Ohio Valley has been the scene since the year 1673, when the Frenchman first made his appearance within its bounds.

During the past eight years spent in the compilation of this work, the author has examined nearly every public and private library where such works were likely to be found, from Boston, Mass., to St. Paul, Minn., and has personally examined almost every volume described in the work. The result is a collection of upwards of Fourteen Hundred distinct titles, relating almost wholly to the History of the State and parts thereof, not including the public documents, which would in themselves form a volume. The number of titles secured, far exceeded the author's expectations, and we believe, far outnumbers any printed list of the books relating to any of the other States.

Three State Bibliographies only have been issued in book form, viz.: Massachusetts, by Jeremiah Colburn; Rhode Island, by John Russell Bartlett; and Minnesota, by J. Fletcher Williams. Six have been published in other works, viz.: Wisconsin, by Daniel S. Durrie, in the Historical Magazine for April, 1870; New Hampshire, in Norton's Literary Letter, 1859; Maine, in Norton's Literary Letter, No. 4, 1859; Maryland, in the Historical Magazine, April and May, 1870; Maine, by Wm. Willis, in the Historical Magazine, March, 1870; and Vermont, by Marcus D. Gilman, in the "Argus and Patriot," Montpelier, Vermont, 1879–80.

The fact that our enterprise is both original and extensive, will, we hope, extenuate the imperfections and omissions which must be a characteristic of such a compilation, and we hope that the publication of this work, upon which we have spent an amount of trouble and time, which some of our readers will hardly realize, may induce some of our friends to investigate for themselves, the remarkable body of interesting literature relating to American History; and we are confident that there will be a rich reward for all who will thoroughly work any portion of the enticing field.

ALBACH (JAMES R.)

Annals of the West: Embracing a concise account of the Principal Events which have occurred in the Western States and Territories, from the Discovery of the Mississippi Valley to the year 1856. Compiled from the most authentic sources, and published by James R. Albach.

PITTSBURGH: W. S. Haven, 1857. [10]

8vo. pp. 1016.

 The First Edition of a work bearing the above title was written by James H. Perkins, [which see] in 1846; it, however, embraced only the central portion of the West. A Second Edition was published in 1850, revised and enlarged by J. M. Peck [which see], and includes a more full account of events connected with the early history of Illinois, Missouri, etc.

The above edition is an enlargement of the two former, and by far the most desirable of the three; it forms, with its 1016 pages, almost a complete cyclopædia of events connected with the History of the West, especially Ohio, up to 1856, and with its full Index, is particularly desirable as a work of reference.

The author, Mr. Albach, long associated with the literary annals of Ohio, was born at Hunterdon, N. J., July 30, 1797, and died April 20, 1865. During the earlier part of his life he was engaged in the profession of teaching, and traveling through the West, where, by study and observation, he laid the foundation of the above work. He was for the last twelve years of his life a resident of Oxford, O.

Woodward, 1869, $5.00; Field, 1875, $3.00; Drake, 1876, $2.75; Priced, Cin'ti, 1877, $5.00; N. Y., 1878, hf. mor. $6.25.

The Western Almanac for 1818. By James R. Stubbs. Cincinnati: Printed & Published by Williams & Mason, and Morgan, Lodge & Co. [1817.] 12mo. pp. 36.

The Farmer's Almanac for 1819. By Samuel Burr. Cincinnati: Published by Ferguson & Sanxay. [1818.] 12mo. pp. 36. (Continued in 1820, 1821, 1822.)

The Cincinnati Almanac No. 1, for 1820. By Samuel Burr. Cincinnati: Printed, published and sold at the Spy Office, 1819. 16mo. pp. 53.

The Freeman's Almanack, or Farmer's Calendar, for 1823. Cincinnati: Published by Oliver Farnsworth & Co. [1822.] 12mo. 14 leaves. (Continued in 1824, 1825, 1826, 1827, 1828, 1829, 1830, 1831, 1832, 1833 & 1834.)

AMERICAN PIONEER (The.) A Monthly Periodical, devoted to the objects of the Logan Historical Society; or to Collecting and Publishing Sketches relative to the Early Settlement and Successive Improvement of the Country. Edited and Published by John S. Williams.

Vol. 1, CHILLICOTHE, O., 1842. Vol. 2, CINCINNATI, 1843. [15]

2 vols. 8*vo. pp.* 448—480.

 Of Vol. 1, twelve numbers were published in Chillicothe during the year 1842. It contains a Frontispiece and twenty-one engravings. After the removal of the place of publication to Cincinnati, Vol. 1 was twice reprinted, which accounts for the fact that in many copies Vol. 1 is dated Cincinnati, 1842 or 1844 and Vol. 2, 1843

Of Vol. 2, ten numbers were published in Cincinnati Jan.-Oct., 1843. It contains a folding plate, and twenty-one engravings. The publication was discontinued at the end of No. 10, Vol. 2.

This work, which is very valuable to the historian, consists of original contributions relating mainly to the Ohio Valley. It contains Journals of Campaigns against the Indians, Narratives of Captivity, Incidents of Border Warfare, Biographical Sketches, etc. It will rank favorably with the "Olden Time," for usefulness and authority. Accompanying each volume is a full Index, the very best recommendation to any book.

The Logan Historical Society was first organized on July 28, 1841, at Westfall, Pickaway County, near the spot where Logan, the Mingo Chief, is said to have delivered his celebrated speech. The Society flourished for two or three years, during which time many valuable historical facts and reminiscences were collected, arranged and published in the above work, edited by Mr. Williams, who was the Secretary of the Society. For want of proper patronage and the enlistment of sufficient interest, the Society was permitted to sink into oblivion. An attempt was again made in 1849, to revive the interest, without success.

Deeth, 1865, bds. uncut, $11.50; Corner, 1866, sheets, uncut, $11.00; Fisher, 1866, hf. mor., $11.50; Rice, 1870, hf. mor., $9.50; Boon, 1870, hf. mor., $11.00; Field, 1875, sheep, $12.50; Menzies, 1876, hf. mor. uncut, $14.50; Hoffman, 1877, hf. mor. uncut, $17.00.

AMPHLETT (WILLIAM.)

The Emigrants Directory of the Western States of North America, including a Voyage out from Liverpool; the Geography and Topography of the whole Western Country, according to its latest improvements, with instructions for descending the rivers Ohio and Mississippi; also, a brief account of a new British Settlement on the Head Waters of the Susquehana, in Philadelphia. By William Amphlett, formerly of London, now resident on the banks of the Ohio River.

LONDON: Longman, Hurst, Rees, Orme, and Brown, 1819. [16]

12*mo. pp.* viii—208.

 We have never seen a copy of this book. The title is taken from Rich's Bib. Amer. Nova, which says: "The present small volume appears to contain the most impartial account of the Western States that we have yet seen. The author disclaiming all intention of offering advice on the subject of emigration to the American continent, confines himself to a description of the country; and he does not appear to be one of those speculators who have land to sell, and are therefore interested in one particular State."

AN ACCOUNT of the Coal Bank Disaster at Blue Rock, Ohio, in which four men were buried beneath the hill for two weeks; together with their own account of the feelings they experienced in their solitary confinement.

MALTA, OHIO: E. Ballou, Publisher, 1856. [17]

12*mo. pp.* 32.

AN ACCOUNT of the Organization and Proceedings of the Battle of Lake Erie Monument Association, and Celebration of the 45th Anniversary of the Battle of Lake Erie at Put-in-Bay Island, on September 10, 1858.

SANDUSKY: Printed by Henry D. Cooke & Co., 1858. [18]

8vo. pp. 49.

AN ANSWER To an invidious Pamphlet, intituled, A Brief State of the Province of Pensylvania. Wherein are exposed The many false Assertions of the Author or Authors, of the said Pamphlet, with a View to render the Quakers of Pensylvania and their Government obnoxious to the British Parliament and Ministry; and the Several Transactions, most grosly misrepresented therein, set in their true light.

LONDON: S. Blandon, MDCCLV. [19]

8vo. Title and pp. 80.

 An answer to "Smith's Brief State of the Province of Pensylvania," 1755, relating to the French encroachment on the Ohio.

"This answer is said to be the production of one Cross, formerly an attorney's clerk, who was convicted of forgery, sentenced to be hanged, but after some time obtained the favour of transportation, and did us the honour to take up his residence in this province.—Smith's "Brief View," page 13.

Leavitt & Co., 1868, hf. mor. $3.75; Rice, 1870, $6.25; Brinley part 2, 1880, $8.25.

AN APPEAL TO THE PEOPLE, see under [Hart (William).]

ANDREWS (E. B.)

A Funeral Discourse on the Occasion of the Death of Hon. Ephraim Cutler. Delivered at Warren, Washington County, Ohio, July 24, 1853. By Prof. E. B. Andrews, of Marietta College. Published by request.

MARIETTA, O.: Printed at the Intelligencer office, 1854. [24]

8vo. pp. 28.

 Prof. Andrews very justly concluded, that those who may come after the present generation, if an intelligent race, will desire to know something of those who preceded them. Ephraim Cutler's death took place on the 8th of July, 1853. Hence, he was 86 years old. He was among the pioneers of the West; having arrived at Marietta, with his family, 18 Sept., 1795, "having spent 31 days upon the river." There accompanied him, Col. Israel Putnam, Israel Putnam, Jr., Phinehas Matthews, with what families they had. Mr. Cutler was occupied for a season as a surveyor of lands; and within the first year he received from Gov. St. Clair, commissions of Captain in the Militia, Justice of the Peace, Judge of the Courts of Quarter Sessions and of the Common Pleas. He was henceforth known as Judge

Cutler. He kept a journal of his hardships, sufferings and toils in the "wilderness work," which should be published. Judging from a few extracts given by Prof. Andrews, it would be of permanent interest. In 1801 he was a member of the Territorial Legislature, and the next year was a member of the Convention to form a State Constitution. In 1818 he went into the State Legislature, and though opposed and thwarted for several sessions, in his efforts to establish a Common School System, yet he eventually had the satisfaction to see his views carried out, and himself called the father of the System. In 1840 he was a delegate to the Harrisburgh Convention, which nominated his old friend Gen. Harrison for the Presidency of the United States.

ANDREWS (E. B.)

An account of the fall of Meteoric Stones at New Concord, Ohio, May 1st, 1860. With computations respecting the meteor by Prof. E. W. Evans. To which are added further notices of the same by D. W. Johnson and Dr. J. Lawrence Smith. [25]

ARTICLES OF AN ASSOCIATION by the name of the Ohio Company.

NEW YORK: Printed by Samuel and John Loudon, Water Street, 1787. [43]

16mo. pp. 45.

 This rare tract, a copy of which may be found in the Harvard Library, and another in the Wisconsin Historical Society, is probably the first published work relating to the Ohio Company. The officers of the Company were: Hon. Rufus Putnam, Samuel H. Parsons, James M. Varnum, and the Rev. Manasseh Cutler, Directors; Major Winthrop Sargent, Secretary, and Col. Richard Platt, Treasurer. The following extract concludes the tract: "Many settlers are going out this fall, and in the course of the year 1788, one thousand families will remove to this fertile country." The prophecy was more than fulfilled.

ASHE (THOMAS).

Memoirs of Mammoth, and various other Extraordinary and Stupendous Bones, of Incognita, or, Non-descript Animals, found in the vicinity of the Ohio, Wabash, Illinois, Mississippi, Missouri, Osage, and Red Rivers, &c., &c. Published for the information of those Ladies and Gentlemen whose taste and love of science tempt them to visit the Liverpool Museum. By Th. Ashe, Esq.

LIVERPOOL, 1806. [44]

8vo. pp. 60.

 Besides describing the contents of ten boxes of the aforesaid "Non-descript" bones, which were collected by Mr. Ashe, Esq., "in person," the author adds "Memoirs of Mammoth and other Extraordinary Bones."

The true story of the "Big-bones," and the manner in which the author collected them "in person," is this: At Big Bone Lick, Ky., about forty miles below Cincinnati, was a vast depository of the fossil bones of the Mastodon. Dr. W. Goforth, of Cincinnati, imbued with a love for science and a steady pursuit of knowledge, had in 1803, at great expense, dug up and put together the largest of these. Ashe, alias D'Arville, persuaded him to intrust them to him as partner, he exhibiting them in Europe, while he shared the profits with the Doctor. Ashe made a fortune of them and of his book in London, but they were never heard of again, except that he had sold them to the Liverpool Museum and taken the proceeds. Thus was Goforth swindled out of what was no doubt a large part of his small fortune, by this adventurer.

ASHE (THOMAS).

Travels in America, performed in 1806, for the purpose of exploring the Rivers Allegheny, Monongahela, Ohio, and Mississippi, and ascertaining the Produce and Condition of their banks and Vicinity. By Thomas Ashe, Esq. In three volumes.

LONDON: Printed for Richard Phillips, 1808. [45]

3 vols. 18*mo.* Vol. 1, Contents pp. vi.+Text, pp. 328. Vol. 2, pp. 292+Contents ii. Vol. 3, pp. 310+Contents pp. ii.

 Another edition in one volume was published in London the same year, 12mo. pp. 366. There remains no doubt that Ashe was a literary impostor; the first to discover that a book abusing the people of the United States would be profitable by its popularity. During his sojourn in America, he passed himself off as a Frenchman, under the name of D'Arville. Ashe's obvious fictions and libels destroyed the credibility of his descriptions; for instance, he speaks of the Great Miami as being perennial, from having its fountains in Lake Erie and flowing out of that lake. He also represents a bear, which he had shot as he was descending the Ohio, stopping the wound with herbs, and he imagines the animal making an indignant speech on the occasion.

The only part of the book that is not made up of the most ridiculous follies and falsehoods, is taken verbatim et literatum, from the "Navigator."

A severe criticism of Ashe's Travels will be found in the preface of "Schultz's Travels," in which he declares that "he has made a careful examination of the work, and found it to abound in mistakes, misrepresentations and fictions in almost every page," and also that he "does not believe that any such person ever travelled the route pretended to be described."

Also published in "Phillips' Voyages," v. 5.

ATHERTON (WILLIAM).

Narrative of the Suffering and Defeat of the North-Western Army, under General Winchester: Massacre of the Prisoners: Sixteen months Imprisonment of the Writer and others with the Indians and British: By William Atherton.

FRANKFORT, KY.: Printed for the Author by A. G. Hodges, 1842. [47]

16mo. pp. 152.

 This work recounts the adventures of the Volunteers from Kentucky under the command of Cols. Allen, Lewis and Scott, who were called to the relief of Fort Wayne. Their route was from Georgetown, Ky, to Cincinnati, thence through the State of Ohio, by way of Piqua. It narrates the subsequent defeat of the Army at Raisin, their capture and experiences while imprisoned at Montreal and Quebec. In feeling and humanity, the author places the Indians above the British. See also Dudley (Thomas P.).

The Indians of the North-West, their Maners, Customs, &c. &c. or Remarks made on a tour to Prairie du Chien and thence to Washington City in 1829. By Caleb Atwater, Commissioner employed by the United States, to negotiate with the Indians of the Upper Mississippi, for the purchase of the Mineral Country, &c.

COLUMBUS, OHIO: [1831.] [50]

16*mo*. pp. vii+296.

 There is no difference whatever in the two above works, except that in a few copies of the latter, the more elaborate second title was pasted in the unsold copies of the former. The first 28 pages of the work relate mainly to Ohio.

Bangs & Co., 1873, $1.50; Priced, Cin ti, 1878, $2.00.

ATWATER (CALEB).

A History of the State of Ohio, Natural and Civil. By Caleb Atwater, A. M. Member of the American Antiquarian Society, etc. First Edition.

CINCINNATI: Stereotyped by Glezen & Shepard, [1838.] [51]

8*vo*. pp 403.

 Some copies have Second Edition on the title, with same imprint, 8vo. pp. 407. The matter is the same as the first editions except the additional four pages at end. The book was severely criticized in all quarters; the Hesperian says, that "as a literary production it is deplorably deficient." The author makes the assertion in the Preface, that this is the first history of Ohio, which is erroneous, "Chase's Sketch of the History of Ohio" having been published five years previously.

This book gives very full narratives of Harmar and St. Clair's Campaigns in 1790 and 1791, Wagner's Campaign, Tupper's Expedition, Dunmore's Expedition against the Ohio Indians, the Siege of Fort Meigs, and Groghan's Defence of Fort Stevenson.

ATWATER (CALEB).

The Writings of. [First Title], A Description of the Antiquities discovered in the Western Country; originally communicated to the American Antiquarian Society by Caleb Atwater. [Second Title], Remarks made on a tour to Prairie du Chien; thence to Washington City, in 1829.

COLUMBUS: Published by the Author. Printed by Scott and Wright, 1833. [52]

8vo. pp. 408+10 Plates.

 The "Antiquities." include pp. 9–165, and the "Tour," pp. 169–408.

The Antiquities were first published in the Archæologia Americana, vol. 1, 1820, and were never reprinted in a separate form.

The work contains but a small portion of these ruins, and subsequent examinations have thrown discredit upon some of the representations made by the author, in points upon which theories had been erected both by the author and others; however, it is by far the most complete of the early publications on this subject, and considering the new and inaccessible state of the country at that time, and the discouragements and difficulties of making detailed examinations, his plans are in general as correct as could be reasonably expected.

A severe criticism of this work will be found in the "Western Monthly Magazine," vol. 3, page 375.

CINCINNATI: Robert Clarke & Co. 1870. [85]
8vo. pp. 420.

 This litigation began in an application on behalf of certain citizens of Cincinnati, to restrain, by an injunction, the enforcement of the order of the Board of Education, forbidding the use of religious books, including the Bible in the common schools of Cincinnati. The speeches of all the counsel in the case were carefully reported and here published, together with the opinions and decision of the majority of the court, granting the injunction, and the dissenting opinions of one of the judges.

The attorneys who argued this important case, were for the plaintiffs, Wm. M. Ramsey, Geo. R. Sage and Rufus King, for the defendants, Geo. Hoadley, John B. Stallo, and Stanley Matthews. The judges, Bellamy Storer, M. B. Hagans, and Alphonso Taft. Besides the publication above noted, each argument was published separately in pamphlet form.

BIERCE (L. V.)

Historical Reminiscences of Summit County. By Gen. L. V. Bierce.

AKRON, OHIO: T. and H. G. Canfield, Publishers, 1854. [86]

16*mo. pp.* 157.

 One of the best arranged and most carefully written of our county histories. A Biography of General Bierce, taken from "Biographical Sketches of Eminent Americans," precedes the work; then comes a Biography of Amzi Atwater, which is followed by a history of each township in the county.

Many interesting events in the early history of the State, and new incidents of Indian life and warfare, will be found in this little volume.

8vo. pp. 20.

BIOGRAPHICAL Cyclopædia and Portrait Gallery of Distinguished Men, with an Historical Sketch, of the State of Ohio. Edited by J. Fletcher Brennan. Illustrated with Portraits on Steel, executed expressly for this work, by the best American and English Artists.

CINCINNATI: Published by John C. Yorston & Co. 1879. [93]

Folio, pp. 504 and 200 Steel Portraits.

 A magnificent work, and one of the handsomest volumes ever issued in the State. The biographical sketches number 724. The design seems to have been, not to take in everybody who was willing to pay for the insertion of his biography and portrait, but to give fair records of those men of the past and present whose position and achievements demand recognition. The selection of names is by far the best that has been made in works of this class. The portraits are fine specimens of steel engraving. The Historical Sketch of Ohio occupying pp. 9–56, while though not without error is concise and well written, and altogether the work is one of which Ohioans may well be proud. A second volume is announced by the publishers.

BIOGRAPHICAL Encyclopædia of Ohio, of the Nineteenth Century.

CINCINNATI AND PHILADELPHIA: Galaxy Publishing Company, 1876. [94]

4to. pp. 672 and 98 Steel Portraits.

 A handsomely bound volume, containing the biographies of many of our distinguished men, and of many more who were never heard of outside of their own county, until they paid their money and got their names in this weighty book. Each subscriber paid for his volume $25, and was allowed to write his own opinion of himself, and of all the great acts of his life, as well as the numerous insignificant ones. The gentlemen who adorn the book with their intellectual phizzes, paid for this great privilege, $150. The modesty of some of these gentlemen in showing up their virtues is remarkable; had they been wise, they would, before writing so glowingly of themselves, have read and pondered over the lines of "Bobbie Burns:"

"O, wad some pow'r the giftie gie us,
To see oursels as ithers see us!
It wad frae monie a blunder free us,
And foolish notion."

BIRCH (THOMAS LEDLIE).

8vo. Pamphlet.

BRADBURY (JOHN).

Travels in the Interior of America, in the Years 1809, 1810 and 1811; including a Description of Upper Louisiana, together with the States of Ohio, Kentucky, Indiana, and Tennessee. With the Illinois and Western Territories, and containing Remarks and Observations useful to Persons Emigrating to those Countries. By John Bradbury, F. L. S. London, Corresponding Member of the Liverpool Philosophical Society, and Honorary Member of the Literary and Philosophical Societies, New York, United States, America.

LIVERPOOL: Printed for the Author, by Smith and Galway and Published by Sherwood, Neely and Jones, LONDON, 1817. [111]

8vo. pp. xii, and text pp. 9—364+'Errata' on a slip, 13 lines.

 A Second Edition was published, London, 1819, 8vo. pp. 346 and Map.

Pages 279—334 contain Remarks on Ohio and the West, made during the author's tour; they consist principally of descriptions and advice useful to emigrants. Unlike the narrations of most of the early travelers in the Western country, Bradbury's chief object seems to have been to convey information and write the truth. His work is of primary importance, and quoted as authority by modern writers.

Leavitt & Co., 1868. $1.63; Boon, 1870, hf. mor. $4.25; Griswold, 1876, hf. cf. $2.50; Priced N. Y., 1874, hf. cf. $3.50; Cin'ti, 1878, bds. uncut, $4.25.

BRADFORD (ALEXANDER W.)

American Antiquities and Researches into the Origin and History of the Red Race. By Alexander W. Bradford.

NEW YORK: Dayton and Saxton 1841. [112]

8vo. pp. 435.

 The first portion of the work with few exceptions, is confined to a description of the ancient American monuments, including in pp. 21—55, those contained within the limits of Ohio. The author confines himself strictly to the language of his authorities, which are numerous and varied, thus the reader has an opportunity to form his own conclusions, and to test the accuracy of the author's theories. The second part of the work is an attempt to solve some interesting problems of ancient aboriginal history.

Some copies have the imprint New York; Wiley & Putnam, 1841. A second edition was published in 1843.

See N. A. R., liv. 283, and "Atheneum," May 21, 1842.

BRAYTON (MATTHEW).

The Indian Captive. A Narrative of the Adventures and Sufferings of Matthew Brayton in his Thirty-four years of Captivity among the Indians of North Western America.

CLEVELAND O.: Fairbanks, Benedict & Co., Printers, Herald Office, 1860. [115]

16*mo. pp.* 68.

 An account of the captivity of Brayton, in 1825, when seven years old, in the neighborhood of the junction of the Sandusky and Tymochte rivers, in Wyandot county, Ohio, by a remnant of the once powerful Wyandot Indians. After having been traded from tribe to tribe, in the West, for a period of thirty-four years, he found his way back to Ohio, and related the narrative of his captivity. It was published in the Cleveland Herald, in 1859, through the medium of which he was restored to his family.

"Extraordinary as the incidents appear, there is abundant proof of entire truth. Living witnesses bear testimony of the circumstances of the mysterious loss of the hero, and his identity is established by incontrovertible proofs."—Preface.

BRICKELL (JOHN).

Narrative of his Captivity among the Delaware Indians in 1791. [See American Pioneer, Vol. 1. page 43]. [116]

 Although quite young when taken prisioner, Brickell is very clear as to many important facts; and, being with the Indians when they defeated St. Clair, and when they were in turn defeated by Wayne, he is a valuable witness from the other side of the line, which makes his narrative doubly interesting.

BURNET (JACOB).

Notes on the Early Settlement of the North-western Territory. By Jacob Burnet.

CINCINNATI: Derby, Bradley & Co. 1847. [142]

8vo. pp. 501, and Portrait.

 Some copies bear the imprint New York, D. Appleton & Co., 1847.

We know of nothing which illustrates more forcibly the rapid growth of the vast region north-west of the Ohio river, than the contents of this volume. The work is in reality an autobiographical sketch of the author, accompained by a statement of such facts and incidents relating to the early settlement of the North Western Territory as were within his recollection, and might be considered worth preserving. It is an enlargement of his letters published in 1839 in the Transactions of the Historical and Philosophical Society of Ohio, Vol. I, part II.

It was in 1796 that Jacob Burnet, then twenty-six years of age, left his home in New Jersey, and passed into the western wilderness; the young lawyer was bound for Cincinnati. On the eastern edge of this village stood Fort Washington, commanded at that time by a young lieutenant named William Henry Harrison. The young man advanced rapidly in his profession and in popular favor, and in 1798 we find him at the head of the Council of five appointed to form a government for the Northwest Territory; from this time until his death in 1853, he continued one of the most respected in the community in which he lived, and occupied numerous positions of trust in the State. His work with some few exceptions is considered accurate and is quoted as authority in more modern productions.

Cincinnati in 1800. [144]

 This article by Judge Burnet, together with a steel plate of Cincinnati in 1800, drawn and engraved by Edward H. Knight, was published in the Gentleman's Magazine, Vol. I, No. I. (Published in Cincinnati, discontinued at the end of No. 3, consisting in all of 144 pages, June, July and August, 1848; a set is in the Ohio State Library.) No. 2 contains a steel plate of Cincinnati in 1848, and an article by Charles Cist on the same subject.

Judge Burnet also wrote:—Speech in the Whig National Convention, giving a brief history of the Life of William Henry Harrison, 8vo. pp. 8, Washington; Madisonian Office, 1839; reprinted, 8vo., pp. 12, Lafayette: John D. Smith, 1840.

BUTTERFIELD (CONSUL W.)

With an introduction, containing a brief history of the State, from the discovery of the Mississippi River down to the year 1817. To the whole of which is added An Appendix, containing Tabular Views, &c. By Consul W. Butterfield.

SANDUSKY: D. Campbell & Sons, Water Street, 1848. [145]

12mo. pp. 252.

 The introduction pp. 7–51, gives a very interesting History of the State, which is made up largely from the pages of "Chase's Sketch" and "Western Adventure." The History of Seneca county, pp. 53–190, is very carefully compiled, principally from the experience of the early settlers themselves.

This work is uncommon; 2,000 copies were printed, but 1,300 were destroyed by fire in a warehouse in Tiffin, Ohio, in 1849.

BUTTERFIELD (CONSUL W.)

An Historical Account of the Expedition against Sandusky under Col. William Crawford in 1782. With Biographical Sketches, Personal Reminiscences, and Descriptions of Interesting Localities. Including, also, Details of the disastrous Retreat, the barbarities of the Savages, and the awful death of Crawford by torture. By C. W. Butterfield. CINCINNATI: Robert Clarke & Co. 1873. [146]

8vo. pp. x+403+Portrait of Gen. Irvine.

This work comprises a complete narrative of the Expedition, drawn largely from original manuscripts, describing in detail the causes which led to the organization of the Campaign in Western Pennsylvania; the assembling of the army at the Ohio river, and its march to Sandusky; the marshalling of the savages upon the Sandusky Plains to repel the Americans; the Battles of the Wilderness; the retreat of the army and its return to the border;—followed by an account of the capturing of stragglers by the Indians; the barbarities inflicted on them; the escape of Knight and Slover from captivity; and the terrible death of Crawford, by prolonged and most cruel torture.

The work also includes biographical sketches of Brigadier General William Irvine, (commanding at Fort Pitt, 1781—1783) who authorized, helped to organize, and issued instructions for the Campaign; of Colonel William Crawford, commander of the Expedition; of Matthew Elliott, a British Captain, in command of the enemy; of Captain Pipe, a famous Delaware Indian war-chief; of Simon Girty, and many others, together with incidents on the battlefield and retreat.

This history has a general value as a study of pioneer life and warfare, and the sketches of adventure in which it abounds, add greatly to the interest of the main narrative. The author has succeeded perfectly in confuting the Moravian theory (that the expedition was intended to destroy the remnant of the Christian Indians upon the Sandusky) and exposes errors of every degree of importance in the Moravian record of the incidents of the defeat and rout.

An original and interesting note on Crawford's Campaign may be found in "Chastellux's Travels," Vol. 2, page 137.

BUTTERFIELD (CONSUL W.)

The Washington-Crawford Letters. Being the Correspondence between George Washington and William Crawford, from 1767 to 1781, Concerning Western Lands. With an Appendix, containing Later Letters of Washington on the same Subject, and Letters from Valentine Crawford to Washington, written in 1774 and 1775. Chronologically arranged and carefully annotated by C. W. Butterfield, author of "Crawford's Campaigns," etc.

CINCINNATI: Robert Clarke & Co. 1877. [147]

8vo. pp. xi—107.

This correspondence throws a good deal of light upon early Western History, and especially on Ohio, besides adding something to our knowledge of Washington's early life and plans. Mr. Butterfield's notes are abundant and full of valuable explanations.

BUTTRICK (TILLY JR.)

Voyages, Travels and Discoveries of.

BOSTON: For the Author, 1831. [148]

12mo. pp, 58.

 This is a very interesting narrative and but little known. Mr. Buttrick was born in Westford, Massachusetts, in 1783, and after making a voyage to the Pacific and another to the West Indies, was traveling through Canada on his way to Detroit when the war of 1812 commenced. Held a prisoner on parole for seventeen days, he was, through the influence of a friend in Buffalo, allowed by General Brock to cross the line, but being obliged to leave his conveyance in Canada, did not reach Detroit. In July, 1814, in company with four others, he passed down the Allegheny, probably from Olean, to within thirty miles of Pittsburgh, in a canoe, making but 270 miles in eight days.

The fourth night they slept at the house of a mighty Nimrod, whose twenty or thirty hounds ate up the provisions for the trip, which had been left in the canoe.

The Penamite furnished the travelers with such new stores as he could command, but charged them an exorbitant price, and made no abatement on account of the dogs.

This trip extended to Louisville and Cincinnati. He returned on horseback. In the latter part of March, 1815, he embarked again at Olean, this time on a flat boat. There started at the same time no less than 1200 people, emigrants, mostly from the State of Maine. His trip on this occasion extended to New Orleans, and the most interesting part of his narrative details his suffering in returning. This terrible journey from New Orleans through the Indian country to Cincinnati he performed entirely on foot, generally alone, always sick, often hungry, and sometimes nearly starved. He was forty-seven days on the tramp, and in Cincinnati met a man who started with him and got through in twenty-five. In 1819, at "Portland on Lower Sandusky Bay," he contracted a disease of the eyes, which resulted in the entire loss of sight. He says the disease was epidemic there at that time, and "attacked all ages and sexes without distinction, and with some would in a few days cause total blindness."

CINCINNATI: Printed and Published for the Author, 1841. [222]

12mo. pp. xi—300+Steel Frontispiece and 4 Steel Plates of Buildings.

 The three works of Charles Cist, viz: Cincinnati in 1841, 1851 and 1859, are exceedingly valuable, as supplying many events of a local and statistical nature, and will be found useful in showing the successive growth of the city during the years named as well as those previous. In the above a very complete review of the "Early Annals of Cincinnati" will be found in pp. 155–232, mainly complied from "Drake's Picture of Cincinnati in 1815." A large number of each of Cist's three books were printed.

Usually priced at $1.50.

CIST (CHARLES).

TORONTO: Hunter, Rose & Co. 1870. [231]

16*mo. pp.* vi+158.

 A curious and very readable account of the Hurons or Wyandots, based mainly on traditional history. It gives some interesting sketches of the War of 1812 and reminiscences of Tecumseh never before published. As a work of authority, its rank is not very high.

Clogston. 1875. $2.13; Priced, Cin'ti, 1876, $2.00.

CLARKE (ROBERT).

Information Wanted with reference to the Early Settlers of Losantiville (Now Cincinnati).

[CINCINNATI: Robert Clarke & Co., Printers, 1870.] [232]

8vo. pp. 11.

 This little tract which was privately printed, gives the "Record of the distribution and sale of lots in the town of Losantiville, [now Cincinnati,] 1789–90," together with the "Names on the Record of the distribution and sale of lots in the town of Losantiville, 1789–90."

The name L-os-anti-ville, was given by John Filson, schoolmaster and surveyor, and was intended to mean, town opposite the mouth of the Licking. General Arthur St. Clair, Governor of the Northwest Territory, on his first visit to the place, January 2d, 1790, changed the name to Cincinnati, in honor of the "Society of the Cincinnati" of which he was a prominent member.

CLARKE (ROBERT).

The Prehistoric Remains which were found on the Site of the City of Cincinnati, Ohio. With a Vindication of the "Cincinnati Tablet." By Robert Clarke.

CINCINNATI: 1876. [233]

8vo. pp. 34 and folding Plate.

 Printed for private distribution only. Mr. Clarke gives a general description of the Prehistoric Remains at Cincinnati, with particular reference to the genuineness of a tablet discovered in 1841, in the centre of one of the mounds in that city; he makes it clear that this stone known as the "Cincinnati Tablet," an illustration of which is given with the work, is not the imposition it is declared to be by Mr. Charles Whittlesey in his pamphlet entitled, "Archæological Frauds," and by others.

An account of the Cincinnati Tablet will be found in the "American Pioneer," vol. 2, page 195.

Avec un Atlas de 36 cartes, plans, vues et figures. Par feu le Gēnēral Collot.

PARIS: Arthur Bertrand, 1826. [247]

2 vols. 8*vo. pp.* iv, viii, 416—427, and Atlas of 36 Plates.

 The preface informs us that only 300 copies were printed in French and 100 in English.

This work is published in sumptuous style and relates largely to Ohio, and almost entirely to the Western States. The maps are the very perfection of fine engraving and of the greatest value to the historian. The charts of the Ohio river are very minute and complete in detail, showing each creek, settlement, farm, etc., along its banks at the time of the author's journey, 1796. An appendix is referred to, but seems to have been printed only in the French edition.

"This work was printed both in French and English, but not published, at the time of General Collot's death, which happened in 1805. More than twenty years afterwards, the whole impression came into the hands of M. Bertrand, an eminent publisher in Paris, who reserved one hundred copies of the English, and three hundred of the French Edition, and made waste paper of the remainder. The translation was made by an English gentleman, under the eyes of the General himself. The journey was undertaken in 1796, at the request of Adet, minister from France to the United States, for the purpose of obtaining 'a minute detail of the political, commercial and military state of the western part of that Continent.' The maps and plates are beautifully engraved by Tardien. A few copies were printed on large vellum paper."—Rich.

The following is the English title:

COLLOT (G. H. V.)

A Journey in North America, containing a survey of the Countries watered by the Mississippi, Ohio, Missouri and other affluing Rivers; with exact observations on the Course and Soundings of these Rivers; and on the Towns, Villages, Hamlets and Farms in that part of the New World; followed by Philosophical, Political, Military and Commercial Remarks, and by a Projected Line of Frontiers and General Limits. Illustrated by 36 Maps, Plans, Views, and Divers Cuts. By Victor Collot, Late General in the French Service and Governor of Guadeloupe.

PARIS; Printed for Arthur Bertrand, 1826. [248]

2 vols. 4to. pp. 310+372, and Atlas of 36 Plates.

COLES (EDWARD).

History of the Ordinance of 1787. By Edward Coles, formerly Governor of the State of Illinois; member of the Historical Society of Pennsylvania. Read before the Historical Society of Pennsylvania, June 9, 1856.

Press of the Society, 1856. [249]

8vo. pp. 33.

 Mr. Coles' object was chiefly to controvert Mr. Webster's statement as to the authorship of this famous ordinance and to claim the honor for Thomas Jefferson. The pamphlet more recently written by Mr. Poole closely associates the name of Manasseh Cutler with its origin and history, and claims for him the honor of having formed several important passages.

CROGHAN (GEORGE).

Journal of Col. George Croghan, who was sent, after the Peace of 1763 by the Government, to explore the Country adjacent to the Ohio River, and to conciliate the Indian Nations who had hitherto acted with the French. Reprinted from Featherstonhaugh's Am. Monthly Journal of Geology, December 1831. [n. p. n. d.] [285]

12mo. pp. 38.

 Of this work 100 copies only were reprinted by W. H. B. Thomas of Mount Holly, N. J. It was printed in Burlington, N. J., in 1875.

Croghan was the commissioner of Sir William Johnson who was sent to the West to learn the disposition of the Indian inhabitants, and secure, if possible, their adhesion to the English interest and thus to prevent the recurrence of Indian war. On the 15th of May, he left Fort Pitt and passed down the Ohio, and on the 8th of June was taken prisoner by the Indians and carried to Vincennes. His journal gives much information in regard to the French and Indians at that period.

A number of Croghan's letters are reprinted in the Massachusetts Historical Society Collections, vol. 9. Fourth Series; and his "Journal from Fort Pitt to Vincennes in 1765," is published in the "Olden Time," vol. 1. p. 403.

CUMING (F.)

Sketches of a Tour to the Western Country through the States of Ohio and Kentucky; a Voyage down the Ohio and Mississippi Rivers, and a trip through the Mississippi Territory and part of West Florida. Commenced at Philadelphia in the Winter of 1807 and concluded in 1809. By F. Cuming. With Notes and an Appendix containing some interesting facts together with a Notice of Expedition through Louisiana.

PITTSBURGH: Printed & Published by Cramer, Spear & Eichbaum 1810. [286]

12*mo. pp.* 504.

 This is one of the most interesting works relating to the West. We believe it to have been edited by Zadok Cramer. The journey from Philadelphia to St. Clairsville, Ohio, and back to Pittsburgh was performed entirely on foot. The author gives a most minute description of the numerous towns and localities through which he passed in southeastern Ohio, included in pp. 89–232. From Maysville the author descended the Ohio and Mississippi to Bayou Pierre, Louisiana. At pp. 324 Mr. Cuming's tour ends, then follows "Notes of a voyage from Bayou Pierre to the mouth of the Mississippi in 1799, by a Gentleman," pp. 325–354.

The Appendix pp. 355–504, includes narratives of the greatest importance, many of which are here published for the first time; we enumerate those which relate to Ohio:

Account of the massacre of the innocent Moravian Christian Indians at Gnadenhutten, from Loskiel's History, pp. 355–376.

Geological, Topographical and Medical information concerning the eastern part of the State of Ohio, by Dr. Gideon C. Forsyth, of Wheeling, pp. 376–393.

Of the diseases, climate, vegetable and mineral productions in the neighborhood of Marietta by Dr. S. P. Hildreth, pp. 394–436.

A Description and Historical Sketches of that portion of the western country known by the name of the Miami of the Lake, Upper and Lower Sandusky, with the present state of the Indian tribes in that quarter. Communicated to the editor by Rev. Joseph Badger, missionary, stationed at Sandusky, pp. 436–441.

A Topographical description of what is called the New Purchase on the Tuscarawas, its extent, soil, towns, etc., communicated in a letter to the editor dated Canton, June 20, 1809 by Mr. Jos. H. Larwill, Surveyor, pp. 441–442.

A topographical account of that part of the State of Ohio, called the Connecticut Western Reserve. Its boundaries, extent, state of settlements, antiquities, etc. And of the town of Warren, communicated to the editor by a gentleman of that place in the fall of 1809. pp. 443–449.

A topographical account of several counties in the lower part of the State of Ohio, particularly Montgomery, and the town of Dayton. Communicated by B. V. Cleve, Esq., postmaster, dated, Dayton, December 21, 1808. pp. 450–455.

An account of some uncommonly large human bones found on the river Huron—Mounds and ancient fortifications—Smith's cinders found within the earthen walls of an old fortification on Big Beaver creek—and of the Tallegawe Indians, an ancient tribe. Communicated by Rev. John Heckewelder, dated Gnadenhutten, February 3, 1810. pp. 453–455.

Hubbard, 1867, $4.25; Mayer, 1870, $3.00; Clogston, 1875, $2.75; Drake, 1876, $2.50; Priced Cin'ti, 1877, $4.50.

✓ CUMINGS (SAMUEL).

The Western Navigator: Containing Charts of the Ohio River in its Whole Extent, and of the Mississippi River from the mouth of the Missouri to the Gulf of Mexico. Accompanied by Directions for the Navigation of the Ohio and Mississippi, and such information concerning the Towns &c, on their banks as will be most useful to Travellers. By Samuel Cumings. Vol. 1.

PHILADELPHIA: Published by E. Littell, No. 88, Chestnut Street, Clark & Raser Printers, 1822. [287]

Vol. 1, Folio.

 This is the title to the volume of charts, which is quite scarce and seldom accompanies the letterpress. It contains 15 charts of the Ohio river, on 14 plates, and 18 charts of the Mississippi river on 13 plates; size of each 16½x20 inches, folded in the center. The charts are on a uniform scale of two miles to an inch. The letterpress has the following title:

CUMINGS (SAMUEL).

The Western Navigator: Containing directions for the Navigation of the Ohio and Mississippi, and such information concerning the Towns &c, on their banks, as will be most useful to Travellers, Accompanied by Charts of the Ohio River in its whole extent, and of the Mississippi River from the Mouth of the Missouri to the Gulf of Mexico. Vol. 2. 8*vo. Title and Preface* 4+pp. 232 and Index 6 pp. unnumbered.

 The descriptive notices contained in the text are mainly extracted from Kilbourn's "Ohio Gazetteer," and Cramer's edition of the "Navigator," with additions. The above volumes are scarce.

CUMINGS (SAMUEL).

The Western Pilot; containing Charts of the Ohio River, and of the Mississippi from the mouth of the Missouri to the Gulf of Mexico; accompanied with directions for navigating the same, and a gazetteer or description of the Towns on their banks, tributary streams &c, also, a variety of matters interesting to travellers, and all concerned in the navigation of those Rivers. By Samuel Cumings.

CINCINNATI: N. & G. Guilford & Co. 1834. [289]

8vo. pp. 152 and 4 Copper-plates.

 The charts, 43 in number, are engraved on wood and printed with the book, each occupying a page. The copper-plates are a vignette title, views of Pittsburgh and Cincinnati, and a portrait of Gabrielle Menou.

The first edition was published in 1825, and was followed at short intervals, by others with slight variation in the text. A revised and corrected edition, by Captains Charles Ross and John Klinefelter was issued in Cincinnati, published by George Conclin in 1847. 8vo. pp. 144.

DAYTON: Published by James Odell, Jr. 1850. [294]

 The above was previously published the same year in "Odell's Dayton Directory," and the present edition was printed from the same plates. At page 56 is a folded map of Montgomery and adjacent counties. The work is mainly compiled from early newspapers and works on Ohio and the West, but contains besides much original matter from the testimony of eye-witnesses.

Priced, Cin'ti, 1876, $3.00.

[CUTLER (JERVIS).]

A Topographical Description of the State of Ohio, Indiana Territory and Louisiana. Comprehending the Ohio and Mississippi Rivers, and their principal Tributary Streams, and a Concise account of the Indian Tribes west of the Mississippi. To which is added an Interesting Journal of Mr. Chas. Le Raye while a captive with the Sioux Nation on the waters of the Missouri River. By a late Officer in the U. S. Army.

BOSTON: Charles Williams, 1812. [298]

12mo. pp. 219, and Five Plates.

 Jervis Cutler, son of Ephraim Cutler, is said to be the first emigrant who landed at Marietta; the illustrations in this work were drawn by himself.

Pages 7–52 are devoted to a general description of the State of Ohio, and at page 42 is a curious view of Cincinnati in 1809, the first engraved. LeRaye's Journal of his experience among the Sioux Indians forms an important part of the volume and occupies pages 158–204; it never appeared in any other form. Lieutenant Cutler was one of the band of emigrants from Massachusetts under General Rufus Putnam, who in 1788 settléd at Marietta.

[CUTLER (MANASSEH).]

An Explanation of the Map which delineates that part of the Federal Lands, comprehended between Pennsylvania West Line, the River Ohio and Sioto, and Lake Erie; confirmed to the United States by Sundry Tribes of Indians, in the Treaties of 1784 and 1786, and now ready for Settlement.

SALEM: Printed by Dabney and Cushing, 1787. [299]

8*vo*. pp. 24.

 Excessively rare. This pamphlet was reprinted in Nahum Ward's "Brief Sketch of the State of Ohio," Glasgow, 1822, and London, 1823; and a French translation was issued in Paris in 1789. It is mentioned in Caleb Emerson's article on Ohio in the 53d volume of the N. A. Rev. p. 358, in Morse's Geography, and by Wm. F. Poole in the N. A. Rev. vol. 122, page 261. It has the prediction that the western rivers will be navigable chiefly by steamboats.

Doubts have been expressed as to Dr. Manasseh Cutler being the author of this rare tract. In this connection I will say that among the papers of Dr. Cutler may be seen the original receipt of Dabney and Cushing of Salem, for money paid them for printing in 1787 a pamphlet on the Western Territory. Ludewig says "with map," but I have never seen a copy with the map, and could never ascertain what map it explained.

Field, 1875, $21.00.

The following is a translation:—

12mo. pp. 108.

 Pages 97–99 give the Roads in the State of Ohio, with the distances from place to place along them.

This little work which is scarce, was never published in a separate form. It appeared in the same volume with a work entitled "A Description of the Bounty Lands in the State of Illinois," By H. Dana, Cincinnati, 1819, and forms pp. 49–108 of the said work.

Priced, Cin'ti, 1878, hf. mor. $8.50.

Geographical Sketches of the Western Country: designed for Emigrants and Settlers: Being the result of extensive researches and remarks. To which is added a Summary of all the most Interesting Matters on the Subject, including a Particular Description of the unsold Public Lands, collected from a variety of Authentic Sources, Also, a List of the Principal Roads. By E. Dana.

CINCINNATI: Looker, Reynolds & Co., 1819. [306]

12mo. pp. 312.

 The work contains the information acquired by the Author, during six years spent in the West. The Author was employed by emigrants, desirous of removing to the West, to select and purchase for them, sites for permanent settlements. Being an uneducated man, the work was prepared for the press by Reuben Kidder. Pages 64–87 relate to Ohio.

Woodward, 1869, $2.50; Priced, Cin'ti, 1876, bds. uncut, $3.00.

 Pages 218–251, give a very clear and accurate description of the State of Ohio, as regards Geography and Statistics. Reviewed in N. A. Rev. viii, p. 268.

DARNALL (ELIAS).

A Journal, containing an accurate and interesting account of the Hardships, Sufferings, Battles, Defeat and Captivity of those heroic Kentucky Volunteers and Regulars, commanded by General Winchester in the year 1812-1813. Also, Two Narratives, by men who were wounded in the Battles on the River Raisin, and taken Captive by the Indians. By Elias Darnall. [Printed for the Author.]

PARIS, KENTUCKY: Printed by Joel R. Lyle, 1813. [309]

8vo. Title, 1 leaf, Preface 1 leaf, and pp. 2-57+7+1 page unnumbered.

 The rare original edition of Darnall's Narrative. Mr. Field in his Indian Bibliography, gives the date as 1812, which certainly must be a mistake, for the Battle of Raisin to which it refers was not fought until the 22d of January, 1813. The two narratives mentioned in the title are by Timothy Mallary and John Davenport. By a curious oversight all works relating to this author, spell the name Darn*e*ll instead of Darn*a*ll, as it is spelled on the title page, and at the end of the Preface.

Bangs & Co., 1871, $15.50 Field, 1875, levant mor., $85.00.

DARNALL (ELIAS).

A Journal, containing an accurate and interesting account. [Same title as the above]. By Elias Darnall.

SHELBYVILLE KENTUCKY, Printed for the Author, by George C. Smoot, 1814. [310]

8vo. pp. 39.

 The Second Edition; it is an exact reprint of the First, except that it does not contain the Poem, "The Battle of theRaisin," which concludes that edition. We have never seen but one copy of this edition.

DARNELL (ELIAS).

A Journal, containing an accurate and interesting account. [Same title as the above]. By Elias Darnell.

PHILADELPHIA: Lippincott, Grambo & Co. 1854. [311]

16mo. pp. 98 and 1 leaf unnumbered.

 The Third Edition. The author's name should read Darnall instead of Darnell.

Usually priced 75 cts. to $1.

DAWSON (MOSES).

A Historical Narrative of the Civil and Military Services of Major General William H. Harrison, and a Vindication of his Character and Conduct as a Statesman, a Citizen, and a Soldier. With a Detail of his Negotiations and Wars with the Indians, until the final overthrow of the Celebrated Chief Tecumseh and his brother the Prophet. The whole written and compiled from original and authentic documents furnished by many of the most respectable characters in the United States. By Moses Dawson, Editor of the Cincinnati Advertiser.

CINCINNATI: Printed by M. Dawson, at the Advertiser Office 1824. [312]

8*vo. Preface and Introduction*, viii+pages 464+Appendix 8 pages unnumbered.

 Mr. Dawson's work can hardly be called History, being a compilation of personal narratives collected and arranged to preserve the materials of history—nor is it Biography, because it does not profess to exhibit the private character or history of the distinguished individual of whom it treats; but it is certainly a most interesting and valuable compilation of historical facts, and is one of the most thorough, complete and authentic treaties relating to the Border Wars of the West, ever printed. The numerous official and other documents which are crowded into the volume, startle the general reader, whose object is always to gain information with the least possible trouble; but the student, in the acquirement of accurate knowledge will hail with pleasure the details which are spread before him.

The author in his preface says, "a second edition is now in hands and it will be before the public in a very short time;" but we can find no record of a second edition having been issued; the work is very scarce and each year increases in price.

For a review of this work see North Amer. Rev. xxi, p. 248.

[DEBECK (W. L.)]

Murder Will Out. The first step in crime leads to the Gallows. The Horrors of the Queen City. Being an account of the Two Soldiers who were executed at Old Fort Washington; and the Trials and Execution of John May; Philip Lewis, (colored); John Cowan, the Murderer of his Family; Washburn, and his associates Davis and Hoover, the Butcherers of over 30 persons; Byron Cooley, who killed John Rambo; Henry LeCount; Patrick McHugh, the Murderer of his own wife; and a careful History of the Hughes Murderers, with a precise account of the Murder of John Brasher, the Watchman; the Summons Massacre; Arrison and the Infernal Machine; Mrs. Howard who avenged her own wrongs; Nancy Farrer, the Child Poisoner; With a correct detail of over a Hundred other Murders which have taken place in this City and County. By an Old Citizen.

12mo. pp. 128.

 The author of this work was Col. William L. DeBeck, of Cincinnati. As a chronological index of Crime in Hamilton county, it has some value, but it is written in a most wretched style.

DECLARATION (A) and Protest of the Wardens and Vestry of Christ Church, Cincinnati, against the Proceedings of Bishop Hobart, and the Trustees of the General Theological Seminary of the Episcopal Church, in relation to the Mission of Bishop Chase to England.

DEHASS (WILLS).

History of the Early Settlement and Indian Wars of Western Virginia; embracing an account of the various expeditions in the West previous to 1795. Also, biographical sketches of Col. Ebenezer Zane, Major Samuel M'Colloch, Lewis Wetzel, Genl. Andrew Lewis, Genl. Daniel Brodhead, Capt. Samuel Brady, Col. Wm. Crawford; and other distinguished actors in our Border Wars. Illustrated by Numerous Engravings. [Woodcuts.] By Wills DeHass. Corresponding Member of the Maryland and New York Historical Societies.

WHEELING: Published by H. Hoblitzell. Philadelphia: Printed by King and Baird, No. 9 Sansom Street, 1851. [318]

8vo. pp. 416+4 Plates and Folding Plan.

 This most valuable work is not a mere compilation of facts, but a history drawn from sources original and reliable. The author says "all statements of doubtful authority have been discarded, and no evidence received but that of the most unquestionable character." A distinctive feature of the work will be found in Part VII, containing biographical sketches of some of the most prominent actors in the border wars.

Among the principal subjects relating to our topic, are, Indian Towns on the Ohio, French Claims on the Ohio, Bouquet's Expedition, Capt. Cresap exonerated, Col. Angus McDonald's Expedition against the Indians in Ohio, Battle of Point Pleasant, Dunmore's Expedition, Massacre at Gnadenhutten, Crawford's Campaign, etc.

The work was originally sold by subscription, and is now scarce.

DELAFIELD (JOHN, JR.)

An inquiry into the Origin of the Antiquities of America. By John Delafield Jr. With an Appendix, containing Notes, and "a view of the Causes of the Superiority of the Men of the Northern over those of the Southern Hemisphere" by James Lakey M. D.

CINCINNATI: Published by N. G. Burgess & Co. Stereotyped by Glezen and Shepard 1839. [320]

4to. pp. 142+Folding Plan and 10 Plates.

 Another Edition was published the same year, in New York, from the same plates with the imprint. New York, published for subscribers by Colt, Burgess & Co., London, Longman, etc., Paris, Galignani, 1839.

The folding engraving of Mexican Paintings is 18 feet long, and being printed on tissue paper, is seldom found in perfect condition, and is frequently wanting altogether; it is, however, of little value. Of the 10 engravings, 4 are colored. The work is dedicated to Hon. Jacob Burnet, and the preface, 7 pages, is written by the Right Rev. C. P. McIlvaine, Bishop of Ohio.

That a work full of learned research, executed in a pure and pleasing style of language, should make its appearance, at the West, excited extreme wonder among the Eastern literati. Hear the "North American Review:"—"A quarto volume, from what when we studied geography, used to be known by the Instructive name of the 'territory northwest of the Ohio,' is something to attract attention, and when we open it and find it printed in a style which emulates the London press, and is seldom even attempted in America, we turn to the title page again, to see if we did not mistake its birth-place. That one of the community in that great pork-mart (Cincinnati) should write a work upon a subject requiring long study and deep thought, is to us a pleasing fact."

Of the relative merits of the work we are not capable of judging. The book is written to sustain the theory that the race of the Mounds came from Asia, and whatever may be the truth in regard to the originality of this doctrine, when we consider the nature and obscurity of the case, there can be but one opinion as to the merits of the researches of the author, gathering from the four quarters of the globe corroborative testimony of astonishing force. The work taken altogether, may be considered as an abstract of the heretofore scattered facts bearing upon that question. Wherever evidence is cited from any author, the writer has preferred to quote the very words, giving the requisite credit.

"Remarks on Delafield's Antiquities," will be found in Charles Whittlesey's Fugitive Essays.

DENNY (WILLIAM H.)

Military Journal of Major Ebenezer Denny, an Officer in the Revolutionary and Indian Wars. With an Introductory Memoir by William H. Denny. [322]

 Published in volume 7 of the publications of the Historical Society of Pennsylvania of which it forms pp. 204–498. It is illustrated by portraits of Denny and General Harmar, and 6 Plans including a view of the Maumee Towns destroyed by Gen. Harmar, and plan of Battle ground. This work forms a valuable addition to the details connected with Harmar's disastrous campaign, and St. Clair's defeat.

[DEPEYSTER (COL. ARENT SCHUYLER).]

Miscellanies; by an Officer.

DUMFRIES: Printed at the Dumfries and Galloway Courier Office, by C. Munro, 1813. [323]

Vol. 1, 4*to. pp.* 277.

 Vol. 1 was all ever published.

Col. DePeyster was a Canadian by birth; he commanded the British forces at Detroit and Niagara in 1776–1785, and gallantly defended Detroit against the united efforts of the French and Americans. Pages 15–228 of the work consists of Poems, which are principally descriptive of the habits of the Indians, and the scenes in which the author participated when in America. The Appendix pp. 232-277 consists of Addresses by the Author, Letters to and from the Indians, and Minutes of Councils; all of these relate to the Northwest Territory, and many directly to Ohio.

Col. DePeyster returned to Scotland, where he was Colonel of the Volunteers of Dumfries, in whose ranks Robert Burns the Poet was a private. A poem supposed to be the last written by the hand of Burns is entitled: "Poem on Life, Addressed to Colonel DePeyster, Dumfries 1796," which shows them to have been on intimate terms.

We can trace the existence of only three copies of this book, one of which is to the Hist. & Phil. Soc'y of Ohio, another in the possession of Lyman C. Draper, Esq., of Madison, Wisconsin.

DeSchweinitz (Edmund).

The Life and Times of David Zeisberger, The Western Pioneer and Apostle of the Indians. By Edmund De Schweinitz.

Philadelphia: J. B. Lippincott & Co., 1871. [324]

8vo. pp. 747.

 Another Life of Zeisberger was published in a small pamphlet of 71 pages printed at Bielefield in 1849, in the German language, and written by J. J. Heim, a clergyman of Switzerland; it is a creditable production, but full of errors in all points relating to Indian History. There was also a pamphlet issued in London in 1822, which is a compilation from Heckewelder and Loskiel. The name of Zeisberger has remained comparatively unknown, although he deserves a most prominent place in history; in Loskiel's and Heckewelder's Histories of the Moravian Mission among the Indians, he is a leading character, and much may be learned from these volumes concerning his labors.

Mr. DeSchweinitz's narrative goes minutely into details, and is very exhaustive; it is most valuable, not merely to the general reader, but for the student of Moravian History among the Indians; and as furnishing a book of reference on the subject. It contains a complete Index, and a Geographical Glossary of the Indian towns, early settlements, forts, rivers and creeks, which are mentioned in the work, and which can not readily be found on modern maps.

Zeisberger did more than any other man of his century to develop the Delaware language; unfortunately, however, the most important of his works, from a philological point of view, remain in manuscript. His diary, as kept day by day during his life, is in the possession of the Ohio Historical and Philosophical Society at Cincinnati, and when published will be a most valuable acquisition to Western History. Zeisberger died at Franklin, Summit county, Ohio, in 1808, aged 87 years. See also under Zeisberger.

Notes on the Settlement and Indian Wars of the Western Parts of Virginia and Pennsylvania, from the year 1763 until the year 1783 inclusive. Together with a View of the State of society and manners of the first settlers of the Western Country. By the Rev. Dr. Jos. Doddridge.

WELLSBURGH, VA.: Printed at the Office of the Gazette for the Author, 1824. [331]

16mo. pp. v—316.

 This work is the production of a gentleman, who was reared in the wilderness, and was intimately acquainted with the whole subject on which he writes; it is drawn from original sources, and almost entirely from personal observation. Brought up in the wilderness, the inmate of a cabin, Dr. Doddridge spent his whole life in the midst of those dangers and vicissitudes which made up the life of the borderer, and he has detailed a variety of minute circumstances, which render the book exceedingly valuable.

It is one of the original authorities, and although erroneous in some respects, we have every reason to believe is in the main correct; and scarcely a subsequent production relating to Indian Wars, can be picked up, that does not give extracts, or make assertions based on "Doddridge's Notes," and most frequently without acknowledgment of the source from which their valuable item is taken. This work and "Wither's Chronicles," a work of like character and equal merit, have long been considered of primary importance in collections of books relating to America, and especially to those relating to the Ohio Valley; this constant demand has rendered them very scarce, and only to be had at a high figure.

Doddridge's notes is reprinted almost entire in "Kercheval's History of the Valley," in which reprint however, Brantz Meyer says, "some liberties have been taken by way of transposition." From an old newspaper clipping we learn that in the infancy of the Protestant Episcopal Church, Dr. Doddridge cheerfully gave his services in its behalf, but in 1820, he announced his intention of resuming the medical profession as the means of acquiring a competency for his approaching age. An interesting biographical sketch of Dr. Doddridge, will be found in "Jacob's Life of Patrick Gass," pp. 254–257.

Dr. Doddridge also published: An Oration delivered before the Masonic Society of Wellsburgh and its Vicinity, June 24, 1817. Wellsburgh, Virginia: 1817, 12mo. pp. 21. A Treatise on the Culture of Bees. St. Clairsville, Ohio: 1813. 8vo. pp. 32. An Address on Female Education, delivered in Zanesville, March 24, 1825. Zanesville, Ohio, 1825.

DRAKE (BENJAMIN).

Tales and Sketches of the Queen City. By Benjamin Drake, author of the "Life and Adventures of Black Hawk." CINCINNATI: E. Morgan & Co. 1839. [343]

12*mo. pp.* 180.

 Contains thirteen articles, as follows:—The Queen City; The Novice of Cahokia; Putting a Blackleg on Shore; The Baptism; The Yankee Colporteen; The grave of Rosalie; The burial by moonlight; A Kentucky Election; Visit to the Blue Licks; Trying on a Shoe; The Battle of Brindle and the Buckeyes; The Buried Canoe, and The Flag-Bearer. Several of these were previously published in the "Hesperian" and other periodicals. It is a volume of cheerfully and tastefully written fictions and sketches of life and manners in the West. The book is now scarce.

DRAKE (DANIEL).

Notices concerning Cincinnati. By Daniel Drake. CINCINNATI: Printed for the author, at the Press of John W. Browne & Co. 1810. [345]

8*vo. pp.* 60+Appendix pp. iv.

 Without doubt the rarest work relating to Cincinnati; I can trace the existence of but three copies. The author printed a small number for presents to his friends. It was issued in two parts; the first 28 pages were published about May, 1810, and the remainder about August of the same year.

The work is divided into five divisions, as follows: I, Topography; II, Geology; III, Climate; IV, Condition of the Town; V, Diseases. The Appendix gives: I, Columbo Root; II, New Diseases. As will be seen, the work relates almost entirely to the Topography, Climate and Diseases of Cincinnati, and contains very little matter concerning its history. It is generally supposed that the matter contained in "Notices Concerning Cincinnati," was incorporated by Mr. Drake in his "Picture of Cincinnati," published in 1815, and that the latter was an enlargement of the former; this is erroneous, as the matter contained in the two works is entirely different. I cannot trace the sale of a single copy.

DRAKE (DANIEL).

Natural and Statistical View, or Picture of Cincinnati and the Miami Country. Illustrated by Maps. With an Appendix, containing observations on the late Earthquakes, the Aurora Borealis and South-west Wind. By Daniel Drake.

CINCINNATI: Printed by Looker and Wallace, 1815. [346]

12*mo. pp. Preface* ix+Corrections pp. i, unnumbered,+Contents pp. i, unnumbered—251+Index, 2 leaves, unnumbered, and 2 Maps.

 Often erroneously catalogued as the first book printed in Cincinnati.

The work is divided into seven sections: I, Geographical and Historical Introduction; II, Physical Topography; III, Civil Topography; IV, Political Topography; V, Medical Topography; VI, Antiquities; VII, Conclusion. The work is almost entirely original, and has been drawn upon largely by all subsequent writers on the subject. The portion relating to the Natural History and Antiquities of the Miami Country, still remains the best account we have of them. Facing the title is an excellent map of Cincinnati in 1815, and at page 34 is a map of the Miami Country compiled from the best authorities of the period. This work is now scarce, although a comparatively large number were printed.

DRAKE (DANIEL).

Geological Account of the Valley of the Ohio: In a Letter from Daniel Drake M. D. to Joseph Correa de Serra. Read 7th Nov. 1818. [See Transactions of the American Philosophical Society, Vol. 11 New Series, page 124.]

[347]

 A curious paper, not only for its facts, but for the ingenious speculations of the author in attempting to account for certain geological phenomena in the Western Country. His paper is accompanied with a profile of the Valley of the Ohio, running traversely across the river at Cincinnati, and indicating the alluvial formations on each bank of the river at that place.

DRAKE (DANIEL).

A Narrative of the Rise and Fall of the Medical College of Ohio. By Daniel Drake M. D. Late President of the Institution.

CINCINNATI, OHIO: Looker & Reynolds, Printers, 1822. [349]

16*mo. pp.* 42.

 In 1822, Dr. Drake, at that time President of the Ohio Medical College, was, by the intrigues of his colleagues, regularly expelled from that institution, which he had himself created; they effected their purpose by the power of appointment given in the charter to the professors. This act shocked the public mind, and called forth the above work. It is written with force and point, but is wholly controversial.

EVANS (ESTWICK).

Pedestrious Tour of Four Thousand Miles through the Western States and Territories, during the Winter and Spring of 1818. Interspersed with brief reflections upon a great variety of topics, Religious, Moral, Political, Sentimental &c, &c. By Estwick Evans.

CONCORD N. H.: Printed by Joseph C. Spear 1819. [382]

12mo. pp. 256, and Frontispiece, (author in hunting-suit.)

 The author passed along the Southern shore of Lake Erie, suffering many hardships in consequence of the severe winter; his remarks on the various historic points of interest through which he passed, show him to have been well informed, and a man of some culture. He returned from Detroit through Lake Erie, stopping at Put-in-Bay, then an uninhabited island, where (pages 138–9) he speaks of exploring a cave of some magnitude, which is no doubt the same one that offers attractions to the visitor of that resort at the present day.

From Pittsburg he passed down the Ohio and Mississippi to New Orleans. The author was evidently a philosopher, but his prophesy (pages 175–6) that Cincinnati and Marietta would eventually be ruined by the encroachment of the Ohio has not yet come to pass.

EVANS (JONATHAN).

A Journal of the Life, Travels, and Religious Labours of William Savery, late of Philadelphia, a minister of the gospel of Christ, in the Society of Friends; compiled from his original memorandum. By Jonathan Evans.

LONDON: 1844. [383]

12*mo. pp.* vii+316.

 William Savery in 1793 was, in conjunction with John Heckewelder, and the agents of the government, and by the desire of General Washington, sent on a mission to the Indians of Ohio on the occasion of the meeting of a grand council at Sandusky. He kept a daily journal of his tour and of the incidents of his intercourse with the Indians, which occupies pp. 13 to 105 of this volume. It forms a narrative of more than ordinary interest and adds to our store of historical material of that period.

 An autobiographical sketch written in 1869 occupies pp. 5–16, followed by a Biographical Sketch by Hon. Henry Stanbery, then follows the Proceedings of the Bar, and Reminiscences from the newspapers of the day.

Thomas Ewing was born near West Liberty, Virginia, December 28, 1789, and with his father settled in the wilds of Ohio in 1792. He studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1816. Was Secretary of the Treasury under Harrison in 1841, Secretary of the Interior under Taylor in 1849, and U. S. Senator in 1850–1. He died at Lancaster, Ohio, October 26, 1871. Mr. Ewing's celebrity as a lawyer and speaker, equal his repuation as a statesman.

FEARON (HENRY BRADSHAW)

Sketches of America. A Narrative of a Journey of Five Thousand Miles through the Eastern and Western States of America; contained in eight reports addressed to the thirty-nine English Families by whom the Author was deputed, in June 1817 to ascertain whether any, and what part of the United States would be suitable for their residence. With remarks on Mr. Birkbecks "Notes" and "Letters." By Henry Bradshaw Fearon.

LONDON: Printed for Longman, Hurst, Rees, Orme and Brown 1818. [406]

8vo. pp. xii—462.

 First Edition, 1818, Second Edition, 1818, Third Edition, 1819; pages 216–237 are devoted to Ohio—but facts are represented in as unfavorable a light as possible.

A protest against the authenticity of Fearon, was uttered by Sydney Smith, who wrote, as his critical opinion, that "Mr. Fearon is a much abler writer than either Palmer or Bradbury, but no lover of America, and a little given to exaggerate his views of vices and prejudices," which estimate was confirmed by the London Review, which declared that the "tone of ill-temper which this author usually manifests, in speaking of the American character, has gained for his work the approbation of persons who regard that country with peculiar jealousy."

FINLEY (ISAAC J.) AND PUTNAM (RUFUS).

Pioneer Record and Reminiscences of the Early Settlers and settlement of Ross County, Ohio. By Isaac J. Finley and Rufus Putman.

CINCINNATI: Printed for the Authors, by Robert Clarke & Co. 1871. [408]

8vo. pp. 148.

 An unpretending record of early life in Ross county (which includes Chillicothe, the first capitol of this State); each township is treated separately, with list of the early settlers, and sketches of the lives of the most prominent among them. Ancient works, natural curiosities, churches, schools and the material improvements generally, are noticed in detail.

FINLEY (JAMES B.)

History of the Wyandott Mission, at Upper Sandusky, Ohio, under the direction of the Methodist Episcopal Church. By Rev. James B. Finley.

CINCINNATI: Published by J. F. Wright, 1840. [409]

12*mo. pp.* 432.

 The Wyandot mission was the first established by the Methodist Episcopal Church on our frontier, for the benefit of the Indians; the narrative bears strong evidence of its being a faithful record of the incidents which transpired within the knowledge of the author. He commenced his connection with the Wyandots as a missionary in 1819, and remained among them eight years. Five years before, an uneducated mulatto, John Stewart [See Mitchel (Joseph)] who, inspired by a sense of religious duty, had wandered from place to place in search of some people who were without religious instruction, arrived at one of the Wyandot villages; for five years this African apostle struggled alone, until the Methodist authorities recognized his labors.

The first chapter of the work is devoted to the author's belief, that the Ten Israelitish tribes are the ancestors of the American Indians. Chapter second gives the peculiar habits, customs and traditions of the Wyandots. Chapter third gives an account of the introduction of the Gospel among the Wyandots by the African missionary, Stewart. The rest of the volume is occupied by the personal experience of the author while resident with the tribe.

For "An Historical Sketch of the Tionontates or Dinoudadies, now called Wyandots," see the Historical Magazine, vol. 5, page 262.

FINLEY (JAMES B).

Sketches of Western Methodism: Biographical, Historical and Miscellaneous. Illustrative of Pioneer Life. By James B. Finley. Edited by W. P. Strickland, D. D.

CINCINNATI: Methodist Book Concern, 1854. [410]

12*mo. pp.* 551 and Portrait.

 The history of Methodism in the Western Country, was, until the publication of this work, an unwritten history; with the exception of a few biographies and historical sketches, and a few detached and scattered fragments, gleaned from time to time by historical societies, from the pioneers themselves, but little had been made a matter of permanent record.

The work relates almost entirely to Ohio, and consists mainly of biographical and autobiographical sketches; it is written in the entertaining style characteristic of the author, and to those interested in the memorials of the past connected with the lives of the early itinerant preachers, and collateral incidents in the history of the West, cannot fail to be of the greatest interest.

Priced, Cin'ti, 1877, $2.00.

FINLEY (JAMES B).

Life among the Indians; or, Personal Reminiscences and Historical Incidents illustrative of Indian Life and Character. By Rev. James B. Finley. Edited by Rev. D. W. Clark, D. D.

CINCINNATI: Printed at the Methodist Book Concern, for the Author, 1857. [411]

12*mo. pp.* 548 and 2 Portraits.

 Another edition, Cincinnati: 1860.

No living man, probably saw or knew more of the Indians in the Northwest Territory than did Mr. Finley; during seventy years he was among them, and studied their history, character and manner of life. In this work he has gathered together the numerous interesting events, that, in his long experience and observation, were thought worthy of record; and has so connected the facts, as to give a very complete, though condensed view of Indian history in the Northwest. The first half of the work contains a large portion of the matter related in the History of the Wyandots, and Autobiography, by the same author.

Besides the above named, Finley also wrote: Memorials of Prison Life. Edited by Rev. B. F. Teft, Cincinnati: L. Swormstedt, 1860. 12mo. pp. 354 and 2 plates.

FINLEY (JAMES B.)

Autobiography of Rev. James B. Finley: or, Pioneer Life in the West. Edited by W. P. Strickland, D. D.

12*mo. pp.* 455+3 Portraits and 5 Plates.

 Mr. Finley was born in North Carolina, 1781, died at Eaton, Ohio, 1857. He entered the Ohio M. E. conference in 1809; was missionary to the Wyandot Indians from 1821 to 1827; Chaplain of the Ohio Penitentiary in 1845-9, and subsequently connected with the Methodist Church in Cincinnati. In this volume, the author recounts the principal events of his itinerant life, including, also, many of the tragical events of border warfare as narrated to him by the survivors. The three portraits are of the Author, and the converted Wyandot Chiefs, Ma-nuncue and Between-the-Logs; the plates are wood engravings of wild animals found in the forest.

8vo. pp. 53.

 This is in reality a sketch of the life of Judge Burnet, and was delivered the month succeeding his death.

[FLAGG (EDMUND T.)]

The Far West: or, A Tour beyond the Mountains. Embracing outlines of Western Life and Scenery; Sketches of the Prairies, Rivers, Ancient Mounds, Early Settlements of the French, etc. etc. In two volumes.

NEW YORK: Published by Harper & Brothers, 1838. [419]

2 vols. 12*mo. pp.* xvi, 263. xi 241.

 This work was published anonymously. The sketches had previously (in 1836) been published in the "Louisville Journal," under the title "Sketches of a Traveller." The author was in 1842, editor of the "Marietta Gazette." These volumes convey interesting information of personal experiences, and examinations of the ancient fortifications of the Western States.

Rich erroneously says this work was by Flint, and in many modern catalogues the author is given as [Flint (E.)] Sabin's Dictionary erroneously gives the name as Edward, instead of Edmund T.

FLINT (TIMOTHY).

Recollections of the Last Ten Years, passed in occasional Residences and Journeyings in the Valley of the Mississippi, from Pittsburg and the Missouri, to the Gulf of Mexico, and from Florida to the Spanish Frontier; in a Series of Letters to the Rev. James Flint, of Salem, Massachusetts. By Timothy Flint, Principal of the Seminary of Rapide, Louisiana.

BOSTON: Cummings, Hilliard and Co. 1826. [421]

8vo. pp. 395.

 Some copies bear the date 1831. Letters v–xi, contain an account of the author's voyage down the Ohio. Letter viii relates entirely to Cincinnati.

In 1815 the Rev. Timothy Flint became a Missionary for the Mississippi Valley, and in the discharge of his itinerant duties, acquired that extensive knowledge of the country which we find displayed in his "Recollections" and "Geography and History of the Mississippi Valley." He was a farmer, and teacher in Cincinnati for several years, where in 1827–30 he edited the "Western Monthly Review."

"With obvious faults, Mr. Flint's style is marked by countervailing excellencies, being lively, flowing, often vigorous, and in general, quite unaffected; but this is a secondary merit. These pages reflect a sincere, humane, and liberal character, a warm and gentle heart, and hardly even a prejudice that is not amiable."—Lon. Quar. Rev., XLVIII, 201.

FLINT (TIMOTHY).

A Condensed Geography and History of the Western States, or the Mississipi Valley. By Timothy Flint, author of "Recollections of the Last Ten years in the Mississippi Valley."

CINCINNATI: Published by E. H. Flint 1828. [422]

2 vols. 8*vo.* vol. 1, pp. 592, vol. 2, pp. 520.

This work contains a Historical, Geographical and Statistical account of the Valley of the Mississippi, first in General, and then of the various separate States within its limits. Ohio is included within pages 393–427. It was the first work of the kind published, and much of the matter is original. It gives a general knowledge, and a comprehensive view of everything connected with the Western Country, conveniently arranged, and which would cost the most industrious reader infinite pains and much time to collect from other sources. Reviewed in "American Quarterly Review," vol. 5, page 343, also in "N. Am. Rev."

FLINT (TIMOTHY).

Indian Wars of the West; containing Biographical Sketches of those Pioneers who headed the Western Settlers in repelling the Attacks of the Savages, Together with a View of the Character, Manners, Monuments and Antiquities of the Western Indians. By Timothy Flint.

CINCINNATI: Published by E. H. Flint, 1833. [425]

16*mo. pp.* 240.

 A work of considerable reputation, and containing much original matter. The subjects are classified by States:—Chapter ix. pp. 133–159, Settlement of Ohio; Chapter xi, Incidents of the War of 1812 in the West. This work is exceedingly rich in the materials of history, but unfortunately they are so commingled and without system, as to detract much from its value.

Stevens in his "Bibliotheca Historica," quotes an edition, Cincinnati: 1830, which is an error.

Wight, 1864, $2.25; Hubbard, 1867, $3.10; Boon, 1870, $2.25; Field, 1875, $2.00; Wiggin, 1876, mor., $3.75; Priced, Cin'ti, 1878, $3.00.

Timothy Flint also wrote the following:—Biographical Memoir of Daniel Boone. Cincinnati: 1833, and frequently reprinted—Francis Berrian, or the Mexican Patriot. Boston: Cummings, Hilliard & Company, 1826, 2 vols. 12mo. pp. 299–285—George Mason, the young Backwoodsman [Anonymous]. Boston: 1829, 12mo. pp. 167—Lectures upon Natural History. Boston: 1833, 12mo.—Life and Adventures of Arthur Clenning. Philadelphia: Towar & Hogan, 1828, 2 vols. 12mo. pp. 236–175—The Shoshonee Valley; A Romance. Cincinnati: 1830, 2 vols. 12mo.—Life and Exploits of Daniel Boone. Cincinnati: 1851.

FORCE (MANNING F.)

Pre-Historic Man. Darwinism and Deity. The Mound Builders.

CINCINNATI: Robert Clarke & Co. 1860. [429]

8vo. pp. 85+Errata, 1 page.

 These papers were read by Mr. Force, before the Cincinnati Literary Club in 1868, 1872 and 1873. The third occupying pp. 50–85, is entitled "Some Considerations on the Mound Builders," and relates principally to the Ohio Valley. It is a judicious and interesting narrative in a consecutive form of all that has yet been discovered, relative to this interesting subject. The author, Judge Force, is the son of the late Peter Force, of Washington City, the compiler of the "American Archives."

FORCE (MANNING F.)

Some Early Notices of the Indians of Ohio. To what race did the mound builders belong?

CINCINNATI: Robert Clarke & Co. 1879. [430]

8vo. pp. 75.

 Two papers; the first relates to authentic information still existing, as to the early history of the Eries and Shawnees; the second offers evidence that the mound builders were flourishing about a thousand years ago, and were tribes of American Indians of the same race with tribes now living.

8vo. pp. 608, Engraved Title.

 Another edition Auburn: 1856. Another, New York: 1859.

Pages 369–427, recite the oft-told tales of the Border Wars of Ohio. The author has had free recourse to the local histories of the able writers, among them, Hildreth, Perkins, McClung, Drake and others, who have written on the subject. The host of engravings that illustrate the book, seem to have been executed by the aboriginals themselves. This is one of a numerous class of fictitious works of little merit, which aimed to attract attention, by assuming a title giving an air of veracity to the narratives.

2 vols. 12*mo. vol.* 1. pp. 408+5 Maps and Frontispiece; vol. 2. pp. 428+Frontispiece, 2 Maps and Folding Table.

 Trier is the city of Treves on the Moselle in Germany. The author was a merchant of Treves, and emigrant commissary on the lower Rhine; he encouraged emigration to the Virginia Military Lands in Ohio. In 1819-20 Gall came to Ohio to examine the state of the country for emigration; he lived for some time in Cincinnati, and on his return to Germany, published this work in which he strongly opposes emigration, and pictures the people and country in the darkest colors possible.

In this work will be found a brief history of Cincinnati, the Miami Country, and the early settlements in Ohio; also a map of Cincinnati, and of the Miami country, which are reproductions of those contained in "Drake's Picture of Cincinnati."

Review will be found in N. A. Rev. xvii, p. 91.

GALLAGHER (WILLIAM D.)

Facts and Conditions of Progress of the North-west. Being the Annual Discourse for 1850, before the Historical and Philosophical Society of Ohio; delivered April 8, the Sixty-third Anniversary of the First settlement of the State. By William D. GARRARD (LEWIS H.)
Memoir of Charlotte Chambers. By Her Grandson, Lewis H. Garrard.
PHILADELPHIA: Printed for the Author, 1856. [440]
8*vo. pp.* lx.+135.

 Privately printed and scarce. The brief title conveys no idea of the great historical value of this book to the Ohio historian; the portion connected with our subject, is pp. 18–130, which consists of letters written by Mrs. Chambers, while living near Cincinnati, from 1797 to 1821. These relate mainly to the Early settlement of Cincinnati, and the Northwest Territory, and also give an account of the Ludlow Family, including a narrative of Israel Ludlow's connection with Mathias Denman and Robert Patterson in the proprietorship of the land on which Cincinnati now stands.

Priced, N. Y., 1878, $5.00.

GARRETTSVILLE. Local School History of the Garrettsville Union Schools. Portage County, Ohio. [441]

GATCH (REV. PHILIP.)

Sketch of Rev. Philip Gatch, Prepared by Hon. John M'Lean, LL. D. Judge of the Supreme Court of the United States.

CINCINNATI: Published by Swormstedt & Poe, 1854. [442]

16mo. pp. 190.

 Philip Gatch was one of the earliest Methodist preachers in this country, and was intimately connected with the growth of Methodism in Ohio. He removed from Virginia in 1798, and settled on the Little Miami river, near Newtown, Ohio, doing active service for the Church until his death. "As an Associate Judge of Clermont county, Mr. Gatch sat twenty-two years on the bench of the Court of Common Pleas, and discharged the important duties of his office in such manner as to secure the confidence of every one."

The Journal of Mr. Gatch was substantially copied from his own manuscripts, with but a few alterations in the phraseology, and to those who feel an interest in the rise of Methodism in this State, the sketch can not fail to be interesting and instructive.

GATES (N. B.)

History of the Elyria Schools, from the settlement of the Village, to January 1st, 1876. [443]

GILLELAND (J. C.)

The Ohio and Mississippi Pilot, consisting of a set of Charts of those Rivers, representing their Channels, Islands, Ripples, Rapids, Shoals, Bars, Rocks &c, accompanied with directions for the use of Navigators. To which is added a Geography of the States and Territories West and South of the Alleghany Mountains. By J. C. Gilleland.

PITTSBURGH: Published R. Patterson and Lambdin, Butler and Lambdin, Printers, 1820. [447]

16*mo. pp.* xii—274.

 This work is mostly founded on the Navigator. See [Cramer (Zadock)].

Notwithstanding the statement in the title, the author has failed to give the charts of the Mississippi, but ends at the mouth of the Ohio. These charts are printed on the reverse side of the text. The "Geography" is included in pp. 50–174 and has the following separate title:—"Geography of the States and Territories West and South of the Allegheny Mountains. Accompanied with advice to emigrants upon the subject of land titles, purchases, the indications of good and bad soils, the unhealthiness of particular situations, precautions to be avoided while traveling, etc." Ohio is treated of on pp. 73–98. The book is not common.

GIST (CHRISTOPHER).

A Journal of Cristopher Gists Journey, began from Col. Cresap's at the old town on Potomack river Maryland, October 31, 1750, continued down the Ohio, within 15 miles of the Falls thereof; and from thence to Roanoke river in North Carolina, where he arrived May 19, 1751; undertaken on the account of the Ohio Company and by the instructions of their committee. [Published in Pownall's Topographical Description of North America, Appendix, pages, 7–16]. [449]

 Gist's First Journey. It has never been republished.

Gist explored the Great Miami river upwards of a hundred miles, and recommended a suitable locality for a trading station in the neighborhood of the Piankashaws, a tribe of the Twigtwees or Miami Indians, whose hunting grounds were in the adjacent region, on what is now called Loramie's Creek, 47 miles North of Dayton, Ohio.

GIST (CHRISTOPHER).

Journal of Mr. Christopher Gist, who accompanied Major George Washington in his first visit to the French Commander of the Troops on the Ohio in 1753. [See Collections of the Massachusetts Historical Society, Third Series, Vol. 5, page 101]. [450]

 Washington's Journal of the same tour is published separately, and may also be found in Marshall's Life of Washington, and in Spark's Washington, vol. II, page 432; Gist is mentioned repeatedly in this volume and is differently styled "Mr. Christopher Gist" and "Captain Gist."

HALL (FREDERICK).

Letters from the East and from the West. By Frederick Hall, M. D. Formerly Prof. Math. and Nat. Phil. in Middlebury College Vt.

WASHINGTON CITY: Published by F. Taylor and Wm. M. Morrison. [1840]. [476]

8*vo. pp.* xi+168.

 This book relates largely to Ohio. The first section consists of "Letters from the Valley of the Connecticut river," pp. 1–37. Pages 59–121, consist of Letters from Ohio, describing the cities through which the writer passed. The study of the geological features and mineral resources of the country seem to have been the leading object of the tour.

HALL (HARVEY).

The Cincinnati Directory for 1825, containing the Names of its Citizens, their Occupations, Places of Residence, and Places of Nativity; Alphabetically Arranged, With a Variety of other matter. Illustrated by a copperplate engraving of the plan of the City. By Harvey Hall.

16*mo. pp.* 137 and Map.

 The second of the Cincinnati Directories, and the scarcest of them all; a small number only seem to have been printed. It is curious and interesting, inasmuch as the nativity of each person is given. The Appendix contains a Chronological Table, of the most important and interesting events of the Western States, since their discovery.

Usually priced at $6.00 to $10.00.

HALL (JAMES).

Letters from the West; containing sketches of Scenery Manners and Customs; and Anecdotes connected with the First Settlements of the Western Sections of the United States. By the Hon. Judge Hall.

LONDON: Henry Colburn, New Burlington Street, 1828. [478]

8*vo. pp.* iv—385.

 Another edition; same imprint, 1830.

Originally published in the Philadelphia Port-Folio, edited by the author's brother, Mr. John E. Hall. They were published in London in the above collected form, without the author's concurrence. Like all the writings of this gentleman, these letters are unusually interesting.

For full particulars respecting Judge Hall's useful and laborious life, we refer to "Griswold's Prose Writers of America," and to "Duyckinck's Cyclopædia of American Literature." The North American Review No. XCII contains a severe and unjust criticism of his works. In our estimation he has been most active in calling the attention of the world to this western country, and to command, not only admiration for its boundless resources, but respect for the intellectual and moral life of the early settlers. Judge Hall died at his residence near Loveland, Ohio, July 5, 1868. The West owes him a monument and should do justice to his memory.

It is our intention to give as nearly as possible a complete list of the works by this author. Besides those here enumerated he also published in connection with Thomas L. McKenney, a "History of the Indian Tribes," illustrated with 120 portraits from the Indian Gallery at Washington, and published in 3 volumes, folio, at $120 per set. In this work the letter-press was written entirely by Judge Hall.

Hubbard, 1868, $3.60; Priced, Cin'ti, 1878, $3.00.

HALL (JAMES).

The Western Souvenir, a Christmas and New Years Gift for 1829. Edited by James Hall.

CINCINNATI: Published by N. & G. Guilford [1829]. [479]

16*mo. pp.* 324, and 7 Plates.

 This is the first Annual published in the Western States.

The work was edited by James Hall, and most of the tales written by him; many have since appeared in his other works. Among the original contributions are:—"Ohio," by N. Guilford; "Oolemba in Cincinnati," by Timothy Flint, and the "Shawanoe Warrior" by James Hall.

Priced, Cin'ti, 1879, $8.00.

[HALL (JAMES).]

Winter Evenings. A Series of American Tales.

PHILADELPHIA: Thos. T. Ash, 129 Chestnut St. 1829. [480]

18*mo. pp.* 263.

 These tales, though published anonymously, were all written by Judge Hall, and are the same afterwards published under separate titles.

HALL (JAMES).

Legends of the West, By James Hall.

PHILADELPHIA: Published by Harrison Hall, 133 Chestnut St. 1832. [481]

16*mo. pp.* 265.

 This is the first edition. Second edition, 16mo. pp. 267. Philadelphia: Key & Biddle, 23 Minor street, 1833. Third edition, 12mo. pp. 435. New York: G. P. Putnam & Co., 10 Park Place, 1853. Also published from the same plates by Applegate & Co. Cincinnati: 1857, and again from the same plates by Robert Clarke & Co. Cincinnati: 1871.

These Legends are entirely fictitious, but are founded upon incidents which were witnessed by the author during his long residence in the West, or upon traditions preserved by the people. The following are the titles:—Harpe's Head—The Backwoodsman—The Divining Rod—The Seventh Son—The Missionaries—A Legend of Carondelet—The Intestate—Michel de Coucy—The Emigrants—The Barrack-master's Daughter.

Hubbard, 1867 (1853, Ed.) $2.10; Priced, Cin'ti, 1878, $2.00.

HALL (JAMES).

The Soldier's Bride and other Tales, By James Hall.

PHILADELPHIA: Key and Biddle, No. 9 Minor St. 1833. [482]

16*mo. pp.* 272.

HALL (JAMES).

An Address delivered before the Erodelphian Society of Miami University on the 24th. Sept, 1833, at their Eighth Annual Celebration.

CINCINNATI: Published by Corey and Fairbank, 1833. [483]

8*vo pp.* 32.

HALL (JAMES).

The Harpe's Head; a Legend of Kentucky. By James Hall.

PHILADELPHIA: Key and Biddle, No. 6 Minor St. 1833. [484]

16*mo. pp.* 256.

 Also published in "Legends of the West." Two of the characters introduced are historical. Their deeds are still freshly remembered by many of the early settlers of Kentucky. It was the intention of the writer in this, as in the other fictions published under his name, to draw from nature; he invented little, but professes simply to connect together the traditions of a region in which he long resided.

Also reprinted in London 1834, under the title of "Kentucky—a Tale."

HALL (JAMES).

Tales of the Border, By James Hall, Author of "Legends of the West" &c, &c.

PHILADELPHIA: Harrison Hall, No. 47 South Third Street, 1834. [485]

12*mo. pp.* 276.

 A second edition 1835. Ludewig erroneously gives the date as 1832. Most of the tales were previously published in periodicals but some are here presented together for the first time. They comprise:—The Pioneer—The French Village—The Spy—The Capuchin—The Silver Mine—The Dark Maid of Illinois—and the New Moon.

HARBISON (MASSY).

A Narrative of the sufferings of Massy Harbison from Indian Barbarity. Giving an account of her Captivity, the murder of her two children, her escape, with an Infant at her breast; together with some account of the cruelties of the Indians on the Allegheny River &c. during the years 1790, '91, '92, '93, '94, Communicated by Herself. PITTSBURGH: Printed by S. Engles, 1825. [502]

16mo. pp. 66.

 Some copies have the date 1828.

Notwithstanding the singular and almost incredulous nature of the above narrative, it is considered truthful by good authorities. The editor of the work whose initials (J. W.) will be found at the end of the Preface, was John Winter a citizen of Zelinople, Pennsylvania. Pages 13–25 give an account of "St. Clair's Defeat."

Fisher, 1866, calf. (1828) $3.50; Smith, 1867, $3.75; Field, 1875, hf. mor., $6.00; Menzies, 1876, calf, ex., $4.75.

HARRISON (WILLIAM HENRY).

A Discourse on the Aborigines of the Valley of the Ohio. In which the opinions of the Conquest of that Valley by the Iroquis or Six Nations in the Seventeenth Century, supported by Cadwallader Colden, of New York, Governor Pownal, of Massachusetts, Dr. Franklin, the Hon. DeWitt Clinton of New York and Judge Haywood of Tennessee, are examined and—contested. To which are prefixed some remarks on the Study of History, [Prepared at the request of the Historical Society of Ohio.] By Wm. Henry Harrison, of North Bend.

8*vo. pp.* 51 and Plate.

 Reprinted in Boston, 8vo. pp. 47, 1840. Also reprinted entire in the Transactions of the Historial and Philosophical Society of Ohio, vol. 1, part second, pp. 217–259. Three interesting topics are brought forward and discussed in this able and valuable discourse, viz: The Origin of the Tumuli and other Aboriginal Remains in the West.—The History and Character of the Indian Tribes who were the immediate predecessors of the Anglo-Americans, in the occupancy of the Valley of the Ohio.—And the right of the Six Nations to the extent of territory which has been claimed for them, by their several historians. Each of these topics is considered at some length, and all are presented and discussed in a clear, forcible and interesting manner. Copious extracts from the work will be found in the "Hesperian," vol. 1, page 387.

For a critical review of this work see North Amer. Review, vol. 51, page 46.

HART (ADOLPHUS M.)

History of the Valley of the Mississippi. By Adolphus M. Hart.

CINCINNATI: Moore, Anderson, Wilstach and Keys, 1853. [518]

12mo. pp. 286.

 A careful compilation of much valuable information concerning the discovery and colonization of the Mississippi Valley. pp. 173–202 give a brief outline of the main events in the History of Ohio, particularly the wars with the Indians from 1775 to 1780.

[HART (C. W.)]

Essay on Industry, and Biographical Sketches of Theopholus Radclipp and Emma Jones. By a Member of the Bar.

STEUBENVILLE: Printed by James Wilson 1835. [519]

16*mo. pp.* 60.

 The "Biography" gives an account of how Theopholus who lived near Steubenville was seduced from home; his subsequent career in Louisville, where he became a successful merchant; and his imprisonment in New Orleans on the false charge of embezzlement; his innocence is proved and he returned to Pittsburgh where he is united in marriage to his first love—Emma Jones.

[HART (WILLIAM).]

An Appeal to the People: or an Exposition of the Official Conduct of Return Johnathan Meigs, Governor of the State of Ohio; Relative to the disbanding of a Light Infantry Company in the County of Washington, the cashiering of Major William Hart of said county, &c. &c.

Printed for the People, 1812. [520]

12*mo. pp.* 94.

 A scarce work. I have never seen but two copies. It relates entirely to the controversy between the militia companies in Washington County, Ohio.

Priced, Cin'ti, 1878, hf. cf. $4.50.

HARTLEY (Cecil B.)

Life and Adventures of Lewis Wetzel, the Virginia Ranger; to which are added Biographical Sketches of General Simon Kenton, Gen. Benjamin Logan, Captain Samuel Brady, Gov. Isaac Shelby, and other Heroes of the West. By Cecil B. Hartley. Illustrated with engravings from original designs, by G. G. White.

PHILADELPHIA: Published by G. G. Evans, 1860. [521]

12*mo. pp.* 320 and 5 Plates.

 This is the only comprehensive life of Wetzel published; it is compiled principally from "DeHaas' Indian Wars," "Heckewelder's Narrative" and "Doddridge's Notes," and occupies pp. 13–109.

The remaining biographies besides those mentioned in the title are of Jesse Hughes, Elias Hughes, Isaac Williams, and Colonel Robert Patterson, all identified with the early history of Ohio, and the West. The book is out of print.

Priced, Cin'ti, 1878, $2 50.

HARVEY (HENRY).

History of the Shawnee Indians, from the year 1681 to 1854, inclusive. By Henry Harvey: member of the Religious Society of Friends.

CINCINNATI: Ephraim Morgan and Sons, 1855. [522]

16*mo. pp.* 316 and Portrait.

 One of the most valuable works to the students of Ohio and Indian History, and one of the most simple and truthful narratives ever written. The author is very earnest in the task he has undertaken, and a perusal of the work, cannot but leave upon the mind of the reader a feeling of attachment for this people, and of commiseration and lasting sympathy for the wrongs inflicted upon them by the English.

The author traces the history of the Shawnees as far back as 1681, and quotes from good authority. He says in his Preface: "Having for a number of years, been engaged to carry out the views of the Religious Society of Friends, in their endeavors to ameliorate the condition of the Shawnee tribe of Indians, by imparting to them a knowledge of letters and the domestic arts, etc., I have become very much attached to them, on account of a near intimacy with them, which enabled me to become acquainted with the character of this noted and very interesting people; and being connected with them too, at a time when one of those severe trials overtook them, of which the Indians so much complain, more bitterly by far than they do of the most desolating wars, by which they have been visited—which was the procuring from them their reservations of land at Wapaughkonnetta and Hog Creek, in the State of Ohio, containing near one thousand acres. I have been an eye-witness to most I have related in regard to this people, and in all my intercourse have ever found them a noble, generous hearted, honest and ever confiding people, patient under suffering, under a conviction of their weak and helpless condition."

For an account of the "Shawnees and their Migrations" by D. G. Brinton, See Historical Magazine, vol. 10, page 21.

[HASELTINE (F. J.)]

Zaleski: its Origin, Design and Progress. Descriptive and Prospective.

ZALESKI, O.: Published for Distribution. 1865. [523]

16*mo. pp.* 16.

 Zaleski, Vinton county, Ohio. A series of five letters, originally published in the Cincinnati Daily Gazette in 1865.

HASTINGS (SALLY).

Poems on Different Subjects. To which is added, a Descriptive Account of a Family Tour to the West; in the year 1800. in a Letter to a Lady. By Sally Hastings.

LANCASTER: Printed and Sold, by William Dickson, for the Benefit of the Authoress, 1808. [524]

16*mo. pp.* 220.

 This scarce little work, although of no intrinsic value, and hardly allied with our subject, is quite a curiosity in its way. The idea of a "Family Tour" to the West in 1800 seems rather novel at the present day; the letters, however, gives some interesting notes of the country around the head of the Ohio.

The Poems, 62 in number, are equally curious. The authoress was evidently of a religious turn of mind. We quote the following title as a specimen: "Ejaculation; written, during a cessation of pain from a cramp in the breast, July 5, 1807."

Priced, Cin'ti, 1875, $5.00.

HATCH (WILLIAM STANLEY).

A Chapter of the History of the War of 1812 in the North-West. Embracing the Surrender of the Northwestern Army and Fort, at Detroit, August 16, 1812; With a Descriptive and Biographical Sketch of the Celebrated Indian Chief Tecumseh. By Colonel William Stanley Hatch, Volunteer in the Cincinnati Light Infantry, and from the invasion of Canada to the surrender of the Army, Acting Assistant Quartermaster General of that Army.

CINCINNATI: Miami Printing and Publishing Company 1872. [525]

16mo. pp. 156.

 This unpretending little volume is quite an interesting addition to the history of the events referred to. It deals mainly with the operations of General Hull, and his surrender, and gives additional facts in regard to the character and death of Tecumseh.

Field, 1875, $3.00; Priced, Cin'ti, 1879, $1.25.

HAUGHTON (JOHN).

The Remains of the late Rev. Truman Bishop; to which is added a brief account of his life and labors, his last sickness and death. By John Haughton.

Looker and Reynolds, CINCINNATI: 1829. [526]

8vo. pp. 80.

 The reasons for his withdrawing from the high church Methodists are assigned, and a simple and affecting account of his birth, education, changes of plan after he became a minister; his labors, his sickness and death, and the 'affectionate remembrance of the just' that he left behind him, are here recorded.

HAUPT (HERMAN).

8vo. pp. 446 and Map and Plates.

HAWLEY (ULRICH).

Memoirs of Birmingham, Erie County, Ohio. [See Fire Lands Pioneer, Vol. 2.] [529]

HAWLEY (ZERAH).

A Journal of a Tour through Connecticut, Massachusetts, New York, the North part of Pennsylvania and Ohio. Including a year's residence in that part of the State of Ohio, styled New Connecticut, or Western Reserve. In which is given a description of the country, climate, soil, productions, animals, buildings, manners of the people, state of Society, population &c, From Actual and Careful observation. By Zerah Hawley. A. M.

NEW HAVEN: Printed by S. Converse, 1822. [530]

18*mo. pp.* 158.

 About the only merit this book possesses is, that it is very short. It bears internal evidence of having emanated from a mind equally uncultivated and vicious. The misrepresentations with which every page abounds, are outrageously absurd and improbable. The author's object was evidently to stop the tide of emigration, which was annually increasing the population and resources of Ohio. The book is uncommon, I have seen but few copies.

Priced, Cin'ti, 1878, hf. cf. $4 00.

HAYDEN (A. S.)

Early History of the Disciples in the Western Reserve, Ohio; with Biographical Sketches of the Principal Agents in their Religious Movement.

CINCINNATI: Chase and Hall, Publishers 1875. [531]

HAYES (E. L.)

Illustrated Atlas of the Upper Ohio River and Valley, from Pittsburg, Pa., to Cincinnati, Ohio. Giving a Continuous Chart of the River for that Distance. With maps, plates, charts and views of all the cities, towns, and villages upon its banks. PHILADELPHIA: 1877. [532]

Oblong folio, pp. 231.

HECKEWELDER (JOHN).

An Account of the History, Manners and Customs of the Indian Nations, who once inhabited Pennsylvania and the neighboring States. By the Rev John Heckewelder of Bethlehem. Pp iv+347 of Transactions of the Historical and Literary Committee of the American Philosophical Society. Held at Philadelphia, for promoting useful knowledge. PHILADELPHIA: 1819. [533]

8vo. Portrait and pp. l,+iv+465.

 Contents: Report on the General Character and Forms of the Languages of the American Indians, by Peter Duponceau, pp. xvii to l.—Catalogue of Manuscript Works on the Indians and their Languages, presented to the American Philosophical Society, or deposited in their library, pp. xlvii to l.—No. 1, An account of the History, etc., of the Indian Nations, by Heckewelder, pp. iv+1 to 348.—No. II, A Correspondence between the Rev. John Heckewelder of Bethlehem, and Peter S. Duponceau, respecting the Languages of the American Indians, pp. 351 to 448.—No. III, Words, Phrases, and Short Dialogues, in the Language of the Lenni Lenape, or Delaware Indians, by John Heckewelder, pp. 461–464.

Mr. Heckewelder's contributions to the History of the Indian Nations, particularly those of the Delaware stock, have been among the most curious and valuable of the materials which have contributed to found the modern science of Ethnography; while his comments have occasionally been of service in the almost equally recent but widely extended and laborious study of Comparative Philology. The documents, however, which he has contributed to this last mentioned object are in general superceded by the more formal and elaborate works of the Rev. Mr. Zeisberger.

An attack upon the character for intelligence, and the Historical authority of Mr. Heckewelder, was published in the North American Review, shortly after the publication of his "Indian Nations;" this was replied to, by William Rawle, which reply was published in the Memoirs of the Historical Society of Pennsylvania, vol. 1, p. 258, and also reprinted in Rondthaler's life of Heckewelder, pp. xi–xxv.

Heckewelder's Indian Nations was also republished in France, in 1822, by Peter Duponceau, with the correspondence between them and a vocabulary of the Indian Languages. It was also translated into German by Fr. Hesse, a clergyman of Neinburg, and published in Gottingen in 1821.

Fisher, 1866, hf. mor. uncut, $15.63, boards uncut, $8.50; Smith, 1867, bds. uncut, $7.50; Boon, 1870, hf. mor., $6.00; Clogston, 1875, hf. cf. $9.00; Field, 1875, hf. mor. uncut, $10.50; Menzies, 1876, hf. mor. uncut, $12.75; Priced, N. PARIS: J. DeBure, 1822. [535]

8*vo. pp.* iv—571.

 A French translation of the above, with the addition of a Preface by the translator.

HECKEWELDER (JOHN).

History, Manners, and Customs of the Indian Nations, who once Inhabited Pennsylvania, and the Neighboring States. By the Rev. John Heckewelder, of Bethlehem Pa. New and Revised Edition, with an Introduction and Notes by the Rev. William C. Reichel of Bethlehem, Pa.

PHILADELPHIA: Publication Fund of the His. Soc. of Penn. 1876. [536]

8*vo. pp.* xliii+450.

 A Reprint of the above. It forms vol. XII of the "Memoirs of the Historical Society of Pennsylvania." The Introduction by Reichel, contained in the first xiv pages, gives a Biographical account of Heckewelder.

HECKEWELDER (JOHN).

A Narrative of the Mission of the United Brethren among the Delaware and Mohegan Indians, from its commencement, in the year 1740, to the close of the year 1808. Comprising all the Remarkable Incidents which took place at their Missionary Stations during that period. Interspersed with Anecdotes, Historical Facts, Speeches of Indians and other interesting matter. By John Heckewelder, who was many years in the service of that Mission.

PHILADELPHIA: Published by M'Carty and Davis 1820. [537]

8vo. pp. xii—429+Errata 1 p., and Portrait of Zeisberger.

 This work, which covers a space of sixty-eight years, from the first commencement of the Moravian labors among the red men to the death of the venerable Zeisberger, must still be considered in a historical point of view, as one of the standard records of the times. Mr. Heckewelder was an eye-witness of a great proportion of what he relates, and had the best opportunities of acquiring information. Of his honesty, too, those who have read his unassuming work, can entertain no doubt; he represents things as they were without any attempt at coloring or ornament.

HEMPSTEAD (G. S. B.)

Antiquities of Portsmouth and Vicinity; with Some Speculations upon the Origin and Destiny of the Mound Builders. By G. S. B. Hempstead, A. M., M. D.

PORTSMOUTH, OHIO: McFarland & Elick 1875. [540]

8vo. pp. 19.

 The matter contained in this pamphlet was first published in the "Portsmouth Tribune" during the winter of 1875, and is the result of actual observation. The author surveyed and platted all the works in the vicinity of Portsmouth as early as 1835, and has been an interested student of the mound builders and their works since 1812. Only two hundred copies were reprinted in pamphlet form.

ZANESVILLE OHIO: "Aurora," Print. 1849. [544]

8vo. pp. 23.

 Gen'l Herrick was a citizen of Zanesville, was District Attorney for many years, and held important offices in Muskingum county. He rendered service in the War of 1812 and was appointed Brigadier General.

HERSY (THOMAS).

Clericus, Esculapius and Scepticus, vs. Col. M. Jewett and his Chemical Preparations. In two parts. Comprising in the first, The Clergyman Examined. In the second, The examination continued in a detailed Report of the recent Trial of Col. Jewett and his Medicine before a Committee of the Methodist Episcopal Church at Columbus Ohio. With occasional Illustrations and Pleadings before the bar of an impartial Community. By Thomas Hersy. COLUMBUS OHIO: 1835. [545]

16*mo. pp.* 180.

 Sets forth the troubles of Rev. John Miller, for having signed his name to a certificate in "Jewett's Advertiser," page 11, stating that his daughter Nancy had been cured of "scald head," by the use of "Jewett's Cerate," Nos. 1 and 2. The entire book seems to have been part of an advertising scheme on the part of "Col." Jewett to popularize his medicines. The book is uncommon, the only copy we have met with is in the Ohio State Library.

HERVEY (REV. HENRY M.)

Historical Sketches of the Presbyterian Churches, (O. S.) in Licking County, Ohio, read before the Licking County Pioneer Association, by Rev. Henry M. Hervey. NEWARK, OHIO: Wilson & Clark, Printers, American Office 1869. [546]

8*vo. pp.* 20.

 Forms one of the series of Licking County Pioneer Pamphlets. It is divided into four parts which include:—Historical Sketch of the First Presbyterian Church of Newark, Ohio—The Utica Church, in Licking county—Church of Mary Ann, in Mary Ann Township—Brownsville Church.

HESPERIAN (The) or, Western Monthly Magazine. Edited by William D. Gallagher and Otway Curry. Vol. 1 & 2, COLUMBUS OHIO: Published by John D. Nichols, 1838. Vol. 3, CINCINNATI: Published by John D. Nichols 1839. [547]

3 vols. 8*vo. vol.* 1, pp. 500+Index 11.—vol. 2, pp. 500.—vol. 3, pp. 500.

 Vol. 3, containing six monthly parts (June—Dec., 1839) is quite scarce in a complete state.

No number of the Hesperian was issued for May, 1839, on account of the time lost in the removal of the work from Columbus to Cincinnati.

This is probably the best of all the early Western Periodicals; it contains many original papers relating to the West, and numbered among its contributors the ablest writers of the western community.

HILDRETH (S. P.)

Pioneer History: Being an account of the First Examinations of the Ohio Valley, and the Early Settlement of the Northwest Territory. Chiefly from Original Manuscripts; containing the Papers of Col. George Morgan; those of Judge Barker; The Diaries of Joseph Buell and John Matthews; The Records of the Ohio Company, &c, &c, &c. By S. P. Hildreth.

CINCINNATI: H. W. Derby & Co. Publishers. New York, A. S. Barnes & Co. 1848. [550]

8vo. Map, pp. xiii+1 to 525.

 This work was published under the superintendence of the Historical Society of Cincinnati, and the Publishers' Advertisement informs us that it forms the first volume of its Transactions. It contains a full account of all that took place in Washington county, where the first settlement in the present State of Ohio was made, from 1788 to 1803; or, during the existence of the Territorial Government. It also presents an outline of the leading events in the Ohio Valley, before 1788. The materials of the book are almost wholly original, and the narratives are transcribed almost in the exact language of the authors.

The high character of Dr. Hildreth, for integrity, his long residence in the country, his attainments, and laborious habits, afford sufficient assurance of the accuracy of the work.

8vo. pp. 539, and 4 Portraits and 2 Plates.

 Meigs' Journal announced in the title was never published in the work.

This volume has preserved for us Sketches of the Lives of 35 of the Pioneer Settlers of Ohio. The author was himself a pioneer, and the historian of pioneers. He was a native of Methuen, Essex county, Massachusetts. In 1806 he commenced the practice of medicine at Marietta, when the place contained but six hundred inhabitants, and continued it fifty-five years. He died at his home in Marietta, July 28, 1863, aged eighty years.

The Captivity of Christian Fast. [See Beach's Indian Miscellany, pp. 51–64.] [572]

 This is reprinted from the Ashland, Ohio, "Press," for Nov. 26, 1874.

The events narrated occurred mainly within the present limits of Ohio. The capture was made on the Ohio, at the defeat of a detachment of troops under Col. Slaughter in 1780, on their way to join Col. Geo. Rogers Clark. Fast was carried to Upper Sandusky, and remained with the savages about a year, escaping from them while on a raid against the settlements. The warriors who captured Fast were Delawares.

 Of the various Missions established by the Church of the United (or Moravian) Brethren, that among the Indians in North America was unquestionably one of the most remarkable, whether we consider the vicissitudes it has experienced, and the persecutions it has suffered, or the character of the nations which were its object.

The present work relates almost wholly to Ohio, giving full accounts of the settlements at Gnadenhutten, Salem, Goshen, Sandusky Creek, etc. "Loskiel's History" forms the basis of the work, but it also contains valuable information from "Heckewelder's Narrative," "Holmes' Historical Sketches," etc.

This work is filled with interesting material, so arranged as to embrace the whole area of historical incidents connected with the rise and progress of the West. It commences with the early settlement of the Western States, and details the trials, hardships and sufferings of the pioneers. It is, like everything from the pen of Mr. Howe, a judicious compilation, of the most reliable character for accuracy.

HOWE (HENRY).

Historical Collections of the Great West, etc. [Same title as above]. Illustrated with Chromo tints, Maps and Wood Cuts.

CINCINNATI: Henry Howe, Publisher, 1872. [616]

8vo. pp. 565.

 A reprint of the above, with much additional matter, bringing the history down to 1872, and giving a history and description of each new state and territory.

HOWELLS (WILLIAM C.)

Some Things belonging to the Settlement of the Valley of the Ohio. [617]

 This interesting article was read before the Historical and Literary Society of Quebec, May 19, 1875, and is published in their Transactions, New Series, part 2, pages 113–150, Quebec, 1875.

HOWITT (MARY).

Our Cousins in Ohio. With four illustrations on steel from original designs by Anna Mary Howitt.

LONDON: Darton & Co. 1849. [618]

12mo. pp. viii+296.

 Reprinted in New York, by Robert B. Collins, 1852, 16mo. pp. 251.

This book was compiled by Mrs. Howitt from a series of letters written by her sister, Mrs. Alderson; they cover a period of about one year, and were intended by Mrs. A. as a sort of history of her children during that period. All the characters were friends of the family, and many well known in Cincinnati.

The scene of the story is the homestead of the Alderson family which was located at Warsaw near Cincinnati; the residence is now a Catholic Institution of some kind.

IMLAY (GILBERT). A Topographical Description of the Western Territory of North America; containing a succinct account of its Climate, Natural History, Population, Agriculture, Manners and Customs, with an ample description of the several divisions into which that country is partitioned. And an accurate Statement of the various Tribes of Indians that inhabit the Frontier Country. To which is annexed a delineation of the laws and government of the State of Kentucky, tending to show the probable rise and grandeur of the American Empire. In a series of letters to a friend in England. By G. Imlay, a Captain in the Revolutionary Army during the late War, and a Commissioner for laying out Land in the Back Settlements.

LONDON: Printed for J. Debrett, 1792. [628]

8vo. pp. xv+247.

 This is the first and least valuable of the editions of Imlay; it merely contains the letters in their original form, without notes, or any of the extra matter that appeared in the later editions.

Hoffman, 1877, uncut, $3.35; Priced, Cin'ti, 1878, $3.50.

IMLAY (GILBERT).

A Topographical Description of the Western Territory of North America: Containing a succinct account of its Soil, Climate, Natural History, Population, Agriculture, Manners and Customs. With an ample description of the several divisions into which that country is partitioned; to which are added the Discovery, Settlement and Present State of Kentucky, and an Essay towards the Topography and Natural History of that important Country. By John Filson. To which is added, I, The Adventures of Col. Daniel Boon, one of the First Settlers, comprehending every important Occurrence in the Political History of that Province. II, The Minutes of the Piankashaw Council, held at Post St Vincents April 15, 1784. III, An Account of the Indian Nations inhabiting within the limits of the Thirteen United States; their Manners and Customs; and Reflections on their Origin. By George Imlay, A Captain in the American Army during the War, and Commissioner for laying out lands in the Back Settlements. Illustrated with correct Maps of the Western Territory of North America; of the State of Kentucky, as divided into Counties from the latent Surveys; and a Plan of the Rapids of the Ohio. The Second Edition, with considerable additions.

LONDON: Printed for J. Debrett, MDCCXCIII. [630]

8*vo. pp.* xvi+433+Index 10 leaves, unnumbered+3 Maps and 1 Table of Distances.

 The Second Edition.

The title page contains a curious error, in giving the author's name as George instead of Gilbert.

The Letters pp. 1–266 are an exact reprint of those published in the first edition. Then follows the History of Kentucky, by John Filson, first published at Wilmington in 1784, and occupying pp. 271–415 of the work. The value of this edition is increased by the full index which accompanies it.

The Map of Kentucky which is contained in this edition is much inferior to the one in the third edition, which is very complete.

 The third edition.

Capt. Imlay deserves the credit of having made the longest title on record, but as a veracious chronicler must do his duty, however painful it may be, we have done it justice and copied verbatim et literatim. Every student of Western History should possess this edition.

Imlay is considered one of the best of the early authorities in regard to the Topography of the Western country. This edition is much enhanced in value as a work of reference, by including the works of Filson, Hutchins and other kindred material mentioned in the title.

The Map of Kentucky accompanying this edition is much more complete than that contained in the Second Edition; it is 14x30 inches, very complete and beautifully engraved.

In the note at the bottom of p. 502, also p. 504, the reader is referred to "the annexed plan" of villages on the Mississippi, which plan however, was never published with the work; it probably refers to the one contained in "Hutchins," which was intended to have been published in this work, but afterwards was not thought of consequence enough to be engraved.

JACOB (J. G.)

The Life and Times of Patrick Gass, now Sole Survivor of the Overland Expedition to the Pacific under Lewis and Clark, in 1804–5–6; also, a Soldier in the War with Great Britain, from 1812 to 1815, and a participant in the Battle of Lundys Lane. Together with Gass' Journal of the Expedition condensed; and sketches of some events occurring during the last century in the Upper Ohio Country, Biographies, Reminiscences, etc. By J. G. Jacob.

WELLSBURG, VA.: Jacob and Smith, Publishers and Printers, 1859. [639]

12mo. pp. viii—280, Portrait [of Gass] and 3 Plates.

 This book is of more interest and importance than the title indicates. Pages 195–280 are devoted entirely to the Civil History of the Upper Ohio, and contain historical sketches and biographical reminiscences of the early settlers from original sources, few of which can be found elsewhere.

Priced, Cin'ti, 1878, $2.25.

[JACOB (JOHN J.)]

Biographical Sketch of the Life of the late Capt. Michael Cresap.

CUMBERLAND, MD.: Printed for the Author, by J. M. Buchanan. 1826. [640]

16mo. pp. 124.

 The original edition, now very scarce. Jacob was an intimate friend of Capt. Cresap, and the first to raise his voice in his vindication of the charge of having murdered Logan's family.

Cresap was made an object of hatred, by Jefferson's publication of Logan's speech, in the Appendix of his "Notes on Virginia," but he has not lacked warm and active defenders, who have fully vindicated his memory.

Cresap died of fever in New York, on the 18th of October, 1775, at the early age of 33, and was buried in Trinity church yard.

An article exonerating him will be found in "DeHass' Indian Wars of West Virginia." See also under Mayer (Brantz).

JACOB (JOHN J.)

A Biographical Sketch of the Life of the Late Captain Michael Cresap. By John J. Jacob.

CINCINNATI, OHIO: Reprinted from the Cumberland Edition of 1826, with Notes and Appendix for William Dodge, by Jno. F. Uhlhorn, 58 West 3d St. 1866. [641]

4to. pp. 158.

In addition to the reprint, a selection from a letter written by General George Rogers Clark in vindication of Cresap is given, pp. 154–8.

Bound in the same volume with Jacob's Cresap is published, "Boyer's Journal of Wayne's Campaign," which is paged separately, and often sold as a separate work.

William Dodge, who reprinted the above rare work, was quite a local character in his way, and enjoyed a wide reputation, for his peculiarities, as well as by the number of rare books that passed through his hands. Gowans, in one of his catalogues, calls him the "literary shoemaker." The writer knew him well; made many a trade with "Old Dodge," and always found him square in all his dealings, although none knew the value of a "nugget" better than he. As he is now no more, we add a few scraps of his personal history that have come to our notice, and which may prove interesting.

William Dodge was born in Ipswich, Massachusetts, February, 19, 1811; at a very early age, he was left, by the death of his father, to support his mother and two sisters; at this time he was an apprentice to a shoemaker, but had previously been to sea. When young he learned to play the fife, in which he was quite proficient, and developed a taste for reading books, mostly pertaining to Indian History. While working at the shoemaking business at Ipswich, he married Mary Elizabeth Morgan, by whom he had three children; she died five years after marriage. He then married a second wife, by whom he had two children; it proved an unhappy union, and they were divorced.

He married a third wife, Sarah McFarland, widow, May 31st, 1850, in Cincinnati, who survived his death. He commenced trading in books about 1853, while working at shoemaking, and kept his stock in the shop where he worked; in 1859, he added the purchase and sale of coins to his bookselling and shoemaking. "Penhallow's Indian Wars in New England" was his first venture in book publishing, in 1859. When the war commenced he enlisted and served as fife major for three years, and again one year, making four years in all. After the war, he did not resume his shoemaking business, but continued dealing in books and coins. The following is a list of all the books published, or reprinted by him, arranged chronologically:

History of the Wars in New England with the Eastern Indians. By Samuel Penhallow. Reprinted from the Boston Edition of 1726 with appendix and notes. 4to. Cincinnati, 1859. Edition 500 copies.

History of the Pequot War in New England in 1636. By Lieutenant Lion Gardner. 4to. Cincinnati, 1850. This was published as a supplement to Penhallow's Indian Wars, but is paged separately, with independent title, and some copies are to be found bound separately.

Biographical Sketch of the Life of the late Captain Michael Cresap. By John J. Jacob. Reprinted from the Cumberland Edition of 1826, with notes and an appendix. 4to. Cincinnati, 1866. Edition 500 copies.

Journal of Wayne's Campaign against the Northwestern Indians in 1794. By Lieutenant Boyer. 4to. Cincinnati, 1866. This was published as an Appendix to Jacob's Life of Cresap, but is paged separately, with independent title, and some copies are found bound separately.

Logan, the last of the race of Shikellemus, Chief of the Cayuga Nation, to which is added a dialogue of the Backwoodsman and the Dandy. By Dr. Joseph Doddridge. Reprinted from the Virginia Edition of 1823. 4to. Cincinnati, 1868. Edition 300 copies.

Memoirs of Odd Adventures, Strange Deliverances, etc., in the Captivity of John Giles, Esq., in the District of Maine. Written by Himself. Originally published in Boston, 1736. 8vo. Cincinnati, 1869. Edition 250 copies.

Narrative of the Wonderful Escape and Dreadful Sufferings of Colonel James Paul, after the defeat of Colonel Crawford. By Robert A. Sherrard. 8vo. Cincinnati, 1869. Edition 250 copies.

Col. Wm. Dudley's Defeat opposite Fort Meigs, May 5, 1813. Official Report from Captain Leslie Combs to General Green Clay. 8vo. Cincinnati, 1869. Of this, only 100 copies were printed from the original letter.

Journal of Captain William Trent, from Logstown to Pickawillany, A. D., 1752. Edited by Alfred T. Goodman. 8vo. Cincinnati, 1851. Edition 500 copies.

For three years previous to his death Dodge was employed by the city, and worked on the street, but still retained his fondness for old books. The writer purchased the last book he ever sold (a copy of the original edition of the "Book of Mormon") a few weeks before his death, which took place December 19, 1875.

 Jenkins' Gazetteer is a continuation of Kilbourn's Gazetteers, discontinued in 1834, but is almost entirely rewritten, and contains many additions and corrections. pp. 5–24 give a general description of the State, then follows a Topographical Description of the Counties, Towns, Rivers, etc., alphabetically arranged. A large number were circulated, and the work is still plenty.

"As far as we are able to form a judgment of its merits, this seems to be an extremely well composed and valuable manual."—N. A. R. Jan. 1840.

JOHNSTON (CHARLES).

A Narrative of the Incidents attending the Capture, Detention, and Ransom of Charles Johnson, of Botetourt County, Virginia. Who was made prisoner by the Indians, on the River Ohio, in the year 1790; together with an interesting account of the fate of his companions, five in number, one of whom suffered at the stake. To which are added sketches of Indian Character and Manners, with Illustrative Anecdotes.

NEW YORK: Printed by J. & J. Harper, 82 Cliff St.
16*mo. pp.* 264. 1827. [650]

 An imperfect and incorrect account of the above narrative, was also published by the Duke de Liancourt, in his Travels, 2 vols. 4to London, 1799.

Johnston was captured while descending the Ohio, at the mouth of the Scioto, and was carried to Sandusky, where, after remaining with the Indians some time, he was ransomed. The "Narrative," includes pp. 4–100, and the "Sketches of Indian Character," pp. 101–262.

JOHONNOT (JACKSON).

The Remarkable Adventures of Jackson Johonnot, of Massachusetts, who served as a soldier in the Western Army, in the expedition under Gen. Harmar and Gen. St. Clair, containing an account of his captivity, sufferings and escape from the Kickappo Indians. Written by himself, and published at the earnest request and importunity of his friends, for the benefit of American youth.

Printed at Walpole New Hampshire, By I. Thomas and D. Carlisle, Jun. MDCCXCV. [652]

12*mo. pp.* 12.

 A scarce work, but of little or no intrinsic value. It is a curiosity as a specimen of book making, being printed with most outrageous type, on paper, evidently intended more for wrapping than printing purposes. It is always in poor order for binding, having been very unevenly folded, with very little margin for stitching. The work is reprinted in "Metcalfe's Narratives."

Cincinnati, 1871, $10.25.

JOHONNOT (JACKSON).
The remarkable Adventures of. [Same title as above].
GREENFIELD, MASS.: Printed by Ansel Phelps, 1816. [653]

JONES (DAVID).
A Journal of Two Visits made to some Nations of Indians on the West side of the River Ohio, in the Years 1772 and 1773. By the Rev. David Jones, Minister of the Gospel at Freehold in New Jersey.
BURLINGTON: Printed and Sold by Isaac Collins, M.DCCLXXIV. [657]
8*vo. Introduction pp.* iv+94.

 The original edition, excessively rare.

The missionary efforts of David Jones were directed chiefly to the Shawnees and Delawares whom he visited in 1772–3; the details of these journeys comprise the contents of the volume, and form an interesting account of the manners, customs, language and religious belief of the Indians. One of his companions, while navigating the Ohio in a canoe from Fort Pitt, was the celebrated George Rogers Clark. Mr. Jones was appointed chaplain in 1794 by General Wayne, and continued in service until peace was concluded.

The original manuscript of this journal is still in existence, and is owned by Horatio G. Jones, of Philadelphia, a grandson of the author.

Wright, 1865, hf. mor., uncut, $15.00; Roche, hf. mor., uncut, $17.50.

KERCHEVAL (SAMUEL).

A History of the Valley of Virginia. By Samuel Kercheval. WINCHESTER: Samuel H. Davis 1833. [668]

12mo. pp. 486.

 The contents of this work, are intimately connected with the Early History and Indian Wars of Ohio. It contains almost a verbatim reprint of "Doddridge's Notes," of which, however, Brantz Mayer says: "Some liberties have been taken with Mr. Doddridge's 'Notes on the Indian Wars and Settlement of the Western parts of Pennsylvania and Virginia' in this reprint of it, by way of transposition." A second edition was published in 1850, in which some narratives contained in this edition were omitted.

Barney, 1870, $10.00; Mayer, 1870, $9.50; Wynne, 1875, $8.00; Field, 1875, $5.00; Priced, Cin'ti, 1878, hf. mor. $15.00.

KERCHEVAL (SAMUEL).

A History of the Valley of Virginia, By Samuel Kercheval. Second Edition, Revised and Extended by the Author.

WOODSTOCK, Va.: John Gatewood, Printer, 1850. [669]

8vo. pp. 347.

In this, the Second Edition, although the author announces it as revised and extended, yet on comparison, we find the revision, consists in the ommission of several Indian Narratives, including Manheim's, contained in the first edition, as well as the chapter on Slavery; and the addition of some interesting matter in the appendix, which relates mainly to the conflicts with the Indians. This edition also contains "Doddridge's Notes," and is almost, if not quite as scarce as the first.

Smith, 1867, $6.00. Wynne, 1875, $5.25; Field, 1875, $3.50; Priced, Cin'ti, 1876, $4.50.

Public Documents, concerning the Ohio Canals, which are to connect Lake Erie with the Ohio River, Comprising a Complete Official History of these great works of Internal Improvement.

COLUMBUS: Compiled and Published by John Kilbourn, Olmsted, Bailhache & Camron, Printers, 1828. [673]

8vo. pp. 304+Index 1 leaf.

 This collection of Documents relating to the Ohio Canals, was originally compiled and published in a weekly paper entitled "The Civil Engineer and Herald of Internal Improvement," published by John Kilbourn, the author of the "Ohio Gazetteer." The Documents were so important, and of so interesting a character, that 14 pages of each number were devoted to them. An extra number of these papers were printed, and an appropriate title and index prefixed to these papers were bound in volumes separately.

Priced, Cin'ti, 1878, $4.00.

8*vo. pp.* 198.

 [The German Chronicle in the History of the Ohio Valley and especially its Capital city, Cincinnati.]

Said by competent judges to be an excellent and valuable work. It contains a large amount of original material relating to the settlement of Ohio, Cincinnati, and the various counties, giving a full account of the settlements made by the Germans, and a general history of the State.

A small number only of this book was published and it is now scarce.

Priced, Cin'ti, 1878, $5.00.

KNAPP (H. S.)

A History of the Pioneer and Modern Times of Ashland County, from the Earliest to the Present Date.

PHILADELPHIA: J. B. Lippincott & Co. 1863. [680]

8vo. pp. 550, and Plate.

A very full and interesting history, besides Official Records and Statistics, it contains many Anecdotes and Historical and Biographical Sketches of the county. It, however, treats entirely on the Modern History of the county; we can find little or nothing relating to the early history as the word "Pioneer" in the Title would seem to indicate.

Smith, 1867, $4.25; Priced, Cin'ti 1878, $5.00.

X KNAPP (H. S.)

History of the Maumee Valley. Commencing with its occupation by the French in 1680. To which is added Sketches of some of its Moral and Material Resources as they exist in 1872. By H. S. Knapp.

8vo. pp. v—667+Frontispiece and 25 lithographic Portraits.

A comprehensive history of the Northwest portion of the State of Ohio, compiled principally from the reminiscences of pioneers. It also contains sketches of the lives of the principal early settlers, and is altogether a full and reliable account of the early times in this locality. This book is already out of print.

Priced, Cin'ti, 1878, $5.00.

KNIGHT AND SLOVER.

Narratives of a Late Expedition against the Indians: with an account of the Barbarous Execution of Col. Crawford, and the Wonderful Escape of Dr. Knight and John Slover from Captivity in 1782.

PHILADELPHIA: Printed by Francis Bailey in Market Street, M.DCC,LXXIII, [1783.] [682]

16*mo. pp.* 38.

The rare original edition. An X in the date is accidentally omitted on the title page. The date should be 1783, not 1773. A copy is in the library of Wm. M. Darlington, of Pittsburgh.

James Bailey, the printer and publisher of this edition, was at that time the printer of "The Freeman's Journal," in which the narratives appeared prior to their publication in book form. The world is indebted for the narratives of Knight and Slover to H. Brackenridge, an eminent lawyer and author of Pittsburgh, from 1781, until his death in 1816; he says in his letter, accompanying the narratives; "Enclosed are two narratives, one of Dr. Knight, who acted as surgeon in the expedition under Colonel Crawford, the other by John Slover. That of Dr. Knight was written at my request; that of Slover was taken by myself from his mouth as he related it."

KNIGHT AND SLOVER.

Narrative of a late Expedition against the Indians, with an Account of the Barbarous Execution of Col. Crawford and the Wonderful Escape of Dr. Knight and John Slover from Captivity in 1782. To which is added a Narrative of the Captivity and Escape of Mrs. Francis Scott, an Inhabitant of Washington County Virginia.

ANDOVER: Printed by Ames and Parker, [n. d.] [683]

16*mo. pp.* 46.

 A reprint of the above, also scarce.

Field, 1875, $5.00; Hoffman, 1877, $2.75.

KNIGHT AND SLOVER.

A Remarkable Narrative of an Expedition against the Indians, with an account of the Barbarous Execution of Col. Crawford, and Dr. Knight's Escape from Captivity.

NASHVILLE: W. F. Bang & Co. Printers, Republican Banner Office, 1843. [685]

16*mo. pp.* 96.

 In addition to the Narrative, this edition contains short memoirs of Colonel Crawford and John Slover, and a letter from H. Brackenridge, on the Rights of the Indians, etc.

Smith, 1867, $4.25; Priced, N. Y., 1878, $3.50; Priced, Cin'ti, 1878, $3.00.

KNIGHT AND SLOVER.

Indian Atrocities. Narratives of the Perils and Sufferings of Dr. Knight and John Slover among the Indians during the Revolutionary War. With Short Memoirs of Col. Crawford and John Slover. And a letter from H. Brackenridge, on the Rights of the Indians, etc.

CINCINNATI: U. P. James, Publisher 1867. [686]

12mo. pp. 72.

Of this reprint five hundred copies were printed, of which seventy-five were on thick paper. It is an exact reprint of the Nashville 1843 edition. The Memoir of Slover which appears in the later editions is not in the original.

LOSKIEL (GEORG HENRY).

Geschichte der Mission der Evangelischen Brüder, unter den Indianern in Nordamerica, durch Georg Heinrich Loskiel.

Barbu, zu finden in den Brudergemeinden, und in Leipzig in commission bei Paul Gotthelf Kummer. 1789. [732]

8vo. pp. 16, unnumbered+784.

 The original edition, of which the following is a translation.

LOSKIEL (GEORGE HENRY).

History of the Mission of the United Brethren among the Indians in North America. In three parts. By George Henry Loskiel. Translated from the German, by Christian Ignatius La Trobe.

LONDON: Printed for the Brethren's Society for the furtherance of the Gospel. 1794. [733]

8vo. pp. xii. Part I. pp. 1 to 159. Part II, pp. 1 to 234. Part III, 233+Index, eleven leaves not paged; total, pp. 660 and Map.

 Part I, consisting of eleven chapters, is devoted mainly to a description of the Habits and Customs of the Indians, their Language, Dress, Superstitions, etc., etc. Parts II and III, are devoted to the history of the Indians under the Charge of the Moravian Mission. An account of the Massacre of the Christian Indians, at Gnadenhutten, is given in part III, p. 180.

These narratives were mostly drawn up from accounts furnished by Gottleib Spangenberg and David Zeisberger. In the Translation, Mr. La Trobe has added a most excellent and complete Index.

The original edition in German, was published in 1789, the translation does not correspond exactly with the text of this edition, as it omits the names of several of the early enemies of the mission. While at New Salem, Zeisberger received a copy of the first edition, and in a letter written at the time, he says of it: "I have read the History of the Mission with much pleasure, but the orthography of the Indian words is a disgrace to the book. I wish the English translation could be postponed. There are persons still living whose names occur as enemies of our Mission, who have now wholly changed their views and sentiments and are our friends. They ought not to be exposed, perhaps the best plan would be to omit their names altogether." He refers to such persons as Elliott and McKee, who were the real cause of all the misfortunes that had come upon the mission. La Trobe carried out the suggestions here offered by Zeisberger, and in his translation the names of all former enemies of the mission are omitted.

LOSSING (BENSON J.)

A Pictorial Description of Ohio; comprising a Sketch of its Physical Geography, History, Political Divisions, Resources, Government and Constitution, Antiquities, Public Lands etc. Compiled from the best authorities by B. J. Lossing. Illustrated by Maps and Forty Engravings.

NEW YORK: Published by Ensign & Thayer. 1848. [734]

8vo. pp. 131+Frontispiece and Map.

This historical sketch was originally published to accompany a map of the State, issued by the same firm. Many of the illustrations were taken from "Howe's Historical Collections of Ohio." The matter in the pamphlet is compiled with great care.

This pamphlet furnishes a good illustration of how scarce these "unconsidered trifles" may become. Here is a pamphlet published but thirty-two years ago, which may now be classed as "rare," notwithstanding the fact that at least one thousand copies were circulated. I have never met with more than half a dozen copies.

Priced, Cin'ti, 1878, full calf, $15.00.

LOSSING (BENSON J.)

Hull's Surrender of Detroit. By Benson J. Lossing, LL. D. Reprinted with additions from "Potter's American Monthly," August, 1875.

PHILADELPHIA: John E. Potter & Co. [1875]. [735]

8vo. pp. 20.

 An interesting narrative, wherein the author defends General Hull, in his action at Detroit, and presents many new points and responsible authorities in support of his statements.

[LOW (CHARLES F.)]

LEXINGTON, K.: Published by Worsley & Smith, 1816. [738]

8vo. pp. xiii+534+Note, 1 Page unnumbered.

 A valuable work, now very scarce. It is the original authority from which later writers borrowed freely. It narrates, in detail, the causes of the war—Hull's Campaign—Harrison's Campaign—Battle of Lake Erie—and all the incidents of the War of 1812 in Ohio and the Northwest Territory are given with great minutiæ of detail.

See also "Historical Details," [No. 580] for an answer to this work.

MCBRIDE (JAMES).

Pioneer Biography. Sketches of the Lives of some of the Early Settlers of Butler County, Ohio. By James McBride of Hamilton.

CINCINNATI: Robert Clarke & Co. Vol. 1. 1869. Vol. 2, 1871. [739]

2 vols. 8*vo. Vol.* 1. pp. xiv+352 and Portrait. Vol. 2, pp. 288.

 Forms Number Four of the Ohio Valley Historical Series. Vol. 1, contains the lives of John Reily, Thomas Irwin, Joel Collins, Isaac Anderson, Samuel Dick, Joseph Hough and John Woods. Vol. 2, contains the lives of Robert McClellan, Isaac Paxton, Pierson Sayre, Henry Weaver, Jeremiah Butterfield, John Wingate, Daniel Doty, Matthew Hueston, Capt. John Cleves Symmes, John Sutherland, the Brigham Family and Dr. Jacob Lewis.

Mr. McBride, the author of these biographies, died in 1859 at the age of 70 years, and was one of the oldest, and best known pioneers of Southern Ohio. These sketches will be found to possess an interest beyond the mere details of the lives of the individuals. They were all of them men who took an active part in the settlement of the Miami country, were prominent in public affairs both civil and military, and participated in many of the early conflicts with the Indians in Ohio and Kentucky, and in the campaigns of Harmar, St. Clair, Scott and Wayne; so that, interspersed in the narrative, will be found many details of interest concerning the early struggles, from the notes and recollections of eye witnesses, which have never before appeared in print.

[McBride (James).]

Symmes's Theory of Concentric Spheres; Demonstrating that the Earth is Hollow, Habitable Within and Widely Open about the Poles. By a citizen of the United States. Cincinnati: Printed by Morgan, Lodge & Fisher 1826.

16*mo. pp.* 168. [740]

 Captain John Cleves Symmes, the originator of the above theory, was a nephew of the Hon. John Cleves Symmes, who made the first settlement between the Miami rivers at North Bend.

The book was written by James McBride, of Hamilton, Ohio. According to Capt. Symmes, the earth is composed of at least five hollow concentric spheres, with spaces between each, and habitable as well upon the concave as the convex surface. Each of these spheres is widely open about the poles. The objections and difficulties which lie in the way of this theory are met with answers and solutions which are highly ingenious, and sometimes apparently conclusive. The author of the theory was intensely desirous to have it subjected to the test of actual experiment. In 1818 he issued a circular from St. Louis, asking to be furnished with an outfit of one hundred brave companions, well equipped, to set out from Siberia, in the autumn, with reindeer and sleighs. Thus furnished, he engaged to explore the concave regions, and to discover a temperate country with fertile soil, etc. Capt. Symmes long contemplated such an expedition; twice—in 1822 and 1823—he asked Congress for an appropriation for his purpose. He lectured in Cincinnati and other towns in Ohio, 1820–25; in Philadelphia, New York, Boston, and other eastern cities in 1826. The work was unfavorably reviewed in the Amer. Quar. Rev., I, 235–54. In the Cincinnati Literary Gazette, Vol. 1, No. 12, will be found in full T. J. Mathews' Lecture opposing the theory, also published in a separate pamphlet, [which see] and much interesting matter connected with the subject is scattered throughout the work.

So entirely convinced was Symmes of the soundness of his theory, that for ten years, though laboring under constant pecuniary embarrassment and buffeted by ridicule and sarcasm, he persevered in his endeavors to convince others, and interest them in it. The theory finally cost him his life. Wearied and worn out by constant labor and excitement, he died at Hamilton, Ohio, May 29, 1829, aged 49 years.

Symmes' Theory is ridiculed in "Symzonia;" a Voyage of Discovery, by Capt. Adam Seaborn, 12mo. pp. 248, New York, 1820. An extended criticism will be found in American Quarterly Review, Vol. 1, page 235; this was responded to, by J. N. Reynolds in a pamphlet [which see.]

M'CLUNG (JOHN A.)

Sketches of Western Adventure: containing an account of the most interesting incidents connected with the Settlement of the West, from 1755 to 1794: Together with an Appendix. By John A. M'Clung.

MAYSVILLE, KY.: Printed and Published by L. Collins, 12*mo. pp.* xii—366. 1832. [745]

 The original edition of this popular work. It was written at the instance of, and published by Lewis Collins, afterwards himself the author of the well known "History of Kentucky." It is the most complete collection of captivities and early adventures ever published in one volume. Daniel Boone had been a resident of Maysville only a few years before Mr. McClung settled there. Simon Kenton, William Kennan, James Ward, Charles Ward, Major Hugh McGary, Thomas Marshall, and other heroes of the "Adventures," were acquaintances or personal friends of the author, some of them as early as 1806; and he had every facility to verify, and was himself thoroughly assured of the accuracy of the sketches. An excellent Biographical Sketch of the author will be found in the edition of 1872.

M'CLUNG (JOHN A.)
Sketches of Western Adventure: containing an account of the most interesting incidents connected with the settlement of the West, from 1755 to 1794; with an Appendix. By John A. M'Clung. Also, Additional Sketches of Adventure compiled by the Publishers, and a Biography of John A. M'Clung, by Henry Waller.
COVINGTON, KY.: Published by Richard H. Collins & Co. 1872. [749]
12*mo. pp.* xxix+398+Portrait and Ten Woodcuts.

 This is the last and most desirable edition of the above work. It contains, in addition to the matter in the other editions, a Biography of the author, by Henry Waller, pp. v—xxix; and additional sketches beginning with page 335, compiled by the publishers, they are of the same thrilling character as those which gave the work a standard reputation forty years before.

Other editions of the work were published in Cincinnati, 1832, 1836, 1839 and 1851, and in Dayton, Ohio, 1844, 1847, 1852, 1854.

MCDONALD (JOHN).

Biographical Sketches of General Nathaniel Massie, General Duncan McArthur, Captain William Wells, and General Simon Kenton: Who were early settlers in the Western Country. By John McDonald, of Poplar Ridge, Ross County, Ohio.

CINCINNATI: Published for the Author by E. Morgan and Son, 1838. [750]

16*mo. pp.* vi—267.

 These sketches are written in a plain, manly style, and are most interesting to the Western reader. The first biographical sketch is of General Nathaniel Massie, and occupies some 70 pages of the volume. The second is of General Duncan McArthur, and takes up about 112 pages. Following this, is some account, made up principally of interesting anecdotes, of Captain William Wells, one of the active spirits of Wayne's army, 1794. Then comes a sketch of the life of General Simon Kenton, filling about seventy pages, and closing the volume. Of all these men, Mr. McDonald was a contemporary; a young adventurer under Massie, an intimate of McArthur, an acquaintance of Wells, and a companion of Kenton. He was an actor in many of the scenes which he describes; and the incidents detailed in his volume, which he did not witness himself, were communicated to him by the actors soon after they had taken place. He is thus original authority, and the fullest reliance may be placed in his statements.

A Review of this work will be found in North American Review, vol. 1, page 247.

M'GAW (JAMES F.)

Philip Seymour, or, Pioneer Life in Richland County, Ohio. Founded on Facts. By Rev. James F. M'Gaw, author of "The Impressed Seaman."

MANSFIELD: Published by R. Brinkerhoff, 1858. [753]

12mo. pp. 295.

 The scene is laid during the campaigns against the Indians in 1812. The author has filled out the skeleton of facts in his possession from his own imagination, thus producing quite a sensational narrative, but not improving their value. Many historical facts throwing light upon the transactions related in Philip Seymour, will be found in "Knapp's History of Ashland county," pp. 525–532.

 Reprinted in Pittsburgh, 1848, 2 vols. pp. 229, 230.

The pseudonym, "Solomon Secondsight," is signed at the end of the preface. The work is purely fictitious, and of little merit; the best way to become interested in the story, is to believe every word of it, which will be found by no means easy.

McKNIGHT (CHARLES).

Old Fort Duquesne: or Captain Jack the Scout. An Historical Novel. With Copious Notes. By Charles McKnight. Beautifully Illustrated.

PITTSBURGH: Peoples Monthly Publishing Co. 1873. [761]

12mo. pp. 501 and 8 Illustrations.

 The appendix contains Historical Notes and Anecdotes of interest and value; the work has been thrice re-published in England, and also in Germany, in the "Tauchnitz Edition."

Captain Jack, of the French and Indian war, was a real historical personage, known all along the Pennsylvania Border. In Hazard's Register there is frequent mention of his name, and George Croghan speaks of him also. The author has seized on excellent material for romance, and made of Jack, who lived in many a fireside legend, a leading character in his fiction.

McKNIGHT (CHARLES).

Our Western Border, its Life, Combats, Adventures, Forays, Massacres, Captivities, Scouts, Red Chiefs, Pioneer Women, One Hundred Years Ago; containing the cream of all the rare old Border Chronicles, (now long out of print and almost impossible to procure,) together with a large amount of fresh and original matter derived from authentic sources, the whole work embracing strange and thrilling Narratives of Captivities, Daring Deeds, Desperate Conflicts, Exciting Adventures, Personal Prowess; and aiming by judicious selections, to present the fullest, most varied and most reliable portrayal of Border Struggle and Adventure yet published. Carefully written and compiled by Charles McKnight, Author of "Old Fort Duquesne," and "Simon Girty." Illustrated by the very best artists.

PHILADELPHIA: J. C. McCurdy & Co. 1876. [762]

8vo. pp. xi+756 and 15 Engravings, (wood-cuts).

 The author seems to have carefully sifted Doddridge, Withers, Pritts, DeHass, McClung and McDonald, and has connected chronologically, the more salient and memorable of the Combats, Massacres and Captivities, chiefly embraced between Dunmore's War of 1774, and the Battle of Fallen Timbers, in 1794, when the power of the Western Confederation was forever crushed by "Mad Anthony" Wayne. The value of the work is enhanced by a full index.

McLAIN (THOMAS J., JR.)

Historical Sketches of the Schools, Public and Private in Warren, Trumbull County, Ohio. [763]

8vo. pp. 14.

 Published in "Historical Sketches of the Public Schools of Ohio," 1876.

MacLEAN (J. P.)

The Mound Builders; being an account of a Remarkable People that once inhabited the Valleys of the Ohio and Mississippi, together with an investigation into the Archæology of Butler County, O. By J. P. MacLean. Illustrated with over One Hundred Figures.

 A useful compilation, which puts in a brief compass, the facts of recent discoveries in this interesting subject. The book, however, contains little information not available in other works; the chapter on Butler county, Ohio, gives about the only new contribution to the subject. The map shows the location of all the earthworks in Butler county; many of the engravings have previously appeared in other works.

CINCINNATI: Published by Applegate & Co. No. 43 Main Street, 1855. [775]

12*mo. pp.* x—408 and Portrait.

 Daniel Drake, a brother of Benjamin Drake, was born in Plainfield, N. J., October 20, 1785, and died in Cincinnati, November 5, 1852. He began the practice of medicine in Cincinnati in 1804. In December, 1818 he procured from the Ohio Legislature a charter for the Medical College of Ohio, at Cincinnati, and also established there in 1821 the Cincinnati Hospital.

Mr. Mansfield traces the career of Dr. Drake as a simple narrative of his life and services, and connects with it, a notice of such persons and events as were naturally associated with him. A biographical sketch relating principally to Dr. Drake's professional and public life, written by his son, is prefixed to "Drake's Pioneer Life in Kentucky," No. 6, of the Ohio Valley Historical Series.

Franklin County Register, Comprising Regular lists of all Civil Officers that have served in the County since its organization, until 1834, from Representatives in Congress to Justices of the Peace. To which is prefixed, a Brief History of the Settlement of the County, and to which is affixed a Register of the Principal State Officers.
COLUMBUS: Published by Scott and Wright, 1834. [788]
18mo. pp. 52 and Folding Map.

 This was the original work by Mr. Martin, which afterwards formed the basis of his "History of Franklin County." When Mr. Wheeler published his map of Franklin County in 1842, he accompanied it with a very small pamphlet, historical and descriptive of the county which was taken wholly from the Franklin County Register without giving credit; and when Mr. Howe published his "Historical Collections of Ohio," in 1847, he copied from Wheeler's pamphlet and gave the credit to that work. This pamphlet by Wheeller, I have never seen.

CINCINNATI: Peter G. Thomson, Publisher, 1880. [800]

8vo. pp. 206.

 This society consists of Army and Navy officers who took part in the Rebellion.

MAXWELL (SIDNEY D.)

History of the Exposition of Textile Fabrics held in Cincinnati, Aug't, 3–7, 1869. By Sidney D. Maxwell, authorized by the Executive Committee.

CINCINNATI: 1869. [801]

8vo. pp. 97.

MAXWELL (SIDNEY D.)

The suburbs of Cincinnati: Sketches, Historical and Descriptive. By Sidney D. Maxwell.

CINCINNATI: Geo. E. Stevens & Co. 1870. [802]

4to. pp. 186.

 Originally published in the Cincinnati Gazette during the years 1868–9. It consists of original sketches, describing the Suburbs of Cincinnati; with descriptions of the principal residences, parks, etc., also historical accounts of the various villages about the city, many of which have since been annexed, which are especially valuable, as this is the only form in which such sketches have been written.

MAXWELL (SIDNEY D.)

The Manufacturers of Cincinnati, and their relation to the future progress of the City. A Lecture.

CINCINNATI: Robert Clarke & Co. 1878. [803]

8vo. pp. 41.

MAY (JOHN).

Journal and Letters of Col. John May, of Boston, Relative to Two Journeys to the Ohio Country in 1788 and '89. With a Biographical Sketch by Rev. Richard S. Edes, of Bolton, Mass., and Illustrative Notes by Wm. M. Darlington of Pittsburgh, Penn.

CINCINNATI: Robert Clarke & Co, for the Historical and Philosophical Society of Ohio, 1873. [804]

8vo. pp. 160.

 This is Vol. 1, of the New Series published by the Historical and Philosophical Society of Ohio.

The volume describes a journey from Boston to Marietta in 1788, and the daily life of the first settlers of Ohio. As it is a record made at the time the events occurred which it describes, the book is a valuable contribution to the history of the State. The original MS. is in the possession of Rev, Richard S. Edes, of Bolton, Massachusetts, and the Notes are by Wm. M. Darlington, Esq., in his usual good taste and judgment. A full and useful index accompanies the work.

MAYER (BRANTZ).

Tah-gah-jute, or, Logan, and Captain Michael Cresap; a discourse by Brantz Mayer; Delivered at Baltimore, before the Maryland Historical Society, on its Sixth Anniversary, 9 May, 1851.

[BALTIMORE: Printed by John Murphy & Co, 1851.] [805]

8vo. pp. 86.

 An able vindication of Capt. Cresap, of the charge of having murdered Logan's family. The following number is a reprint of this work, revised, and with many additions. In both editions Logan's speech is given, together with such evidence as has been adduced both for and against it; also, side by side in parallel columns, such exact copies as have been discovered from the earliest dates.

MAYER (BRANTZ).

Tah-gah-jute; or, Logan and Cresap, an Historical Essay. By Brantz Mayer. ALBANY: Joel Munsell 1867. [806]

8vo. pp. x+224.

 Founded on the above work, with new illustrative information in considerable quantity, which has been judiciously added.

The main authorities for this thorough vindication of Capt. Cresap's memory, are the extremely rare little volumes "Jacob's Life of Cresap," published in 1826, and the letter of Gen'l George Rogers Clark, published in the first edition, but in this edition, first printed from the original MS., in Appendix No. 1. Mr. Mayer narrates at length, the manner and period of the death of Logan, which were for a long time in doubt. The chief was assassinated by one of his own tribe, in revenge for having chastised his wife—a privilege which Indian sachems claimed over every member of their clan. A complete Index accompanies this edition.

A number of Sketches of Logan may be found in the American Pioneer, Vol. 1, pages 3, 64, 114, 188, 358.

12mo. pp. viii+275.

 The original edition, very scarce. The three following titles are Translations. See also under "Review of the Military Operations in North America," by Livingston. Menzies, 1876, full morocco, $13.50.

MEMORIAL (A) Containing a summary View of Facts, with their Authorities, in answer to the observations sent by the English Ministry to the Courts of Europe. Translated from the French.

PHILADELPHIA: Printed by James Chattin, 1757. [810]

8vo. pp. iv+338.

 We learn the following from the "Advertisement to the reader,"—"The public have been already informed that the three French volumes of which the following is a Translation, were found in a French Prize, taken and carried into St. Christophers, and brought here by a gentleman from that place. Their authenticity can not be doubted, as they were published at the royal office, and consequently, by order of the French King. As there were at that time, but one copy of them in this place, (since that time, several were found in a prize carried into New York) and that in a language not general known, it was thought that a publication of them might be of service as well to discover the vile misrepresentations of facts of which the French have been guilty, as to make known the falsity of their pretensions to Countries to which they have not the least shadow of Right or Claim."

This work is of the greatest interest, as it gives us from original sources, valuable information in regard to the French Claims on the Ohio River. We find Trent, Croghan, Stobo and Washington, mentioned on almost every page. pp. 124–173, give the "Journal of Major Washington," with amusing notes and comments by the French author, who evidently was not a believer in the story of Washington's truthfulness, for he uses the note "atrocious lie" on several occasions. pp. 185–191 gives a translation of a letter written by Robert Stobo, at Fort Du Quesne, who was one of the hostages given for a faithful performance of the Capitulation granted to the English Troops, commanded by Major Washington. The entire work relates to the contested French Territory in America, especially that lying on the Ohio river.

An edition was also published in New York, the same year, (see following title), also in London, 1757. 8vo. pp. 320.

An interesting account of this work, and also, a reprint of the entire book may be found in the Olden Time, vol. 2, pp. 140–277 inclusive. A copy of the original edition is in the Public Library, Cincinnati. Extensive quotations are also made in "De Hass' Indian Wars of West Virginia."

MEMORIAL (A) &c, [of Nathaniel Sackett in behalf of himself and his associates petitioning Congress that a tract of land in Ohio, be granted them in fee simple, etc.]

NEW YORK: Printed by S. Kollock, opposite the Coffee House, 1784. [813]

4to. pp. 12 and Map.

 The only copy of this rare tract, that we can trace, is in the Harvard Library. It is a petition to Congress, for the tract of country, beginning at the confluence of of the Rivers Ohio and Scioto, and extending from thence along the eastern bank of the Scioto, to the termination of one hundred miles, thence in a direct line to the furthermost extreme of Lake Erie; from thence, along the south side of the said lake to the termination of one hundred miles; from thence, to the place where White Woman's creek empties into the Muskingum river, thence down the western bank of the Muskingum river to its confluence with the Ohio; and from thence along the northwestern bank of the Ohio, to the place of beginning; for the purpose of making settlements. No other consideration is stated, except that they will make settlements. The Memorial is dated September 29th, 1785. The map delineates the tracts of country described in the text.

MENTELLE (W.)
On the Location and Settlement of Gallipolis, Ohio. [See American Pioneer, Vol. 2, page 182.] [816]

MESSAGE from the President of the United States transmitting Information in Relation to certain Christian Indians, and the Lands intended for their benefit, on the Muskingum, in the State of Ohio, granted under an act of Congress, of June 1st, 1796, to the Society of United Brethren, for propagating the Gospel among the Heathen. December 10, 1822. Printed by order of the Senate of the U. S.

WASHINGTON: Printed by Gales & Seaton 1823. [817]
8vo. pp. 58.

 This report was made in compliance with a resolution of the Senate, "to cause to be collected the best information which can be obtained relative to the Christian Indians, and the lands intended for their benefit in the State of Ohio, shewing as correctly as possible, the advance or decline of said Indians in numbers, morals, and intellectual endowments; whether the lands have enured to their sole benefit, and, if not, to whom, in whole or in part have such benefits accrued." The documents were prepared by the Rev. Lewis D. DeSchweinitz and John Heckewelder. It is a resumé of the events connected with the establishment and growth of the Moravian Missions in Ohio.

METCALFE (SAMUEL L.)

A Collection of some of the Most Interesting Narratives of Indian Warfare in the West, containing an account of the Adventures of Colonel Daniel Boone, one of the first settlers of Kentucky, comprehending the most important occurrences relative to its early history—Also, an account of the Manners and Customs of the Indians, their Traditions and Religious Sentiments, their Police or Civil Government, their Discipline and method of War: to which is added, an account of the expeditions of Gen'ls Harmer, Scott, Wilkinson, St. Clair, and Wayne: The whole compiled from the best authorities. By Samuel L. Metcalfe.

LEXINGTON KY.: Printed by William G. Hunt, 1821. [818]

8vo. pp. 270+Errata 5 lines.

 This scarce work has comparatively little of intrinsic value, to merit the avidity with which it is sought. It is a compilation, principally from available sources, of the narratives which in their original form, had, even at the date of its publication, become scarce or difficult to procure. These have since been so often reprinted, that they would seem to have superseded the necessity which called for the publication of this volume. But every succeeding year brings with it an augmentation of the price at which it is sold. It has in turn become as rare as the works it sought to preserve from oblivion. The narratives relate principally to the "Dark and Bloody Ground," but a few entitle the work to a place in the "Ohio Bibliography," among them, "Dr. Knight and John Slover's Narratives" which give an account of the death of Col. Crawford. "Adventures of Jackson Johonnot," "Harmer's Defeat," "General Wilkinson's Expedition," "St. Clair's Defeat," "Wayne's Campaign" and Col. James Smith's Captivity."

A criticism of this work will be found in the Western Review, Vol. 3. page 328.

Travels to the Westward of the Allegany Mountains, in the States of Ohio, Kentucky and Tennessee. and return to Charlestown, through the Upper Carolinas; containing details on the present State of Agriculture, and the Natural Productions of these countries; as well as information relative to the commercial connections of these States with those to the Eastward of the Mountains, and with Lower Louisiana. Undertaken in the year 1802 under auspices of His Excellency M. Chaptal, Minister of the Interior. With a very correct Map of the States in the Centre, West and South of the United States. By F. A. Michaux, M. D. Faithfully Translated from the Original French, by B. Lambert.

LONDON: J. Mawman, 1805. [822]

8vo. pp. xvi+350 and Map.

 This, generally known as "Mawman's Edition" is the best edition of Michaux's Work, and contains a map not issued in the second edition, published the same year. The zest with which Michaux describes some of the wonders of the West in this brief and discursive journal is as pleasant as his intelligent discussion of economical facts, and puritan domesticity in the East. He found delightful companions in the trees, and charming hospitality among the flowers, and he gave to his countrymen a correct and impressive idea of the products and promise of the Great West, but more especially of Ohio and Kentucky.

MILLER (ANDREW).

New States and Territories, or Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, Missouri, Louisiana, Mississippi and Alabama, in their Real Characters in 1818. Showing in a new and short way, the situation, size, number of inhabitants, Whites and Indians—the number of Counties, Villages, Printing Offices, Banks, Factories, Furnaces, Forges, Mills &c, of each; and the name, situation, extent, and number of Inhabitants of each County, with its County-Town and number of Houses &c, in each, by a MAP TABLE. Also a description of the Rivers, Roads, Settlements, qualities and prices of Lands; the Timber, Water, Climate, Diseases, prices of Produce, Stock and Goods—and the advantages and disadvantages of each, and of their peculiar parts; and of the new parts of York State, Pennsylvania, Virginia and Kentucky: with a few words concerning the impositions and difficulties experienced in moving, settling &c. By Andrew Miller.

Printed for the benefit of Emigrants and others, intending to visit the Western Country, 1819. [826]

32mo. pp. 96 and Table.

 Rich says this book was printed in Keene, N. H.

All the above is supposed to be found in these 96, 32mo., pages. The book is quite a curiosity in its way; we have never seen but this one copy, which lacks the "Map Table." Pages 8–13 are on Ohio; 13–30 Miami Country; 30–34 Scioto Country; 34–42 Muskingum Country: 42–55 New Connecticut.

MILLER (FRANCIS W.)

Cincinnati's Beginnings. Missing Chapters in the Early History of the City and the Miami Purchase: chiefly from hitherto unpublished documents. By Francis W. Miller.

CINCINNATI: Peter G. Thomson, Publisher, 1880. [828]

An exceedingly interesting and valuable work. It is rather a history of the "Miami Purchase," than of Cincinnati. The first nine chapters give a full and connected account of the origin and progress of the first attempt to plant settlements in what was then known as the "Miami Country." The larger part of the book, and perhaps the most valuable as material for history, is the appendix, consisting of letters and extracts upon topics of general interest relative to the Miami Country, dating from 1789 to 1799. They consist mainly of letters from John Cleves Symmes the original proprietor, to his associate, Jonathan Dayton; all relate to the complicated affairs of the new purchase and its management, and here for the first time appear in print.

MITCHELL (JOSEPH).

The Missionary Pioneer, or a Brief Memoir of the Life, Labours and Death of John Stewart, (man of colour,) founder, under God of the Mission among the Wyandotts at Upper Sandusky, Ohio. Published by Joseph Mitchell. NEW YORK: Printed by J. C. Totten, No. 9 Bowery 1827. [839]

24mo. pp. 96.

 A record of interesting incidents connected with the formation of the Wyandot Mission, through the agency of John Stewart. This remarkable man was a negro, born in Powhatan county, Virginia; he believed that he was called by Divine authority to preach the Gospel to the Pagan Indians of the Northwest. He made his way through the wildnerness from Marietta on foot, without guide or knowledge, of the country, and scarcely knowing when his journey was to end. He arrived among the Wyandots at Upper Sandusky, during the progress of one of their savage feasts, and gained their good will, by his fervent manner and mild zeal. He remained among them for seven years, being completely successful in his labors, which were finally recognized by the Methodist Church in 1820. The life and labors of this extraordinary man are rivalled only by those of the early Jesuit missionaries.

Extended details of the work of Stewart will be found in the third chapter of "Finley's History of the Wyandot Mission," also, in "Life among the Indians," pp. 233–282 by the same author.

Local History, Growth of Ohio in Population, Political Power, Wealth and Intelligence. Edited by C. H. Mitchener, of the New Philadelphia (Ohio) Bar.

DAYTON, OHIO: Thomas W. Odell, Publisher, 1876. [840]

8*vo. pp.* viii—358.

 This volume differs from other histories of Ohio in general and detail; it omits tedious generalizations, and confines itself to facts and incidents calculated to interest and enlighten the reader; the editor has arranged it so as to be interesting as well as instructive.

The stone, cave, mound, and fort history as left by the ancient races in these valleys, is based on the theory that the first of mankind, who sojourned in what is now Ohio, came to these valleys from the north-east highlands, and that in the progress of time, other races approximating a higher civilization, entered the valleys from different directions, and left their monuments in mounds, etc.—more enduring than the pyramids.

Then the legendary history of the Indians is sketched, with their traditions, almost as ancient as the mound history. These are followed by the white explorers, LaSalle, Gist, Rogers, etc., with narratives of captives taken in war, legends and traditions; then come the missionaries, a century ago, and their efforts to convert the heathen for thirty years.

The first settlements in eastern Ohio, and at Marietta, are next described, with accounts of the Indian wars that followed, and incidents and adventures of Putnam, Heckewelder and their associates in founding the State. The work then concludes with copious statistical matter which will be valuable to the future historian. Unfortunately the work has no Index, which is an unpardonable neglect in a modern historical work.

In this connection we wish to call attention to an interesting Map of the Muskingum Region, from the Journal of Gen. Bouquet, which may be found in a French publication, "St. John's Letters d' un Cultivateur Americain," Vol. 3, p. 413, Paris, 1787.

MONETTE (JOHN W.)

History of the Discovery and Settlement of the Valley of the Mississippi, by the three great European Powers, Spain, France, and Great Britain, and the subsequent occupation, settlement, and extension of Civil Government, by the United States, until the year 1846. By John W. Monette, M. D. In Two Volumes.

NEW YORK: Harper & Brothers, Publishers, 1846. [842]

8vo. Vol. 1, pp. xxiii+567, with 2 Maps and 1 Plate; Vol. 2, pp. xv+595, with Map and 5 Plates.

 Some copies bear the date 1848.

A work of great value to the historical and political student; the result of the careful researches of many years; it is the only systematic arrangement of this portion of the history of the United States, and can be fully relied on for adherence to truth and accuracy.

The first volume is principally occupied with a relation of the French and Spanish discovery of the Territory, and the association of the colonial governments of these nations with the Indians, and their wars with the various tribes inhabiting it. Much of the largest portion of Vol. 2 is devoted to a narration of the Indian wars of the States bordering the Ohio. Chapter I is entitled "Manners and Customs of the Frontier Population." Chapter II "Indian Warfare and its effects upon the Frontier People." Chapters III, IV and V, "Indian hostilities upon the Ohio." Chapter IX, "Extension of the First White Settlements across the Ohio, 1787 to 1794." Chapter XI, "Indian Wars and Military Operations North of the Ohio River, 1787 to 1795." The book is now out of print and scarce.

Fisher, 1866, $8.00; Boon, 1870, $10.00; Field, 1875, $9.50; Drake, 1876, $6.00; M. Thomas & Son, Phila., 1880, $10.00; Priced, N. Y., 1878, $10.00; Cin'ti, 1878, $12.00.

 An extremely rare work. On pp. 1 to 39 the author gives a narrative of the incidents of his hazardous expedition against Pontiac, in which he was made prisoner by the Indians; this expedition was made under the direction and command of General Bradstreet, and his course was up the Maumee River, which he ascended in a canoe.

The original journal is in the London Archives. Further particulars are given in Morris' Letter to Bradstreet; in the MSS. of Sir William Johnson, now in the New York State Library, and in Parkman's Pontiac, Vol. II, page 195, note.

MORRIS (THOMAS).

The Life of Thomas Morris: Pioneer and long a Legislator of Ohio, and U. S. Senator from 1833 to 1839, Edited by his son, B. F. Morris.

CINCINNATI: Printed by Moore, Wilstach, Keys and Overend. 1856. [855]

12mo. pp. 408.

 Judge Morris was born in Virginia, 1866, and died near Bethel, Ohio, 1844. He emigrated to the Ohio Valley at the age of 19 and settled near the present site of Cincinnati, but afterwards removed to Clermont county in 1800.

In its prominent features the work is anti-slavery; presenting the rise and progress of the sentiment of Freedom, to the ascendancy of which, Thomas Morris gave an important impulse. It is also a brief historical record of the early settlement and legislation of Ohio, with which Mr. Morris was prominently and intimately identified.

An eulogium on the life and character of the late Hon. Thomas Morris, by W. H. Brisbane, M. D., was published, Cincinnati: printed by L'Hommedieu & Co., 1845, 8vo. pp. 38.

OHIO VALLEY. Early Discoveries in the Ohio Valley. [See North American Review, July 1839.] [890]

OHIO Valley Historical Series.

CINCINNATI: Robert Clarke & Co. Publishers, 1868–71. [891]

8 vols. 8*vo.*

Of each work comprising this series, 250 copies were printed on small, and 50 on large paper, except the "Miscellanies" of which only 25 were printed on large paper.

The publication, owing to a lack of support, ceased with number 7. It is the most valuable series of works relating to the early history of the Valley of the Ohio, and consists of the publication of hitherto unpublished manuscripts, and reprints of some of the early works on Western History which are out of print and rare. The entire series was ably edited by Mr. Robert Clarke, whose valuable notes and additions anonymously adorn many of the volumes. The following is a complete list as issued; [for complete titles of those relating to Ohio, see under author's names].

I. An Historical account of the Expedition against the Ohio Indians, in the year 1764, under the command of Henry Bouquet. By Dr. William Smith.

II. History of Athens county, Ohio, and incidentally of the Ohio Land Company, and the first settlement of the State, at Marietta. By Charles M. Walker.

III. Colonel George Rogers Clark's Sketches of his Campaign in the Illinois, in 1778–9.

IV. Pioneer Biography: Sketches of the lives of some of the early settlers of Butler county, Ohio. By James McBride. 2 vols.

V. An account of the remarkable occurences in the life and travels of Colonel James Smith, (now a citizen of Bourbon county, Kentucky) during his captivity among the Indians, in the years 1755, '56, '57, '58 and '59.

VI. Pioneer Life in Kentucky: a series of reminiscential Letters addressed to his children. By Dr. Daniel Drake.

VII. Miscellanies: containing, 1, Memorandums of a tour in Ohio and Kentucky by Josiah Espy; 2, Two Western Campaigns in the War of 1812–13, by Samuel Williams; 3. The Leatherwood God.

OLDEN TIME (The). A Monthly Publication, devoted to the Preservation of Documents and other Authentic Information in relation to the Early Explorations and the Settlement and Improvement of the Country, around the Head of the Ohio. Edited by Neville B. Craig Esq.

PITTSBURGH: Published by J. W. Cook, at his Literary Depot, Fourth Street. 1846, 1848. [892]

2 vols. 8*vo.* Vol. 1. Title and Index viii+pp. 576. Vol. 2, Title and Index iv+pp. 572, Map and Plate.

 The object of the "Olden Time," was to re-publish various interesting papers in relation to the early history of the country; it however, contains much original matter not to be found elsewhere. The publication was discontinued at the end of volume 2. During the publication of Vol. 2, the parts were issued at irregular intervals; in several cases, three months elapsing between them; to this, in part, we assign the cause of the scarcity of complete sets, which now sell at high prices, considering that the publication is of so recent a date. Perfect copies contain a fac-simile at Vol. 1, page 289, and a folded map of "Braddock's Route" at page 529, vol. 2. The work is indirectly connected with the History of Ohio, in almost every particular.

OLDEN TIME (The); A Monthly Publication, devoted to the Preservation of Documents and other Authentic Information in relation to the Early Explorations and the Settlement and Improvement of the Country around the Head of the Ohio. Edited by Neville B. Craig Esq.

PITTSBURGH: Printed by Dumars & Co. Chronicle Buildings, 1846. Cincinnati: Reprinted by Robert Clarke & Co. 1876. [893]

2 vols. 8*vo.* vol. 1, pp. 582+Errata 1 page. vol. 2, pp. 580.

 A reprint of the original edition of this valuable, and heretofore rare work. Mr. Craig, in editing this work, instead of undertaking the task of the Historian, by forming, from the documents in his possession, a connected history of the early struggles for the settlement and development of this portion of the West, wisely preferred to let the actors speak for themselves. The result, is an exceedingly valuable collection of rare documents and other materials, preserved in the best form for the use of future historians.

The index alone will convey an idea of the richness of this collection. Among many others, the following may be enumerated: Washington's Journals of 1753, 1754 and 1770; Frederick Post's Journal from Philadelphia to the Ohio, 1758; George Croghan's Journal, 1765; General Richard Butler's Journal to the Falls of the Ohio, 1785; Arthur Lee's Journal, to the Northwestern Indians 1785; a large number of articles relating to the Indians, etc. Two early books are reprinted entire in its pages; Smith's "Account of General Bouquet's Expedition against the Ohio Indians in 1764," and "A memorial, containing a summary view of facts, with their authorities, in answer to the observations sent by the English Ministry to the Courts of Europe." Though there were three editions of this latter work published, it is among the scarce American books, and is very valuable as giving the French view of the situation in the West at that time.

Mr. Craig was peculiarly fitted for such an undertaking. No one could bring to thetask projected, a keener spirit of research, or more cultivated taste for archæological pursuits than he. Born in the redoubt built by Colonel Bouquet, in 1764, his life, extending to more than three score and ten, was spent within rifle-shot of the place of his birth. A full and accurate index accompanies this edition, which greatly enhances its value.

OLDFIELD (J.) [Pseud?]

"'Tother side of Ohio," or a Review of a "Poem in Three Cantos." By J. Oldfield.

HARTFORD: Published by S. G. Goodrich, for the Author, 16*mo. pp.* 40. 1863. [894]

 The poem of which the above is an answer, seems to have been a description in verse of the "pleasant land of Ohio." In his answer, the author portrays the country in the darkest colors, and points out the disadvantages and effects of emigration on the happiness of those who leave their homes for a wilderness.

ONDERDONK (HENRY U.)

An Answer to the Letter addressed to the Author by the Wardens and Vestry of Christ Church, Cincinnati. By Henry U. Onderdonk, Rector of St. Ann's Church, Brooklyn.

 This scarce little work was published by a committee of the Shaker Elders. The first part is intended to show that the society had nothing to do with Eunice Chapman, or the Legislature, but merely to ward off the the "slander and persecution of this extraordinary woman." The second part is an answer to a pamphlet of Mary Dyer, of New Hampshire, which pamphlet is given in full as originally published in Lebanon, Ohio, 1818. The third part is an answer to certain publications mostly written under the signature of Abraham Van Vleet, at that time editor of the "Western Star," in which paper they were generally published.

COLUMBUS: J. H. Ripley & Co. Publishers, 1850. [899]

8vo. pp. viii+160.

 The General Assembly of Virginia, at their session commencing on the 20th of October 1783, passed an act, authorizing their delegates in Congress to convey to the United States all the right of that commonwealth to the Territory Northwest of the Ohio river. This act of cession contained the following reservation: "That in case the quantity of land on the Southeast side of the Ohio, upon the waters of Cumberland river, and between the Green and Tennessee rivers, which have been reserved by law for the Virginia troops upon continental establishment, should prove insufficient for these legal bounties, the deficiency should be made up to the said troops in good lands, between the Scioto and Little Miami."

The land embraced in this reservation constitutes the Virginia Military District in Ohio. In this work the author fully limits the boundary of this district, and analyzes numerous cases at law that have arisen in the disputed territory.

[PAINE (THOMAS).]

Public Good, being an examination into the Claim of Virginia to the Vacant Western Territory, and of the Right of the United States to the Same.  Each volume contains a full Index, except vol. 2, which was published without it. This valuable magazine, which was published semi-annually, relates entirely to the War of 1812, and covers the period 1812–14, inclusive. It is a very complete collection of official documents of that period, which are so arranged as to show at one view, both the British and American statements. The historian of the War of 1812, in the Northwest, will find these volumes of the greatest service, containing as they do, only the official documents.

PITTSBURGH: Published by the Author 1843. [911]

8*vo. pp.* x+311 and Map.

 This is a highly interesting and rare book of Western History. The author was assisted by Neville B. Craig, Esq., and Colonel A. J. Faulk, in the collection of materials for the work. It is a perfectly reliable narrative of events in the West, arranged chronologically from the earliest discoveries of the French to Wayne's victory. The events detailed, relate principally to the Western part of Pennsylvania, in the neighborhood of Fort Pitt, but it contains some valuable information, in regard to the Indians and early settlements in Ohio. We name the principal—"Ohio Land Company," pp. 40—47, "Washington's Journey," pp. 48–62, "Bouquet's March into Ohio," pp. 159, "Col. Broadhead's Campaign against the Ohio Indians," pp. 249, "James Smith's Captivity," pp. 187. "Crawford's Campaign," pp. 253–273, "Harmar's Campaign," "St. Clair's Expedition," "Wayne's Victory."

Annals of the West: Embracing a concise account of the Principal Events, which have occurred in the Western States and Territories, from the discovery of the Mississippi Valley to the year 1845. Compiled from the most authentic sources by James H. Perkins.

CINCINNATI: Published by James R. Albach 1846. [921]

8vo. pp. xx+592 and 3 Maps.

 This is the first edition of the "Annals of the West," which owed its existence to the industry and persevering research of Mr. Perkins. In it, the incidents are briefly related, and with the exception of the Indian Wars of 1790–95, no subject treated, receives a full development. A chronological table, an index and three maps, illustrating the early settlements are added to this edition.

A second edition, revised and enlarged, was published in St. Louis, in 1850, under the name of J. M. Peck, [which see]; and a third edition, an enlargement of the two former, was published in Pittsburgh, in 1857, by James R. Albach, [which see].

PIDGEON (WILLIAM).

Traditions of De-Coo-Dah, and Antiquarian Researches; comprising Extensive Explorations, Surveys and Excavations of the Wonderful and Mysterious earthen remains of the Mound Builders in America; the Traditions of the Last Prophet of the Elk Nation relative to their Origin and Use; and the evidences of an Ancient Population more numerous than the present Aborigines. By William Pidgeon. Embellished with Seventy Engravings, descriptive of one hundred and twenty varying relative arrangements—forms of earthen effigies, antique sculpture etc.

NEW YORK: Published by Horace Thayer, 1853. [925]

8vo. pp. 334, Folding Plate and Large Map.

 This work professes to give an account of the Mound-Builders in America. De-coo-dah was an aged chief of the Sioux Nation, from whom the author claims to have received much valuable information. He made personal examination of a large number of mounds and fortifications, and although an uneducated man, entirely unfamiliar with science, he has added considerable information to our knowledge of aboriginal antiquities. Mixed with the real, however, is a large amount of unreliable tradition, and the work must be read with care and discrimination.

About one fourth of the work relates to the antiquities in Ohio, and the numerous plates afford very clear illustrations of the works themselves.

The following is the opinion of Wills DeHass, the author of "Indian Wars in Western Virginia," regarding this work, and which here appears in print for the first time: "If the 'traditions of De-coo-dah' are to be received as the actual views of a real 'live Indian,' and not a myth, then are we to regard them as more the vagary of a very imaginative chieftain, than the utterance of an oracle. The 'traditions' are a novelty in their line, they may serve to amuse, but not instruct in American Archæology. The earth-works described, particularly those of the Northwest, do not belong to the class of true antiquities; De-coo-dah may speak correctly of his red brethren, but he knows nothing of the origin, history or purposes of the older class of antiquities. The descriptions of the works at Grave Creek, Marietta, Newark, Paint Creek, etc., etc., are meagre in the extreme. . . . The writer of this volume I knew well, he visited Washington in 1851–2, and induced Prof. Henry, of the Smithsonian Institution, to undertake the publication of material composing this volume. Prof. H. turned the matter over to myself, requesting me to put the work in form for publication. I consented, and had entered upon its preparation for the press, when I became satisfied of the crudity of Mr. Pidgeon's observations and deductions, and declined the work, and the Smithsonian the publication. The traditions of De-coo-dah, I regard as measurably fabulous."

 Reprinted from the North American Review of April, 1876.

On the 13th of July, 1787, the Congress of the Old Confederation, sitting in New York, passed "An Ordinance for the Government of the Territory, Northwest of the River Ohio," which has passed into history as the "Ordinance of 1787," and which in breadth of conceptions, its details, and its results, has been perhaps the most notable instance of legislation, that was ever enacted by the Representatives of the American people.

Mr. Poole has given us a most able and interesting article on the "Ordinance," including an account of Dr. Manasseh Cutler.

The Second Journal of Christian Frederick Post. On a Message from the Governor of Pensilvania to the Indians on the Ohio.

LONDON: Printed for J. Wilkie, at the Bible and Sun, in St Paul's Churchyard MDCCLIX. [939]

12*mo. pp.* 67.

 This Second Journal of Post contains a continuation of his negotiations with the Indians on the Ohio, to withdraw them from the French interest, and bring about Peace. The journal of his first visit is given in "Thomson's Enquiry into the causes of the Alienation of the Delaware and Shawnee Indians from the British Interest," [which see].

Post had been long known to the Indians, and by a uniform upright conduct, obtained among them the character of an honest man, and his management and success, together with the fatigues and hazards he underwent, are narrated with the same artless simplicity that appears in his former journal. He was an unassuming, honest German, a Moravian. He came from Germany to Pennsylvania, in 1742. He returned to Europe, in 1749. He again revisited this country, and while at Bethlehem, was prevailed upon to carry a message to the Western Indians, and afterward attempted to convert the Indians in Ohio. He took up his abode about the year 1762, in Tuscarora Town, a hundred miles west of Fort Pitt, but failed in establishing a mission at this place He abandoned the project, and left this country for the bay of Honduras, to preach the gospel to the Musquito Indians, who were probably more tractable.

"It exhibits in a still stronger light the intrepidity and self-devotion of this noble Quaker. Since the days of Regulus, no more perilous mission has been undertaken by a single man. Braddock had been defeated, and eight hundred white soldiers slain. Forbes was preparing for his invasion of the Indian territory. Every step through the Wilderness, the most appalling dangers thickened around him. A hundred times were savage arms raised to destroy him, and a hundred times, by little less than miracles, the blows were averted. It is impossible to exaggerate the importance of the work he accomplished. By his persuasions he detached the Ohio Indians from the French interest, and the empire of that nation in the West fell."—Field's Essay.

POWNALL (THOMAS).

A Topographical Description of such parts of North America as are contained in the (Annexed) Map of the Middle British Colonies, &c, in North America. By T. Pownall, M. P. late Governor &c of his Majesty's Provinces of Massachusetts Bay and South Carolina, and Lieutenant Governor of New Jersey.

LONDON: Printed for J. Almon, opposite Burlington House in Piccadilly, 1776. [940]

Folio, Title and Preface, pp. vi+46+Appendix 16 and Map.

⁂ A republication of Lewis Evans' Map and Essay published in Philadelphia in 1755 [which see] with additions and corrections by Pownall.

Pownall says in his introduction that "a pirated copy of Evans' map, was in a most audacious manner, published by Jeffreys, and falsely sold as Evans' map improved, by which that very laborious and ingenious, but poor man, was deprived of the benefit of his work. Owing to the ignorance of the engraver it can scarcely be called a copy, and, as respects the face of the country, might as well be a map of the moon."

The work is principally valuable in connection with our subject, as containing in the Appendix:

"Extracts from the Journal of Captain Harry Gordon, chief engineer in the Western Department in North America, who was sent from Fort Pitt on the River Ohio, down the said river, etc., to the Illinois, in 1766."

"Journal of Christopher Gist down the Ohio River in 1750," [see under Gist.] Gist's Journal of 1750 was never published in any other form.

"Pownall's Topographical Description" is very scarce, and each year witnesses an increase in its price.

PRIEST (JOSIAH).
American Antiquities, and Discoveries in the West: Being an exhibition of the evidence that an Ancient Population of partially civilized nations differing entirely from those of the present Indians, peopled America, many centuries before its discovery by Columbus. And Inquiries into their origin, with a copious description of many of their stupendous Works, now in ruins. With Conjectures concerning what may have become of them. Compiled from Travels, Authentic Sources, and the researches of Antiquarian Societies. By Josiah Priest.
ALBANY: Printed by Hoffman and White 1838. [944] 8vo. pp. 400+Plate and Map.

 Priest was an uneducated man, by trade a harness maker. His book was composed apparently from the relations of travellers, and from the publications of Mr. Atwater and the Rev. Mr. Harris. The production, though highly amusing as a collection of wonders, does not rank as a work of authority. He has fortunately however, enlightened us in some cases ,as to the source from whence these fictions are derived. The Englishman, Ashe has palmed upon him at least two entire descriptions of his own manufacture; we refer to the grave near Marietta, with mats and hieroglyphics, and the cavity near Zanesville, containing metallic spheres.

Although an ignorant man, he made the discovery of the stump of a tree in Ohio, which Noah cut down in building the Ark, and estimates the distance it floated to Ararat. He made free use of everything that came in his way, and if an author failed to substantiate his wild conjectures, he altered his words to suit—especially was this true in the case of Rafinesque.

The first edition of the Antiquities was printed in 1832, 2000 copies; the second of 5000 copies, followed immediately; the third edition of 5000 is dated 1833; fourth edition, 1834; fifth edition 1835; sixth edition 1841. It is asserted that 20,000 copies were printed for subscribers in thirty months.

Deeth, 1865, $2.25; Boon, 1870, $2.13; Green, 1871, $2.50; Wynne, 1875, $3.75; Field, 1875, $3.50; Goodwin, 1876, $2.62; Drake, 1876, $2.50; Priced, New York, 1875, $3.25; Cincinnati, 1877, $3.50.

PRITTS (J.)

PRITTS (J.)

Mirror of Olden Time Border Life; Embracing a History of the Discovery of America, of the landing of our forefathers at Plymouth, and of their most remarkable engagements with the Indians in New England from their first landing, in 1620, until the final subjugation of the Natives, in 1679. Also, History of Virginia, embracing its first settlement, the progressive movements of civilization and the establishment of civil government, and a narrative of the long continued, and bloody struggle between the white settlers, and Indians in North-Western Virginia, Kentucky, &c. &c. Including accounts of all the battles from the beginning, to the decisive blow by Gen. Wayne, and consequent peace. Also, History of the early settlement of Pennsylvania, Penn's Treaty with the Indians, and the subsequent warfare which marked the efforts to settle the interior, with devastation, blood and suffering until the final establishment of Peace. To which are added Personal Narratives of Captivities and Escapes, of strange and thrilling adventures, personal prowess &c. &c. Together with numerous Sketches of Frontier Men, the remarkable achievements and incidents in their career —with numerous miscellaneous sketches of daring deeds, remarkable events &c. &c. Compiled from authentic sources by J. Pritts, Chambersburg Pa.

PROSPECTUS pour l'etablissement sur les Rivieres d'Ohio et de Scioto en Amerique.

[PARIS: De l'Imprimere de Prault, 1789.] [956]

4to. Half title, pp. 16+Appendix pp. 14+Supplement pp. 3 and Map and Table.

 The map shows the location of the lands belonging to the Ohio and Scioto Companies. The Table shows the times at which the payments for the lands are to be made. So little being known in regard to the Scioto Company, I have deemed it of interest to give the following note, contributed by Mr. John M. Newton, of the Mercantile Library, Cincinnati.

The origin of the Scioto Company is quite obscure. After the Revolution, the United States found themselves quite poor and unable to pay their debts. Congress had issued to officers and soldiers certificates of indebtedness, called indents. As the government could not cash these indents, they depreciated so much as to be worth but ten cents on the dollar. Many of the officers and soldiers therefore came out of the war ruined. Congress sitting at New York, in 1787, had admitted the Territory Northwest of the River Ohio, and could pay their indebtedness in land. A number of New England officers formed themselves into a company at Boston, called the Ohio Company, and sent Rev. Manasseh Cutler and Winthrop Sargent as their agents to the Congress, to obtain as large an amount of land as they could for the indents which they held. Cutler kept a journal in which he says, date of July 20, 1787: "Colonel Duer came to me with proposals from a number of the principal characters of the city to extend our contract and take in another company, but that it should be kept a profound secret." This other company was taken in, and all difficulties in the way were removed. The Ohio Company made a contract to purchase about five millions of acres, and Duer and associates organized another company which contracted from the Ohio Company, for one and one-half millions. These contracts were simply a right to purchase, for the money was not as now paid over to the United States. The Ohio Company paid in indents and made settlements at Marietta, Ohio, and vicinity, while the Trustees of the Scioto Company, William Duer, Royal Flint and Andrew Craigie sent Joel Barlow, the revolutionary poet, to Europe, to sell lands for which they had contracted to buy, but which had not yet been bought. Barlow went first to London, but could not succeed there, and then went to Paris in the summer of 1789. In July of that year, the Bastile was taken. Society was greatly disturbed. Many feared the total destruction of their property, and at this crisis, Barlow, with the aid of William Playfair, composed and sent out this prospectus glowing with the advantages which a state of nature and a virgin soil afforded the occupant. Ships were to take the purchasers over the sea, habitations and a year's provisions would be given them. In exchange they were to pay about sixty-five cents an acre. Had indents remained at the great state of depreciation of ten cents on the dollar, all would have worked well. Barlow would have remitted the amount of his sales to Duer, who would have bought up the indents at the lowest figure, would have paid Congress, and the Scioto Company would have made a large amount; but unfortunately for it, as soon as the States formed a confederation, Holland stepped in, and began to buy largely all our government certificates; these of course quickly arose in value, and the Scioto Company was ruined, and likewise ruined about five hundred French emigrants, who had crossed the sea, trusting to the promises held out in the prospectus. Duer and Craigie lost all they had, and the former died a prisoner for debt. In five years from the time when the contract was made with our Congress, the Scioto Company was not in existence, and no one could be found in answer to a demand which Congress made, who ever knew anything about it, or ever had any connection with it.

REPLY (A) to the Statement of John Cleves Symmes, addressed to a Committee of Congress, January 30th, 1802, and published in the Western Spy, October 19th, 1803; Respecting the Reserved Township.

CINCINNATI: Printed by Joseph Carpenter. [1804.?] [971]

16mo. pp. 67.

 The "Statement" itself, as originally published in the Western Spy, by John Cleves Symmes, is here given in full, pp. 2–7, and is entitled "A Statement of the facts respecting the College Township at Miami, and some remarks thereon." The reply is written by the proprietors of the College Township, and occupies pp. 7–67; it was intended to correct the "false impression" Symmes' statement tended to produce. The question was finally decided in favor of the proprietors.

This is one of the first books printed in Cincinnati, and we believe the present copy to be unique. It is contained in the library of the "Ohio Historical and Philosophical Society," Cincinnati.

REPLY of the Vestry St Paul's Church, Cincinnati, to the Statement of the Rector, read by him to the Congregation on Whitsunday, as to the Causes which led to his Resignation.

ROGERS (ROBERT).

Journals of Major Robert Rogers: containing an Account of the several Excursions he made under the Generals who commanded upon the Continent of North America during the late War. From which may be collected the most material Circumstances of every Campaign upon that Continent, from the Commencement to the Conclusion of the War. LONDON: Printed for the Author, MDCCLXV. [996]

8vo. pp. viii—236+Advertisement, 1 page unnumbered.

 Another edition was published in Dublin, in 1769, 16mo. pp. x+218. The Journal of this celebrated ranger affords us many interesting details of border warfare in the French and Indian War. The last page (237) is unnumbered, and entitled "Advertisement;" it announces a continuation, or second part of the Journal, which never appeared.

The author, a native of New Hampshire, was, in 1760, after the close of the French and Indian War, instructed to take possession of the Western forts, still held by the French. He proved himself fully equal to the hazardous undertaking, and with his small band of two hundred rangers secured Detroit, and the other Forts in the Northwest. His followers returned to the East via. Lake Erie, and Rogers through Ohio, via. the Sandusky and Tuscarawas Trail, to Fort Pitt, and from thence to Philadelphia, where he arrived, February 14th, 1761. His subsequent career proved him a restless and unprincipled man. He died in obscurity in England about 1800.

ROGERS (ROBERT).

Journals of Major Robert Rogers: containing an Account of the Several Excoursions he made under the Generals who commanded upon the Continent of North America, during the late War. From which may be collected the most material Circumstances of every Campaign upon that Continent, from the commencement to the conclusion of the War. To Which is Added: An Historical Account of the Expedition against the Ohio Indians in the Year 1764, under the command of Henry Bouquet Esq; Colonel of Foot, and now Brigadier General in America, including his Transactions with the Indians, relative to the delivery of Prisoners, and the Preliminaries of Peace. With an Introductory Account of the Preceding Campaign, and Battle of Bushy Run.

DUBLIN: Printed by R. Acheson, for J. Milliken, 1769.

16mo. pp. x+218+xx+99. [997]

 A reprint of the above, with the addition of Smith's account of Bouquet's Expedition, which, however, has a separate title and is paged independently. The edition of Bouquet has frequently passed for a distinct work, from the fact of its being divided from Rogers' Journals and bound separately.

Boon, 1870, $7.00; Priced, Cin'ti, 1875, $5.00.

RONDTHALER (EDWARD).

Life of John Heckewelder. By the Rev. Edward Rondthaler, of Nazareth, Pa. Edited by B. H. Coates, M. D.

PHILADELPHIA: Townsend Ward, 45 South Fourth Street. 1847. [1004]

12mo. pp. 149 and Portrait.

 This is a really important document in the historical sense, and possesses in addition, the interest of the wildest romance.

Pages 11–25, "A Vindication of the Rev. Mr. Heckewelder's History of the Indian Nations, by William Rawle," from the Memoirs of the Historical Society of Pennsylvania, Vol. 1, page 258. This was published in answer to an attack upon Mr. Heckewelder's character for intelligence and historical authority, which appeared in the North American Review.

The memoir of Heckewelder, as originally written by Rondthaler, and revised by the Philadelphia editor from his manuscript, occupies pp. 29–149.

 A sensational novel of no historical value whatever, notwithstanding the statement of its being a "faithful delineation," of the Queen City.

[RUPP (I. DANIEL).]

Early History of Western Pennsylvania, and of the West, and of Western Expeditions and Campaigns from 1754 to 1833. By a Gentleman of the Bar. With an Appendix, containing besides copious extracts from important Indian Treaties, Minutes of Conferences, Journals, etc., a Topographical Description of the Counties of Allegheny, Westmoreland, Washington, Somerset, Greene, Fayette, Beaver, Butler, Armstrong, etc. Illustrated by Several Drawings.

PITTSBURG PA.: Daniel W. Kauffman. Harrisburg, Pa. William O. Hickok, 1846. [1007]

8vo. 2 Folding Plans, pp. 352+Appendix, 406+Contents of Appendix iv+Index vi.

 The "Early history of Western Pennsylvania," occupies pp. 17–163, "Early history of the West," pp. 164–352. They are very judicious and interesting compilations, made up from all available sources. The Appendix, which is by far the larger part of the volume occupies pp. 3–406 of the second part; it contains much valuable matter; among other articles: The Ohio Company, p. 3. George Croghan's Journal p. 50. Post's First Journal, p. 75. Post's Second Journal, p. 99. Bouquet's Journal p. 143. Harmar's Expedition, p. 225. St. Clair's Expedition, p. 233–239. Washington's Journal, p. 392.

Mr. I. Daniel Rupp, still living (1876) in Lancaster, Pennsylvania, aged 72, has the credit of being the compiler of the above excellent work. By reference to the "Historical Magazine," for February, 1871, will be found a Biographical Sketch of Mr. Rupp, by Dr. Wm. H. Egle, of Harrisburg, also a list of the local histories written by him.

SAFFORD (WILLIAM H.) The Life of Harman Blennerhassett. Comprising an Authentic Narrative of the Burr Expedition: and containing many additional facts not heretofore published. By William H. Safford.

CHILLICOTHE, O.: Ely, Allen & Looker 1850. [1009]

12*mo. pp.* 239 and Plate.

 Another edition was published from the same plates, with the imprint, Cincinnati: Moore, Wilstach & Keys, 1853.

In 1796, Blennerhasset arrived in America from England, and settled on an island in the Ohio river, below Parkersburgh, where he built an elegant residence, furnished with taste and elegance. Burr was his guest in 1805, and succeeded in involving him in his treasonable schemes. He invested largely in boats, provisions, arms and ammunition, left his home and friends, and went to Kentucky. Warned of Burr's real designs, he returned to his home, greatly disheartened, but, through Burr's solicitations, and the persuasions of his wife, he persisted.

His property was seized and sold, and he was prosecuted as an accomplice of Burr, but was discharged, broken in mind, and bankrupt. He was subsequently a cotton planter, removed to Montreal, in 1819, and practiced law, but in 1822, removed to the West Indies, and died in 1831.

For a critical review of this work, see North American Review, Vol. 79, page 297.

Mr. Safford also collected the "Blennerhassett Papers," 8vo. pp. 665, Cincinnati, 1864, these embody a memoir of Blennerhassett, and the unpublished correspondence of Burr, Alston, Dayton, Emmett, Theodosia Burr, Mrs. Blennerhassett and others, developing the purposes of the Wilkinson & Burr Revolution.

ST. CLAIR (ARTHUR).

A Narrative of the Manner in which the Campaign against the Indians, in the year one thousand seven hundred and ninety-one, was conducted, under the command of Major General St. Clair, together with his Observations on the Statements of the Secretary of War, and the Quartermaster General, relative thereto, and the Reports of the Committees appointed to inquire into the Causes of the failure thereof: Taken from the files in the House of Representatives in Congress.

PHILADELPHIA: Printed by Jane Aitken, 1812. [1012]

8vo. pp. xix+273+Subscribers' Names 10 leaves,+Additional Subscribers' Names, 2 leaves.

 A history of St. Clair's unfortunate campaign, which resulted in a terrible defeat, and the slaughter of eight hundred soldiers by the Ohio Indians. The author has endeavored to vindicate himself from what he terms "the bitter calumnies, gross misrepresentations, and vile falsehoods, spread abroad to every region by means of public prints, and every species of misconduct was attributed to me."

"St. Clair's voluminous defense is rendered nugatory and futile by the passionate ejaculations of Washington, when Major Denny called him from a dinner-party to announce the defeat. Overcome with surprise and indignation, Washington cursed the beaten general with exceeding fervor, adding: 'Did not my last words warn him against a surprise.'"—Field.

An account of St. Clair's campaign will also be found in the "Western Review," Vol. 3, p. 58.

SCOTT (JAMES L.)

A Journal of a Missionary Tour through Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Iowa, Wiskonsin and Michigan; comprising a concise description of different Sections of Country; Health of Climate; Inducements for Emigration with the embarrassments; the Religious condition of the People; Meetings connected with the Mission; and of the Great Western Prairies. By Rev. James L. Scott.

PROVIDENCE: Published by the Author, 1843. [1030]

12mo. pp. viii—203.

 Pages 9–70, relate entirely to Ohio. The book, which is written in a pleasant easy style, gives many interesting incidents, witnessed by the author during his itinerant life, and is valuable to the historian. It seldom occurs for sale, probably owing to a small edition, and the fact that it was published by the author.

SHAW (JOHN ROBERT).

A Narrative of the Life and Travels of John Robert Shaw, the Well Digger, now resident in Lexington Kentucky, Written by Himself.

LEXINGTON: Printed by Daniel Bradford, 1807. [1036]

12*mo. pp.* 180 and 6 Engravings.

One of the scarcest works on our list, but of no great value, historically. The author recites his adventures as a soldier in the Revolution, and subsequent residence in Pennsylvania. He was among the first settlers that came to Fort M'Intosh; was a soldier under St. Clair, and dug the first well in Cincinnati, at Fort Washington. Owing to his success in finding water, he was known among the early settlers at the "Water Witch." The plates,—a curiosity in themselves—represent "John R. Shaw as a Prodigal," "John R. Shaw as a soldier," etc. The copy which we examined is in the Cincinnati Public Library.

Priced, Cin'ti, 1875, $15.00.

SHERRARD (ROBERT A.)

A Narrative of the Wonderful Escapes and Dreadful Sufferings of Colonel James Paul, after the defeat of Col. Crawford, when that unfortunate commander, and many of his men, were inhumanly burnt at the stake, and others were slaughtered by other modes of torture known only to savages. By Robert A. Sherrard. Printed for J. Drake.

CINCINNATI: Spiller, Printer, 168 Vine Street 1869. [1040]

8*vo. pp.* 22.

Published first in the "Cincinnati Daily Times," July 3d, 1869, and reprinted in pamphlet form by Josiah Drake, of Cincinnati, a brother of Samuel G. Drake, the Historian of Boston.

The facts incidentally stated are, that Colonel Paul was the uncle of the late Judge Paul Torrence, the father of the present Mayor of the City of Cincinnati, (1869) and that he built on Brush Creek, in Adams county, the pioneer furnace of Southern Ohio, and that Colonel James Paul was born in 1757; his father, George Paul, moved on the farm in 1768, and died in 1778; and that Col. James Paul died July 9th, 1841, age eighty-four years, and that he was twenty-five years old at the time of Crawford's defeat, and was unmarried, are facts that might be thought of but little importance to some, but the future historian may regard them as of inestimable value.

SHIPHERD (JACOB R.)

History of the Oberlin-Wellington Rescue. Compiled by Jacob R. Shipherd. With an Introduction by Prof. Henry E. Peck, and Hon. Ralph Plumb.

BOSTON: Published by John P. Jewett & Co. 1859. [1041]

8vo. pp. viii+280.

 An extraordinary case, under the Fugative Slave Act. Wellington is located thirty-six miles southwest of Cleveland; Oberlin is nine miles north of Wellington. In January, 1856, a negro slave, called John, was missing from a plantation in Mason county, Kentucky. In August, 1856, a friend of the owner recognized John at Oberlin, and with the aid of friends from Kentucky arrested him with the intention of taking him back. They took him to Wellington, where he was rescued by a large body of persons from Oberlin and Wellington—hence the title. Thirty-seven of the rescuers were indicted by the State, and confined for many months in the Cleveland jail, while the trial progressed. They were finally acquitted and great was the rejoicing. The account of the affair is contained in 280 double column, solidly printed pages.

SMITH (JAMES).

An Account of the Remarkable Occurrences in the life and travels of Col. James Smith (now a Citizen of Bourbon County, Kentucky,) during his captivity with the Indians, in the years 1855, 56, 57, 58, & 59. In which the Customs, Manners, Traditions, Theological Sentiments, Mode of Warfare, Military Tactics, Discipline and Encampments, Treatment of Prisoners, &c. are better explained, and more minutely narrated, than has been heretofore done by any author on that subject. Together with a Description of the Soil, Timber and Waters, where he travelled with the Indians, during his captivity. To which is added, a Brief Account of some Very Uncommon Occurrences, which transpired after his return from captivity; as well as of the Different Campaigns carried on against the Indians to the Westward of Fort Pitt, since the year 1755, to the present date. Written by Himself.

LEXINGTON: Printed by John Bradford, on Main Street, 1799. [1055]

8vo. pp. 88.

 This is the original edition of Colonel Smith's narrative, and one of the rarest works of Western history. It is believed that there are not a dozen perfect copies in existence. He was a patriot in the strictest sense of the word, his whole life being devoted to the service of his country. Although a Kentuckian, his work is particularly allied to our subject, as the whole period of his captivity was passed in Ohio, and his observations on the soil, timber and waters, relate entirely to that State.

PHILADELPHIA: J. Grigg, No. 9 North Fourth Street, 18*mo. pp.* 162. 1831. [1056]

 This is an exact reprint of the original edition, and is also quite scarce. Some of the copies bear the date 1834.

Corner, 1866, $4.25; Priced, N. Y., 1876, $5.00.

SMITH (JAMES).

An account of the Remarkable Occurrences in the life and travels of, etc. With an Appendix of Illustrative Notes, by Wm. M. Darlington of Pittsburgh.

CINCINNATI: Robert Clarke & Co. 1870. [1057]

8*vo. pp.* vii+190.

 This reprint forms Vol. v, of the Ohio Valley Historical Series. It is the only edition with an Index, and its value is greatly increased by the notes of Mr. Darlington, whose knowledge of Western literature and history is unsurpassed. The biographical sketch of Colonel Smith, which precedes the work, is from the pen of Mr. Robert Clarke, of Cincinnati.

Smith's Captivity is also reprinted in "Pritt's Olden Time," pp. 385-454: "Events in Indian History," pp. 423-475, "Western Review," v. 4, p. 235.

SMITH (JAMES).

A Treatise on the Mode and Manner of Indian War, their Tactics, Discipline and Encampment, the various Methods they Practice, in order to obtain the Advantage, by Ambush, Surprise, Surrounding &c. Ways and Means proposed to prevent the Indians from obtaining the Advantage. A Chart or Plan of Marching, and Encamping, laid down, whereby we may undoubtedly surround them if we have men sufficient. Also—A Brief Account of Twenty-three Campaigns, carried on against the Indians with the Events since the year 1755; Gov. Harrisons included. By Col. James Smith. Likewise — Some Abstracts selected from his Journal, while in Captivity with the Indians, relative to the Wars: which was published many years ago, but few of them now to be found.

PARIS KENTUCKY: Printed by Joel R. Lyle, 1812. [1058]

12*mo. pp.* 1, 59.

 When the Indians became troublesome in 1811, and a general Indian War was expected, Colonel Smith, too old for actual service, but still having considerable of the old leaven of patriotism in him, wrote out and published the above treatise.

There is not much new matter in this volume. It is little more than those portions of his "captivity," relating to Indian warfare, rearranged and connected. No one can read it without being convinced of the wisdom of the tactics he suggests, and even of their applicability to Indian warfare in these later days.

This volume is excessively rare.

SMITH (JAMES).

Remarkable Occurrences lately discovered among the People called Shakers; of a Treasonable and Barbarous Nature; or Shakerism Developed. By James Smith.

PARIS, KY.: Printed by Joel R. Lyle, 1810. [1059]

8vo. pp. 24.

 In religious matters, Colonel Smith was an enthusiast; he was a member of the Presbyterian Church, and spent much of his time in his later years, as a missionary among the Indians. On his return from one of his missionary excursions into Tennessee, he found that his son James, had during his absence, joined the Shakers, and had gone with his family to a settlement which that sect had just formed on Turtle Creek, Ohio, (near Lebanon). He followed, "to see what sort of people they were," lived with them only a short time, but long enough to be disgusted with the whole fraternity. His son James, who before joining the Shakers "was naturally friendly, a dutiful son, a kind husband, and a tender father," seems to have changed his whole nature, and appeared to be divested of natural affection toward his wife, Polly, and other connections. She, on going to visit her relatives with her father-in-law, was advertised by her husband, as having left his "house and board without any just cause," and on her return, at the instigation of the elders, he refused to receive her, or allow her to see her children "without she should receive their testimony." Thus driven from the settlement, she returned to her friends in Kentucky. Colonel Smith was greatly exasperated at the conduct of his son, and opened his batteries on the leaders of the Shakers, exposing them socially, theologically and politically in the above pamphlet.

This work brought out a rejoinder by Richard McNemar, one of the Shaker leaders, and Colonel Smith again appeared in print in the following pamphlet:

SMITH (JAMES).

Shakerism Detected. Their erroneous and treasonous Proceedings, and false Publications, contained in Different Newspapers, Exposed to Public View, by the Depositions of Ten Different Persons, living in various parts of the States of Kentucky and Ohio, Accompanied with Remarks. By Col. James Smith of Kentucky.

PARIS KENTUCKY: Printed by Joel R. Lyle, 1810. [1060]

8vo. pp. 44.

 These pamphlets had no result so far as the son was concerned; he remained with the Shakers, and Colonel Smith spent the rest of his days, thus embittered by the unnatural conduct of his son, chiefly with his step-children, the Irvins, in Washington county, Kentucky, where he died in 1812.

The last sentence of the above pamphlet ends as follows: "When we consider the many falsehoods that have already been proved against them, and that their system is founded on falsehood and supported by secrecy and deceit, WHO CAN BELIEVE A SHAKER!!!

CINCINNATI: Printed by Brown & Looker, for the Author, 1813. [1062]

16mo. pp. xii—103+Contents 4 pp. unnumbered.

 One of the early books printed in Ohio.

"The author would notify the purchaser that he puts the price of one dollar on this book, well knowing that 75 cents would be enough for the common price of a book of this size; but those who do not chuse to allow him 25 cents for his advice, may desist from the purchase. He claims this 25 cents as a small compensation for the labor and observations of fifty years, etc."—Preface.

The only copy of this book we have met with, is in the collection of President Hayes, at Fremont, Ohio.

An Historical Account of the Expedition against the Ohio Indians, in the Year 1764. Under the Command of Henry Bouquet Esq.: Colonel of Foot, and now Brigadier General in America. Including his Transactions with the Indians, relative to the delivery of their prisoners, and the preliminaries of Peace. With an Introductory Account of the Preceding Campaign, and Battle at Bushy Run. To which are annexed Military Papers, containing Reflections on the war with the Savages; a method of forming frontier settlements; some account of the Indian country, with a list of nations, fighting men, towns, distances and different routs. The whole illustrated with a Map and Copperplates. Published from authentic Documents, by a Lover of his Country.

PHILADELPHIA: Printed and Sold by William Bradford, at the London Coffee-house, the corner of Market and Front-streets, MDCC.LXV. [1065]

4to. pp. xiii+71+Map and 2 plates.

 The original edition.

The authorship of this work has been ascribed to Thomas Hutchins, whose name is found on the plates, and with more propriety to Bouquet himself: The following extract, however, from Dr. Smith, to Sir William Johnson, dated Philadelphia, January 13, 1776, now in the Library of Congress, seems to decide the question: "I propose sending you a copy of Bouquet's Expedition to Muskingum, which I drew up from some papers he favored me with, and which is reprinted in England, and has had a very favorable reception."

This book is an authentic and reliable narrative of one of the earliest British military expeditions into the Territory northwest of the Ohio river. It narrates the details of the first victory, gained over Indian forces, by English troops, after the savages had been taught the use of fire-arms. The whole narrative is most entertaining for the interest of the subject, and for the quaintness of that highly literary style of the last century.

PITTSBURGH: Press of C. A. Scott, No. 6 Sixth St. 1875. [1089]

8vo. pp. 41.

 The Biographical Sketch is written by Isaac Smucker of Newark, Ohio. Rev. Cornelius Springer "The Pioneer of the Muskingum Valley" was born near Wilmington, Delaware, December 29, 1790. While yet in early childhood his father with all his family removed to the western borders of Virginia, and settled on the Grave Creek Flats, near the junction of the stream with the Ohio river, where they remained until 1806 when they settled in Ohio, a few miles west of Zanesville. Here Mr. S. resided until his death, which took place August 17, 1875.

SQUIER (E. G.) AND DAVIS (E. H.).

Ancient Monuments of the Mississippi Valley: comprising the results of extensive original Surveys and Explorations. By E. G. Squier, A. M., and E. H. Davis, M. D. Accepted for publication by the Smithsonian Institution, June, 1847. [General Title] Smithsonian Contributions to Knowledge, Vol. 1.

WASHINGTON: Published by the Smithsonian Institution, MDCCCXLVIII. [1094]

4to. pp. xxxix+306.

 Contains 48 full page illustrations and 207 woodcuts. This was the first systematic work published, with descriptions of the Mound-builders. Since its publication, other works bearing on the same subject, have borrowed largely from its pages. The work relates almost entirely to the Antiquities in Ohio. Its chief features are, a scientific arrangement, simplicity and directness of statement, with no attempt at mere speculation or theory. The lithographic plates and woodcuts, are handsomely executed. It will be an enduring monument to connect the names of the investigators, with the great subject of American Archæology. The book has been out of print for some years, and the Smithsonian Institution is now buying up all available copies.

Wynne, 1875, $17.00; Clogston, 1875, $20.00; Field, 1875, $22.00; Squire, 1876, $19.00; Priced, N. Y., 1874, $25.00; Priced, N. Y., 1878, $25.00; Cin'ti, 1880, $25.00.

8vo. Title+pp. 190.

 This work was written and published during the all-important contest between the French and English, for possession of the country, west of the Ohio River, and it relates almost entirely to that event. The principal subjects discussed are—Importance of the Ohio Country, and views of the French in their present proceedings—Some remarks on the Ohio affair—Exorbitant claims of the French examined. The work seems well and fairly written and furnishes some very useful information regarding the French encroachments on the Ohio.

RICHMOND: 1833. [1114]

 This memoir has been published only in the Virginia Historical Collections, of the first and only volume of which it forms pp. 35 to 68. It contains an interesting account of the battle of Point Pleasant on the Ohio, above the mouth of the Kanawha in 1778, between the Shawanees and the frontiersmen of Pennsylvania and Virginia, in which the whites were victorious. This battle is regarded by most historians, as one of the most sanguinary and well fought conflicts in the annals of Indian Warfare in the West.

An interesting article on the Battle of Point Pleasant by Lyman C. Draper, will be found in the American Pioneer, Vol. 1, page 381, and another in the Olden Time, v. II, 33.

8vo. pp. xii—66.

 An entirely different work from that written by his father, [see McBride, No. 740] though carrying out the same principles.

SYMMES (JOHN CLEVES).

Letter from the Attorney General accompanying his Report on the Resolution of the Eighth Ultimo, relative to the Contract entered into between the United States and John Cleves Symmes, 5th May, 1796. Committed to a committee of the whole House, to-morrow. Published by order of the House of Representatives.

[WASHINGTON: 1796.] [1128]

8vo. pp. 6.

 A rare tract. Consists of a report by the Attorney-General, Charles Lee, in which he states that the contract with Symmes, for land in the North Western Territory, has not been completely fulfilled; and further, that it is necessary that the tract of land should be actually surveyed, and the boundaries marked by the Geographer of the United States.

[SYMMES (JOHN CLEVES).]

To the Respectable Public. [TRENTON, N. J.: 1787.] [1129]

16mo. pp. 16.

 This tract, printed without title page, and with the vague title "To the Respectable Public," is of the greatest interest, it being the first publication relating to the Miami Purchase. The only copy of the tract we can trace is in the Ohio Hist. Society Library, Cincinnati. It is signed, John Cleves Symmes, and dated at Trenton, November 26th, 1787.

A few extracts from this book will prove interesting. The object of the publication was to raise two hundred thousand dollars in liquidated certificates, in order to discharge the first payment on the purchase, which it was necessary to make, previous to any entry or settlement on the land; for this purpose land warrants were issued by Symmes for any number of acres, not less than 160, at two-thirds of a dollar per acre, ... After the first day of May next, the price of the land will be one dollar per acre, and after the first day of November next, the price will be raised still higher, if the country is settled as fast as is expected.

. . . It is hereby provided, that every locator shall have two years, to fix, or place himself, or some other person or persons, on the ground, or in the country, at some station of defense, and begin improvement of every section . . . provided they are not disturbed by the Indians, etc.

Ministers to the gospel, are cordially invited into the country to enjoy the use of lot No. 29, in each township. Schoolmasters who will settle on these lands, shall enjoy the free use and benefit of the given lot No. 16.

The subscriber hopes that the respectable public will not think it unreasonable in him when he informs them, that the only privilege which he reserves for himself as a small reward for his trouble in this business, is the exclusive right of electing or locating, that entire township which shall be lowest down in the point of land formed by the Ohio and Great Miami rivers, [intended as the site of Cincinnati].

It is expected that a considerable settlement will be begun on the land, early next spring. . . . . The subscriber intends going out himself, and shall make it his study to encourage and superintend the settlement of this purchase.

 Tallmadge is situated in the southeastern part of Summit county. The Semi-Centennial was held June 24, 1857. Mr. Sill's address occupies pp. 10–40; Mr. Bacon's pp. 41–66. Then follows biographical sketches of thirty-three of the early settlers, and "Log Cabin Times in Tallmadge," by Colonel Whittlesey.

TANEYHILL (R. H.)
The Leatherwood God. An account of the Appearance and Pretensions of Joseph C. Dylks in Eastern Ohio in 1828. By R. H. Taneyhill.

CINCINNATI: Robert Clarke & Co. 1870. [1133]
8vo. pp. 55.

 Published in the Ohio Valley Series, Number 7, under the title of "Ohio Valley Miscellanies." The above is paged independently, with a distinctive title page. It was issued as a separate work, in pamphlet form, in 1880.

The main facts of this narrative were previously published by Mr. Taneyhill, in a series of articles in the Barnesville (Ohio) "Enterprise," under the nom de plume of "R. King Bennett," the various statements were afterward verified, the narrative enlarged and reprinted. It is a very curious and interesting account of the achievements of Joseph C. Dylks, who appeared for the first time, no one knew how or whence, at a meeting of the Ohio Methodists in the open air; he laid claim to extraordinary physical and spiritual powers, his possession of which, his disciples unhesitatingly believed.

The delusion of which it treats, is extraordinary in its nature, and the story is instructive and significant, as an example of the credulity of a comparatively educated and intelligent people.

History of the State of Ohio. By James W. Taylor. First Period, 1650–1787.

CINCINNATI: H. W. Derby & Co, Publishers.

SANDUSKY: C. L. Derby & Co. 1854. [1137]

12mo. pp. 557.

 This is a very judicious and interesting collection of material already printed in one form or another; the author assumes no other relation than that of Editor, and as such has done his work very thoroughly. As the dates on the title-page indicate, the work is devoted entirely to the aboriginal history of the State, previous to the Territorial period. The early Jesuit Missions, the wars of the Eries and Iroquois, the border warfare which was raging for nearly a quarter of a century between the inhabitants of Pennsylvania, and the Delawares, Shawanese and Wyandots, are the subjects which nearly fill the volume. Besides the mass of matter which such a volume is expected to contain, portions of the following narratives are given: "Gist's Diary," "Roger's Expedition," "Bradstreet's Expedition," "Bouquet's Expedition," "Clark's Campaign," "Crawford's Campaign," "Smith's Captivity," etc.

Taylor's Ohio was intended as a text book for schools, and a very large number circulated throughout the State, but notwithstanding this fact, it is now quite scarce, and each year witnesses an advance in price.

 This Journey was undertaken with a view to explore the Wabash Lands in the New Purchase. It is a work of sterling merit. The author (a Quaker) was a practical engineer, and on the whole, the work, although very unpretentious in style, is well worthy of attention. The route of the author was down the Ohio, stopping at all the towns and places of interest on both sides of the river; the description of the journey to Vincennes, occupies the first half of the volume; page 189 to the end consists of "Additional Notices of the Western Country." The map is of the "Vincennes District," and includes "Harrison's Purchase;" it is well drawn in Sections.

An Enquiry into the Causes of the Alienation of the Delaware and Shawanese Indians from the British Interest, and into the Measures taken for recovering their Friendship. Extracted from the Public treaties, and other Authentic papers relating to the Transactions of the Government of Pensilvania and the said Indians, for near Forty Years; and explained by a Map of the Country. Together with the remarkable Journal of Christian Frederic Post, by whose Negotiations, among the Indians on the Ohio, they were withdrawn from the Interest of the French, who thereupon abandoned the Fort and Country. With notes by the Editor explaining sundry Indian Customs, &c. Written in Pennsylvania.

LONDON: Printed for J. Wilkie, at the Bible in St. Paul's Churchyard MDCCLIX. [1145]

 Written by Charles Thomson, afterwards Secretary of Congress.

It seems strange that the English had so few Indians in their interest, while the French had so many at command, and that the neighboring tribes in particular, who, at the arrival of the English in Pennsylvania, and for a long series of years afterwards, showed every mark of affection, should become their most bitter enemies.

One of the principal causes of the hostility of the Pennsylvania Indians was the wicked craft practiced upon them by Governor Thomas Penn, and other proprietors in 1737. Certain chiefs having been called together by the speculators, two persons were found to testify that they were present at a council fifty years before, [illegible] as much land was ceded to William Penn, as a man could walk around in a [illegible] a half. There was a chief living who could have proved this testimony false, but he was carefully kept in ignorance of the council, and by mean fraud, endless perjury, and tempting gifts, the deed was ratified. To locate as large a territory as possible, a trained pedestrian was employed, who was met at appointed stations by refreshments, and thus was enabled to traverse a route which cut off a million acres from the Indian territory. Less than one-third that quantity of land was the amount which the Indians had been led to expect would be ceded. Endless conferences, and numerous councils, were followed by bloody massacres.

Mr. Thomson's work fully analyzes the cause of the alienation, which the heroic Quaker, Christian Post, hazarded his life to overcome. Post's Journal is also published in "Proud's History of Pennsylvania," vol. II, appendix; in the "Early History of Western Pennsylvania," page 75 appendix; and in the "Olden Time," vol. I, page 145. See also under Post (C. F.)

TRENT (WILLIAM).

Journal of Captain William Trent from Logstown, to Pickawillany A. D. 1752. Now published for the first time from a copy in the Archives of the Western Reserve Historical Society, Cleveland, Ohio, together with the letters of Governor Robert Dinwiddie; an Historical notice of the Miami Confederacy of Indians; a Sketch of the English Post at Pickiwillany; with a short Biography of Captain Trent and other papers never before printed. Edited by Alfred T. Goodman, Secretary, W. R. Historical Society.

CINCINNATI: Printed by Robert Clarke & Co., for William Dodge, 1871. [1149]

8vo. pp. 117.

 A most interesting work to the student in Ohio History, and made doubly valuable by the elaborate notes of Mr. Goodman. The official papers from which the work was compiled, were procured from the English Archives, through the medium of Mr. John Lathrop Motley.

There have been many conflicting statements regarding the English post generally known as Pickawillany; historians have disagreed as to location and dates, and some have even expressed doubts as to whether such a place existed. However, there now remains no doubt but that the post called "Pickawillany" or by others "Picktown," was located on the west side of the Great Miami River, at the mouth of what afterward became known as Loramie's Creek; it was destroyed by the French, in 1752, and was never rebuilt. Mention of the post is made in "Gist's Journal" also in "Croghan's Journal," and it is located on "Evans" and "Otten's" maps published in 1875.

Previous to the publication of this work, the information regarding Pickawillany was quite meagre, consisting mostly of scattered paragraphs in "Howe's Ohio," "Taylor's Ohio," "Atwater's Ohio," etc.

The work is divided as follows: "The Miami Confederacy," pp. 5–37; "Historical Sketch of the English Post at Pickawillany," pp. 39–55; "Biographical Sketch of William Trent," pp. 57–67; "Letters of Governor Dinwiddie," pp. 69–111, and a complete index, pp. 67–117.

This account is made up from "Zeisberger's Journal," "Holmes & Loskiel's Missions," "Willett's Scenes in the Wilderness," and "Doddridge's Notes."

The actors in this foul transaction consisted of a military band of about one hundred men, from the western parts of Virginia and Pennsylvania, under the command of Col. David Williamson. The murder was premeditated, for their purpose was to proceed as far as Sandusky, in order to destroy all the Moravian Indians, whom they claimed had committed depredations upon the Ohio settlements.

An interesting article on Gnadenhuetten was published in the Atlantic Monthly of January, 1869.

TUTTLE (JOSEPH F.)

New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Ohio in 1787–8. Passages from the Journals of Rev. Manasseh Cutler L. L. D. Communicated by the Rev. Joseph F. Tuttle D. D. and read before the Society. [New Jersey Historical Society] May 16, 1872. [n. p. n. d.] [1156]

 The Rev. Manasseh Cutler was born at Killingly, Conn., May 28th, 1742. He graduated at Yale College in 1725, then studied law and was admitted to the bar. In 1787, Dr. Cutler became associated with the Ohio Company, whose leading spirits were Revolutionary officers, for the purchase of land north of the Ohio. In June, 1787, he went to New York as the Agent of the company, to negotiate with the American Congress for the purchase. With consummate tact, he accomplished his mission, and made a contract for the purchase of over a million and a half acres, at two-thirds of a dollar per acre.

In July, 1788, Dr. Cutler made a journey to the new settlement at Marietta, and the Journal he kept during his stay is in the possession of Mrs. S. C. Dawes, of that place. The present pamphlet consists of extracts from the original journal. It is also printed in the Proceedings of the New Jersey Historical Society, Second Series, Vol. III. No. 2, 1873.

8vo. pp. viii+600, Map and 5 Portraits.

 Forms Number Two of the Ohio Valley Historical Series, 250 copies on small and 50 on large paper. The work is illustrated with an original map, showing the lands purchased by the Ohio Company, the Donation Tract, and Athens County, Past and Present. The Portraits which are fine steel line engravings are of Hon. Thomas Ewing, Sr., Bishop Ames, Judge Ephraim Cutler, Isaac Barker, and General John Brown.

This book may be called the Early History of the State of Ohio. We have never seen a more complete local history, nor one in which the author has more successfully labored to present the annals and statistics, and the local biographies of a community, with fidelity and elaborate minuteness; it is one of that limited class of historical works, for which the reader will feel that he owes a debt of gratitude to its scrupulous author.

[WARD, (NAHUM).]

A Brief Sketch of the State of Ohio, one of the United States in North America: With a Map delineating the same into Counties. Giving the opinion of Thomas Hutchinson, Esq. Geographer of the United States, and British Travellers in 1787, when the State was uninhabited by civilized Men. Likewise exhibiting a view of the unparalleled progress of that State since 1789, to the present day, it being now the fourth State in the Union in point of Population and Representation in Congress. By a Resident of Twelve Years at Marietta in that State.
GLASGOW: Printed by J. Neven, and sold by A. Penman & Co. Booksellers, 1822. [1183] 8vo. pp. 16 and Map.

 Sabin erroneously states that the author was R. J. Meigs.

This pamphlet, one of the rarest relating to the State, is of little value historically. It was published by Nahum Ward, of Marietta, to induce emigration to his section of the State. Mr. Ward owned numerous tracts of land in the counties of Washington, Meigs, Athens, Hocking, Gallia and Lawrence, "which are offered for sale in tracts of 40, 80, 100, 160, 200 and from that to 3000 acres in a body, at from 9s. to 42s. per acre, in the wood, according to quality and location," and he further states that those purchasing lands of him, "can have a house built of logs 22 feet by 16, with small glass windows, fitted for comfortable habitation for £7."

The contents of the book mainly consist of extracts from Thomas Hutchins, (whom Ward calls Hutchinson on the title, and throughout the work) the Ohio Register, and from the early travelers through the State.

This pamphlet was reprinted in London, in 1823, and a French translation appeared in Paris in 1829.

WASHINGTON (GEORGE).

The Journal of Major George Washington, Sent by the Hon. Robert Dinwiddie, Esq; His Majesty's Lieutenant-Governor, and Commander in Chief in Virginia, To the Commandant of the French Forces on Ohio. To which are added, the Governors Letter, And a Translation of the French Officer's Answer.

WILLIAMSBURGH: Wm. Hunter, 1754. [1187]

8vo. pp. 28.

The original edition of Washington's Journal, and the rarest work of American History. It is supposed that there are but three copies in existence, viz: in the British Museum, London, in the library of Henry C. Murphy, of Brooklyn, and in that of George Brinley, of Providence, R. I.

This, the earliest of Washington's diaries, printed almost as soon as its last page was written, possesses uncommon interest as being the first of Washington's official actions recorded in print, and from the fullness with which he describes the events of his journey.

He was then twenty-one years old. His earlier exploration as surveyor had brought him into contact with the Indians, and none seemed better to know and understand them; for this reason he was selected by Governor Dinwiddie to proceed to the Ohio, demand the withdrawal of the French, and examine the condition of their forces. This act opened a series of struggles, in the course of which, English, French and Americans, changed their relative positions, and which closed thirty years after, with the gaze of mankind rivited on the august form of him, whom we here behold a stripling.

The Brinley copy was sold at auction in New York, March, 1880, and brought $560, probably the highest price ever paid for a book of its size.

WASHINGTON (GEORGE).

WATSON (HENRY C.)

Nights in a Block-House; or, Sketches of Border Life: Embracing Adventures among the Indians, Feats of the Wild Hunters, and Exploits of Boone, Brady, Kenton, Whetzel, Fleehart and other Border Heroes of the West. By Henry C. Watson, Author of Camp Fires of the Revolution. With One Hundred Engravings.

PHILADELPHIA: Lippincott, Grambo & Co. 1853. [1192]

8vo. pp. 448.

 This is a made up book. The scene is a block-house on the Scioto river near James' settlement. The characters introduced are generally fictitious in name and deed, but are intended to be truthful in their qualities. The work is written in the form of a novel, and possesses some historical value, as many of the narratives of captivities and adventures are copied intact from other works of undoubted accuracy.

Field, 1875, $1.87; Priced, Cin'ti, 1876. $2.50.

WAVERLY. History of the Public Schools of Waverly, Ohio.

8vo. pp. 16. [1193]

WESTERN MONTHLY MAGAZINE. (The) A Continuation of the Illinois Magazine, Conducted by James Hall. Vols. 1–2 (In one) Jan. to Dec. 1833, pp. v+600, CINCINNATI: Published by Corey & Fairbanks; Vol. 3, Jan. to Dec. 1834, pp. 670, CINCINNATI: Published by Taylor & Tracy; Vol. 4. Jan. to Dec. 1835, pp. 399+424, CINCINNATI: Published by Taylor & Tracy; Vol. 5, Edited by Joseph Reese Fry, pp. 2+760, CINCINNATI: Published by Flash, Ryder & Co. [1201]

 The Western Monthly Magazine had its origin in the "Illinois Monthly Magazine," which was suspended after two years—1829–30. At the commencement of 1833 the place of publication was changed to Cincinnati and the title of Western Monthly Magazine substituted for the former designation. The change proved a fortunate one, for it gave to the work a more general character and a wider circulation. The first four volumes were edited by Judge James Hall, and the fifth by Joseph Reese Fry.

Priced, Cin'ti, 1875, hf. mor., $25.00.

By Charles Whittlesey.

HUDSON, OHIO: Sawyer, Ingersoll and Co. 1852. [1210]

12*mo. pp.* 397.

 These articles, here first published in book form, are selected from the numerous essays written by Mr. Whittlesey, and published at intervals between the years 1839–52 in the "Hesperian," "American Journal of Science," "Western Literary Journal," and other Magazines and Papers. Many of the periodicals in which they appeared are but little known, having unfortunately, like most Western Monthlies enjoyed only a brief existence and limited circulation, hence the value of their republication in the form we here find them. The style is condensed and brief, but those who read for the purpose of obtaining information, will gladly welcome the compact form in which that information is presented Nearly all relate to the West, and a large part to Ohio, among which are:—Review of the "Historical Transactions" of Ohio—Elevation of Places in Ohio—Lord Dunmore's Expedition to the Scioto Towns in 1774—Settlement and Progress of the City of Cleveland—Coal and Iron Trade of the Ohio Valley—Bouquet's Expedition—Agricultural Condition of Ohio—Indian Treaties and Grants of Title for the Territory of Ohio.

In Memoriam: Remarks on the Life and Character of General Samuel L. Williams. By his Nephew John Augustus Williams of Daughter's College, Ky. Delivered before the Church of Christ, at Somerset, Montgomery Co. Ky, Oct. 20, 1872.

CINCINNATI: Robert Clarke & Co. 1872. [1245]

8vo. pp. 23.

 Gen. Williams was one of the early settlers in Kentucky, a soldier in the toilsome and bloody campaign of Winchester, and participant in the horrible scene at Raisin and Fort Walden, where it is related, he did gallant service.

WILLIAMS (SAMUEL).

Two Western Campaigns in the War of 1812–13. I. Expedition of Captain Henry Brush, with Supplies for General Hull, 1812. II. Expedition of Governor Meigs, for the Relief of Fort Meigs, 1813. By Samuel Williams.

CINCINNATI: Robert Clarke & Co. 1870. [1246]

8vo. pp. 58.

 Published in the Ohio Valley Series, number 7, under the title "Ohio Valley Miscellanies." The above is paged independently with a distinctive title, but none were issued separate from the work.

Samuel Williams the author of this narrative, was, for many years, a resident of Cincinnati, and more than fifty years a resident of the State of Ohio. This account of his military campaigns in 1812 and 1813 is taken from his manuscripts, and was published in the Ladies Repository in 1854. This is the only history on record of these two expeditions; it throws light upon several points of Ohio history, and forms in itself a complete episode in the War of 1812.

ZEISBERGER (DAVID).

Essay of a Delaware Indian and English Spelling Book, for the use of the Schools of the Christian Indians on Muskingum River. By David Zeisberger, Missionary among the Western Indians.

PHILADELPHIA: Printed by Henry Miller, 1776. [1273]

16mo. pp. ii+113.

 A second edition appeared at Philadelphia in 1806 which omits the Appendix.

To this work are appended the Lord's Prayer, the Ten Commandments, with Scripture passages illustrating them, and a short Litany, an abbreviation of the Church Litany of the Moravians, all in Delaware and English.

The original manuscript of the first edition of the work is preserved in the Archives at Bethlehem, Pa., upon comparing it with the printed copy, it is evident that there was cause for the dissatisfaction which Zeisberger expressed with the manner in which the book was brought out. The manuscript does not contain the Appendix, but in place of it, the following articles:

1. A short history of the Bible, evidently original, in Delaware and English, in parallel columns.

2. Reading Lessons in Delaware, being Biblical and other Narratives.

3. Conjugations of the verbs "to say" and "to tell," in Delaware and English.
4. The Delaware Numerals.
All these articles have been omitted in the printed copy.
Morrell, 1866, hf. mor., $30.00.

ZEISBERGER (DAVID).

The History of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ: comprehending all that the Four Evangelists have recorded concerning Him; all their relations being brought together in our Narration, so that no circumstance is omitted, but that inestimable History is continued in our Series, in the very words of Scripture. By the Rev. Samuel Lieberkühn, M. A. Translated into the Delaware Indian Language by the Rev. David Zeisberger, Missionary of the United Brethren.

NEW YORK: Printed by Daniel Fanshaw, No. 20 State-Lane 1821. [1274]

[Elekup Nihillalquouk woak Pemauchsohalquouk Jesus Christ Seke Ta Lauchsitup Wochgidhakamike.]

Then follows an "Address of the late Rev. David Zeisberger to the Christian Indians, on his presenting them with his translation of the history of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ." The address was prefixed by him to the work, and entitled Preface, it is dated Goshen on the Muskingum, May 23, 1806.

A very complete Table of Contents prepared by Zeisberger has been omitted in the printed copy.

Zeisberger's Translation of Lieberkühn's Harmony of the Gospel was printed only for the use of the Missionaries and it is not to be purchased.—Duponceau's Preface to Zeisberger's Delaware Grammar, p. 93.

Priced, Cin'ti, 1877, mor., $12.00.
